It's a day for 'horror' stories in gas crisis

An irate motorist threatened a service station attendant with violence when the gas pump went dry Saturday before he got his $3 quota. One of several thousand drivers using federal government "gasoline price watch" telephones complained he had to pay $6.42 for two gallons of gasoline.

Police and government agents told "horror" stories of the gasoline shortage as motorists in some parts of the country found themselves in what could be one of the worst of 1973's gasless days, with the promise of worse to come in 1974.

Service station operators were locking up their pumps and going home in several East Coast and Midwest cities as they used up the last of their reduced monthly allocations. No fresh supplies were expected until next Wednesday, the day after New Year's and the end of the holiday season.

Some of the most bizarre tales came from New York City. Three young gunmen hijacked a truck carrying 3,000 gallons of gasoline, police said.

One man told state officials, who set up special "hotlines" along with federal government agents to receive complaints of price gouging, that he had to pay $6.42 for two gallons of gas at a Manhattan service station. Another said his car's gas tank was topped off with water, and he was still charged.

In another case a driver lined up with other motorists outside a Staten Island, N.Y., filling station for an hour to buy his $3 quota of gas. When he got to the front, the pump ran out out after he received only $1.84 worth.

Police said the service station wouldn't give him gas from another pump unless he went back to the end of the line, so he left. He returned a few minutes later and threatened the attendant with a gun, but left without getting any more.

In Chicago, attendants at one string of stations were reported to have taped the meter to block out the price, charged $1 a gallon and pocketed the difference—more than 50 cents a gallon.

Acting Attorney General Robert H. Bork ordered U.S. attorneys across the country to go to the homes of judges if necessary to get court restraining orders against service stations gouging motorists.

The Internal Revenue Service set up price watch complaint centers. Service stations charging more than allowed under federal price ceilings are ordered to rollback prices and face a $2,500 fine. One oil company cut off supplies to a station that charged 99.9 cents a gallon at Christmas.

In Baltimore, IRS official Gloria Tanski estimated that they received more than 140 calls in the first three hours of the New Year's holiday weekend.

Prepaid program to guarantee medical attention at far less cost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon signed a law Saturday which offers families a less costly way of receiving good medical attention from doctors.

The measure provides $250 million in direct subsidies over the next four years to demonstrate the feasibility of a national network of health maintenance organizations (HMO's), the formal name for prepaid group health plans.

These are centers where for a single annual fee a family is assured of receiving a year's health care no matter how frequently a doctor's services are required.

Backers believe HMO's promote better health since people no longer need to be wary of the cost of seeing a doctor at the first sign of ill health.

The HMO's also have a profit motive to practice preventive medicine —looking after patients when they are well so that they are less apt to become ill.

The chief drawback from the viewpoint of many laymen is that they are not certain to see the same doctor on every visit.

Those HMO's now in existence often are staffed by a large number of specialists so patients on each visit are sent to the doctor best qualified to treat their ailments.

One response

In a statement released here and in San Clemente, Calif., where the bill was signed, Nixon said the HMO method "represents one response to the challenge of finding new and better ways to improve health care for the people of this country."

Caspar Weinberger, secretary of health, education and welfare, told a White House briefing that on the average families could expect to spend less for their health care under HMO's than they do under the existing system of a fee for every visit to the doctor.

Dr. Charles Edwards, assistant HEW secretary, said HMO's could provide "the continuity of care that a lot of people don't have on today's health scene."

Kennedy a leader

The bill was pushed through Congress by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., chairman of the Senate health subcommittee. Nixon said it was welcome though "somewhat broader than the administration's proposal."

The measure provides funds for planning studies and the heavy start-up costs for creating HMO's and subsidies to meet deficits for their first three years of operation.

It lists benefits any HMO must offer which go beyond what most now in operation provide. These include preventive dental care for children, treatment for alcohol and drug abuse and "crisis intervention mental health services."

The bill also authorizes loan guarantees for profitable HMO's in "medically underserved" areas. It authorizes HEW to contract for HMO-type health services for Indians and migratory workers.

Any exemption from federal gas rationing? -- very few -- if any

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal energy official said Saturday the government anticipates granting very few exemptions if gasoline rationing is imposed.

Doctors, clergymen —even congressmen —will have to buy coupons from other drivers if they cannot live within their ration, the official, John Hill, told UPI.

Hill, an assistant to presidential energy adviser William E. Simon said the key to avoiding the black markets and administrative troubles that plagued gasoline rationing in World War II is the negotiability of coupons. Motorists who don't need all they get will be able to sell their surplus coupons for whatever price they can command.

The question of exemptions and exceptions should be largely settled by the "white market" system under which rationing coupons could be sold or exchanged freely by those who receive them.

"The reason for having transferable coupons is to reduce the black market, and avoid having the government make all those distinctions between professional classes," Hill added.

"In World War II, you had to have a large administrative force just deciding special appeals and such."

Hill said "We just really want to take care of health matters and emergencies."

There may be some exemptions or higher allotments of coupons for health or emergency reasons, but not many, he said.

"Foreign diplomats will probably get an extra allotment of coupons. They might not speak English well, and car pooling may be difficult, so theirs would be a special burden," Hill said.

Although the rationing plan envisions giving coupons only to licensed drivers 18 and over, Hill said there would be exemptions on a case-by-case basis for younger teen-agers who are their family's major breadwinners "or have jobs critical to their support."

"We will be very severe there," he said. There are many more youngsters whose driving is mostly for fun or to school. They could buy coupons from buddies, he said.

Woman hurt in car mishap

CLAREMONT — A 39-year-old Claremont woman is in serious condition in Pomona Valley Community Hospital following an accident Saturday afternoon on Mountain Avenue, north of Baseline Road.

Eddie Ray Weber of 3000 N. Mountain Ave. underwent surgery for major injuries suffered when she was struck by a car driven by Annanette Burns, 47, of 707 Valparaiso Drive at about 4:50 p.m.

Details of the accident were not immediately available and a highway patrol spokesman said the accident is still under investigation.

Trucker pledges end to 'tie-ups'

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — J. W. "River Rat" Edwards, the unofficial co-ordinator of recent trucker blockades, Saturday became the official leader of a new organization of independent truck drivers and promptly pledged there would be no more intentional truck tie-ups.

"Road blocks have already served their purpose," Edwards said. "Another road block would only serve hardship on the country and at this time we cannot see where shutdown would do the owner-operators or the country any good."

Representatives of independent truck owner-operators, drivers and smaller common carriers gathered here for a meeting that stretched into the early morning hours Saturday. The result was formation of the Owner-Operators and Independent Drivers of America, Limited.

Edwards, the Overland Park, Kan., driver who led trucker delegations to Washington recently, was elected president. Headquarters was established in Kansas City.

Britain's unemployed nears 1 million

3-day work week to begin

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's unemployment rolls may rise to one million persons by Monday —the start of the emergency three-day work week—as a result of layoffs caused by fuel shortages, industry sources said Saturday.

The economic crisis the government has described as the country's gravest since World War II showed no signs of easing as leaders of Britain's 260,000 coal miners postponed further talks on their overtime ban until next Wednesday.

Government figures published this week showed 544,000 persons eligible for unemployment benefits have been laid off because of the energy crisis. A Department of Employment spokesman said many others have been put out of work but are not counted because they had their own guaranteed income agreement with employers and were not eligible for government benefits.

The country's fuel stocks have dwindled as a result of the miners' ban on overtime work in a demand for higher pay and similar actions by electric power workers and train engineers who haul coal, when coupled with Arab oil cutbacks. The government has had to impose the three-day work week in order to save stocks of energy.

One ray of hope was the decision Friday by 18,000 electric power engineers to call off a two-month old ban on overtime work. This should enable the Electricity Generating Board to switch power across the nation to where it is most needed.

Government controls on the use of electricity, unusually mild weather and cuts in use by domestic consumers have slowed the rate of depletion of coal stocks at the power stations.

However, the amount of coal available at power stations has been reduced from 16 million tons on Nov. 24 to 13 million tons a month later.

Lawrence Daly, general secretary of the Mineworkers Union, said Saturday the three-day working week is a panic measure designed to turn the public against the miners. He contended that coal stocks "are probably higher than at this time last year."

IRS 'absolves' Nixon's campaigners of taxes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Henry S. Reuss said Saturday the Internal Revenue Service had "absolved" President Nixon's re-election committee of taxes due on $18 million in stock contributions.

An IRS decision that the committee must pay taxes only on profits from stock sold after Oct. 3, 1972, will mean that only about $3.4 million of the estimated $18 million to $20 million in stock contributions is taxable, Reuss said.

Reuss said precise figures were not available because the original purchase price of the stock given by numerous contributors is not recorded. But he said the profit from the stock sale "is in the millions."

The Wisconsin Democrat quoted a General Accounting Office report on stock contributions prepared at his request as saying:

"Since 1965, the federal government has held repeatedly that political committees, like ordinary citizens, must pay taxes on capital gain income. Nevertheless Republican fund raisers throughout 1972 solicited contributions of appreciated stock with the promises that such gifts would not be subject to capital gains taxes."

Reuss said the GAO report showed "the IRS simply absolved the (Nixon) committee of taxes due on over $18 million of stock contributions."

The report concluded that the IRS ruling that taxes be paid only on stock sold during the last month of the campaign "violates the spirit of the tax code, previous IRS rulings, and the good faith of candidates and committee who have paid income tax on capital gains for years."

One major stock donor identified by the GAO was Joseph Segel, President of the Franklin Mint, who gave $101,600 in stocks. Reuss noted the Franklin Mint was subsequently given the contract to make and sell 1973 inaugural medals.

16,000 gallons of fuel oil spill as freighter rams Navy ship

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI) — A Navy cargo ship and a Liberian freighter collided in predawn fog Saturday, rupturing the Navy ship's fuel tanks and spewing 16,000 gallons of oil 11 miles off the beaches of scenic Big Sur.

No injuries were reported among the 50-man civilian crew aboard the Navy's Private Joseph F. Merrill, or the civilian freighter Pearl Venture, which sustained only minor bow damage.

Twelve crewmen were removed from the crippled Naval vessel, which reported "severe damage" to the stern section. The 12 were returned to Richmond, Calif. aboard the Standard Oil tanker the H.B. Collier because they were not needed during salvaging operations.

"The Pearl Venture hit the Private Merrill at an angle towards the stern, just missing the engine room. A moment later would have been disastrous," said Cmder. C. M. Mortensen, the Coast Guard's oil pollution coordinator.

The collision off Cape Martin, 160 miles south of San Francisco, created a "medium size" oil spill that ran two miles north of the ship in a path 50 yards wide.

A Coast Guard cutter with spill cleanup equipment steamed to the area to prevent the oil from washing onto Central California beaches.

An ocean going tug, the U.S.S. Gear, enroute from Los Angeles, was expected to reach the damaged vessel and will attempt to tow the Private Merrill to San Francisco for repairs.

Hundreds face drug charges, languish in jails

U.S. youths find hard life abroad

By United Press International

The life sentences given three young Americans last week in Turkey for smuggling hashish underscores the plight of hundreds of similar youths languishing in jails around the world on similar charges.

U.S. State Department statistics show there are an estimated 873 Americans in foreign prisons on drug charges, but Friday's sentences were among the most severe ever handed down to Americans.

Those sentenced for smuggling 225 pounds of hashish into Turkey from Syria were Joanne Marie McDaniel, 30, of Coos Bay, Ore.; Catherine Zenz, 29, of Lancaster, Wis.; and Robert Hubbard, 23, whose hometown was not known.

Sentenced to death

The three had been sentenced to death, but then were given life terms because of "extenuating circumstances," the Turkish government said.

The State Department in Washington said the three life sentences were the first they had on record for American citizens on drug charges.

The longest previous sentence on record was for an American, William Hayes, who was sentenced to 30 years in Turkey, officials said.

There are about 200 Americans imprisoned in Europe and the Middle East on drug charges. Others are imprisoned in Canada, Mexico and other parts of the world.

Some are confined to windowless cells in what are described as unsanitary, disease-ridden jails in Spain.

One of the most recent cases of an American arrested overseas on drug charges was that of a 19-year-old man two days before Christmas in Frankfurt, Germany.

The American, who was not identified, claimed on arrival by air from Bogota, Colombia, he had broken a leg. But police said doctors X-rayed his cast, found his leg intact and discovered several bags of heroin and marijuana concealed inside.

U.S. embassies say there is virtually nothing they can do about the plight of such persons; when an American is in another country he is subject to the laws of that country, with no exceptions except deplomatic immunity.

A U.S. State Department spokesman summed up the drug sentencing situtatiion like this:

"Young travelers better know what they are up against when they use drugs. What happens to you in court depends on where you are and how the officials of that country feel on a particular day.

"If a judge feels particularly hostile to hippies, or drugs, or even just Americans, then you might find yourself in the position of the mouse being hit with a sledgehammer."

Stalin plotted mass execution of Jews, Solzhenitsyn claims

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nobel prize-winning novelist Alexander Solzhenitsyn, in a new book described by the publisher as his "most politically dangerous," charges that Russian dictator Josef Stalin plotted mass executions and enslavement of Jews that may have been thwarted only by his death.

In an expose of the Soviet secret police, prison camp and terror system, in the book called "The Gulag Archipelago, 1918-1956," Solzhenitsyn wrote that Stalin in 1953 planned public executions in Moscow to whip up anti-Jewish sentiment to such a pitch that the entire Jewish population of three million could be transported to Siberia allegedly for their own safety.

But in an angry debate with some of his close associates who opposed the plan, Stalin suffered a stroke from which he died, according to the New York Times which Saturday published the first of three excerpts of the book, the English version of which is copyrighted by Harper & Row.

The 606-page description of the Soviet prison system from the days of the Bolshevik revolution to 1956 was smuggled out of the Soviet Union. It is being published in the original Russian by YMCA Press in Paris, and will appear in English, German, French, Swedish and Spanish editions.

Publisher Jean Morozov said the book was "the most politically dangerous" Solzhenitsyn has written and said he thought it was part of the writer's last literary testament.

Solzhenitsyn lives just outside the Soviet capital under what he has described as threat of exile in Siberia. He has complained Soviet authorities have compelled him to live apart from his wife.

In Moscow, a Foreign Ministry spokesman said he could not discuss the matter.

Boris D. Pankin, head of the new Soviet copyright agency, said: "Only recently I discussed that question with a UPI correspondent. I answered all his questions, and now I do not have time to go into that."

Climber who scaled Tetons 50 years ago tries again

GRAND TETON PARK, Wyo. (UPI) — Paul Petzoldt, who first scaled rugged Grand Teton Peak nearly 50 years ago, Saturday led 25 climbers in his ninth New Year's assault on the 13,770-foot mountain in Northwest Wyoming.

Petzoldt, who first scaled the peak in Grand Teton National Park July 25, 1924, is leading graduates and instructors from his national outdoor leadership school at Lander, Wyo., in the attempt to reach the top by New Year's. They have reached the peak only three times previously.

The snow caves which will be dug at the 11,000-foot level will serve as the base camp for the final attempt to reach the peak, which is whipped by 70 knot winds. Temperatures can drop to as low as 40-below zero.

"We can go to the top of the mountain and back to the snow caves in one day," said Petzoldt, who personally has reached the summit only once in the past attempts.

Most of the climbers stay in reserve while a few makes the difficult climb to the summit. Five climbers reached the peak last year.

"On the day they made the summit, the temperatures were not too severe —only about 10 below," Petzoldt said. "It was snowing and foggy, and they were in the clouds all day."

The Petzoldt climbing party carries radios to stay in contact with park headquarters during the climb.

Franco appoints prime minister

MADRID (UPI) — Interior Minister Carlos Arias Navarro, former chief of the national security police, was named Saturday by Generalissimo Francisco Franco as the new prime minister of Spain nine days after the assassination of his predecessor.

Political sources said the appointment of Arias, who headed the Policia de Seguridad—Spain's equivalent of the FBI—for eight years, may signal a sharp turn further right by Franco.

Arias modernized and reequipped the police and was coauthor of the tough Public Order laws as head of the national security forces.

5 Arab terrorists questioned

KUWAIT (UPI) — Investigators from the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) Saturday began questioning five Arabs who killed 32 persons in an attack at the Rome airport and hijacking of a West German Lufthansa airliner, government sources said.

The PLO, political arm of the Arab guerrilla movement, joined Kuwaiti police who have been interrogating the hijackers since they surrendered here.

Government sources said the joint investigation team was expected to make recommendations on what should be done with the gunmen, who carried out the bloodiest Arab guerrilla attack to date.

The newspaper Al Siyassah said the hijackers would leave Kuwait before the end of the year, probably to stand trial before a Palestinian court in Syria.

The five gunmen, claiming to represent the Palestinian guerrilla movement, firebombed a parked Pan American World Airways jetliner in Rome Dec. 17 and then hijacked the Lufthansa plane to Athens and Kuwait.

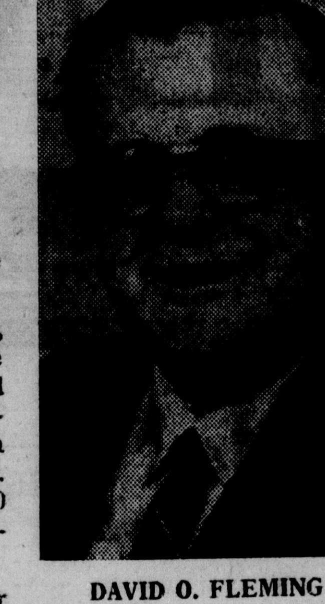
David O. Fleming, union leader, dies



DAVID O. FLEMING

POMONA — David O. Fleming, a printer who retired from the Progress-Bulletin in 1960 ending a 53-year career, died Friday afternoon at Pomona Valley Community Hospital following a three-year illness.

Mr. Fleming, of 1629 S. Park Ave., worked at the Progress-Bulletin 14 years.

He was born March 26, 1895, in Pittsburgh, Pa. He began his career as an errand boy on a Pittsburgh newspaper in 1906. He became a journeyman printer in 1914. He moved to Michigan in 1920 and worked there until moving to Pomona in 1946.

Mr. Fleming was a member of the Westmont Methodist Church, the Pomona Masonic Lodge and Pomona Chapter 110 of the Order of the Eastern Star.

He was active many years in the typographical union and the credit union.

He was secretary-treasurer of the Southern California Typographical Conference for 23 years, retiring in 1970. He was treasurer-manager and a member of the board of directors of the Printing Office Employes Credit Union in Pomona.

He served as legislative information secretary and was a past president of the Mt. Baldy Chapter of the California Credit Union League. He was a former president and member of the board of the California Credit Union League Associated Services. He was a former director of the California Credit Union League, and a former chairman and member of the Union Printers Home Committee of the International Typographical Union. He also served as a member of the laws committee of the union.

He served as a delegate to 11 conventions of the International Typographical Union. He served 10 years as president of the Pomona - San Gabriel Valleys Typographical Union No. 994.

Mr. Fleming was former secretary-treasurer and lobbyist for the California Typographical Legislative Conference, and a delegate to the Southern California Typographical Conference.

He was elected a lifetime delegate to the Southern California Typographical Conference in July of 1970, when he retired as conference secretary-treasurer.

Surviving are his widow, Myrtle J.; two daughters, Mrs. Grace Ware of Clarklake, Mich., and Mrs. Emma Jean Brinkley of Chino; a son, David O. Jr., of Flat Rock, Mich.; a step-son, William H. Osier of Des Moines, Iowa; a sister, Mrs. Mabie Brooks of Pennsylvania; five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Services will be held in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona Monday at 1:30 p.m. Dr. Paul F. Huebner of Claremont will officiate. Joe L. Bellot will conduct the [illegible] ritual.

Private burial w[illegible] [illegible]mona Cemetery.

Mrs. Maria Schoeps

CLAREMONT — Mrs. Maria Schoeps, wife of Ernest J. Schoeps of 3105 Padua Ave., died Friday at her home following a long illness.

Mrs. Schoeps was born Jan. 23, 1914, in Czechoslovakia. She came to the United States in 1960 from Germany. She had lived in the Pomona area since that time.

She was a member of Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic Church.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Trudy Callison of Claremont and Mrs. Rosemarie Cundiff of Mira Loma; a sister, Mrs. Rosa Wick of Bavaria; and four grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited tonight at 8 at Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. Requiem Mass will be celebrated Monday at 9 a.m. at Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic Church.

Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery in Pomona.

Death toll in India reaches 316 as cold wave continues

NEW DELHI (UPI) — A two-week-old cold wave, which has claimed over over 300 lives so far, continued its chilling sweep through northern and northeastern India Saturday with little prospect of relief in the next few days.

While the Kashmir valley lay freezing at 32 degrees Fahrenheit the temperature fell to a regional all-time low of 24.8 degrees in the plains at Churu (Rajasthan), the weather office said.

The death toll stood at 316 with most of the fatalities recorded in the eastern state of Bihar where 200 persons are reported to have died due to exposure.

In Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's home state of Uttar Pradesh, 73 dea[illegible] have been reported in the wors[illegible] [illegible]r in the 30 years, Indi[illegible] [illegible]s agencies reported.

New Delhi continued to shiver for the fourth successive day with the night temperature falling to an all-time low for the capital at 34.7 degrees.

'Electric blanket' fire causes $22,000 loss

CLAREMONT — An electric blanket which burst into flames was blamed for a bedroom fire which caused an estimated $22,000 loss at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen L. Baker at 650 Smoketree Drive.

The home, appraised at $42,000 according to the county fire department, is in the county area north of Claremont.

Battalion Chief Orval Dame supervised firemen from engine companies 102, 62 and 104 who battled the blaze, confining the fire to the attic, one bedroom and a hallway.

The call was turned in at 11:02 p.m. Friday.

Firemen quoted Baker as saying his wife turned on the electric blanket and was preparing for bed when it burst into flames. Firemen said Baker attempted to fight the fire with a garden hose before they arrived.

Loss was estimated at $18,000 to the structure and $4,000 to contents.

Mrs. Mary E. Egan

POMONA — Mrs. Mary E. Egan of 448 E. Alvarado St. died Friday afternoon in a local convalescent hospital following a three-week illness.

Mrs. Egan was born May 18, 1886, in Madrid, Iowa. She came to Pomona from Iowa in 1972. She was a member of the First Christian Church.

Surviving are a son, Marshall of Duarte; two daughters, Mrs. Doreen Townsend of Montclair and Mrs. Nellie Edmonds of Twentynine Palms; three grandchildren, Debra Townsend of Montclair, Mrs. Judy Alkire of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. Joan Egan of Pasadena; and two great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Monday at 3 p.m. in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. The Rev. Morgan Sly, pastor of the First Christian Church, will officiate.

Private entombment will be in Pomona Mausoleum.

Manuel L. Mattos

CHINO — Manuel L. Mattos of 12733 Central Ave. died Friday in an Upland convalescent hospital following a long illness.

Mr. Mattos was born Feb. 19, 1903 in Portugal. He came to Chino from Sacramento four months ago, where he was a career civil service employe. He had been a member of St. Margaret Catholic Church here.

He is survived by a brother, Jose L. of Chino, and several nieces and nephews.

A Rosarywill be recited at 8:30 p.m. Sunday in Griffith Mortuary Chapel. A Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. Monday in St. Margaret Church. Burial will be in Bellevue Cemetery, Ontario.

Helen Woodcock

LA PUENTE — Mrs. Helen D. Woodcock of 16250 Dalark St. died Friday at a Glendora convalescent home following a long illness.

Mrs. Woodcock was born June 10, 1886, in Muncie, Ind.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Marie Morrison of Pomona, four grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited tonight at 7:30 p.m. at St. Francis of Rome Catholic Church. Mass of the Christian Burial will be celebrated at the church Monday at 9:30 a.m.

Burial will be in Queen of Heaven Cemetery in Covina. Blackman Mortuary, Pomona, is in charge of arrangements.

Lowell F. Cook

POMONA — Lowell F. Cook of 1401 W. 9th St. died Friday morning at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Mr. Cook was born Sept. 20, 1896, in Lawrenceville, Ill. He came to Pomona from Mesa, Ariz., in 1969. He was a world War I Army veteran.

Mr. Cook was a member of the Oriental Lodge No. 33 of the Masons, and the Scottish Rite, in Chicago, Ill., and the Elzaribah Temple in Phoenix, Ariz.

Surviving are his widow, Ann H.; a son, William C. of Pomona; two sisters, Mrs. Cora Coffee and Mrs. Adda Brown, both of Mesa, Ariz.; and two grandchildren.

Services will be held Monday at 11:30 p.m. at Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. Dr. Paul F. Huebner of Claremont will officiate.

Burial will be in Pomona Cemetery.

Solutions to energy crisis flood Simon's office daily

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal energy chief William A. Simon gets about 1,500 letters a day from people with suggestions for solving the energy crisis—like the man who urged householders to burn buffalo chips.

Recalling pioneer days, when Americans on the great plains sometimes burned buffalo manure for fuel, the writer told Simon "if it was good enough for our ancestors" it ought to be good enough now as a substitute for coal and oil.

A woman telephoned the Federal Energy Office and asked what could be done about her automobile. A puzzled official asked what had happened to the car.

"You told me to stop using gas so I parked the car, and now the police have towed it away,' the woman said.

Inventors are swamping the energy office with ideas. A man in Oklahoma offered his ''electro plasma gravity hydrogen fusing reactor."

One inventor wound up his letter by explaining he was motivated by patriotic reasons but that "I would be less than honest if I do not add that I expect to be well paid."

A motorist complained that he was trying to observe the President's request to hold to a 50-mile-an-hour speed limit, but police had arrested him for driving 50 in a 35 mile-an-hour speed zone.

Open House de LULAC

Oficial federal visito aqui

POMONA — El Centro Educacional de LULAC en Pomona tuvo su "Open House" el 15 de diciembre de 1973 a las 3 de la tarda en el salon de la iglesia del Sagrado Corazon.

Como invitado de honor estuvo el Doctor Henry Ramirez, director del "Cabinet Committee for the Spanish-Speaking" en Washington, D.C.

El Doctor Ramirez hablo de la importancia de la educacion para la gente de habla espanol.

Otros oradores fueron el Senor Ernesto Robles, director ejecutivo de los Centro Nacionales de Education de LULAC y el Senor Fidel Gonzalez, director estatal de la organizacion de LULAC en California.

El Senor Ernesto Robles hablo de la importancia de tener mas Centros para que los estudiantes de habla espanol obtengan la informacion necesaria para entrar a las universidades.

El Senor Fidel Gonzalez hablo tocante la organizacion de LULAC en el estado.

Tambien huvo una exhibicion de arte Mexicana por artistas de la area de Pomona. Se presentaron los grupos de ballet Folklorico de Pomona High School y Cal Poly. Se termino la fiesta con una comida al estilo mexicano.

Curso para adultos comenzara en Enero

ROWLAND HEIGHTS — Preparacion para empleo en la industria de fabricas de ropa—cual esta creciendo rapidamente—se ha sido mas facil para residentes de este local.

Un curso de Costura de Maquinas de Fuerza, co-ofrecida por Con-Stan Industries y la Escuela de Educacion Adulta de Rowland, ha hayado posiciones para los graduantes. Un curso nuevo comenzara el 7 de Enero.

Inscripciones se tomaran durante el tiempo del curso. El curso se tomara seis semanas, pero estudiantes que muestran aptitud superior podran completar los requerimientos para empleo en menos tiempo.

Aplicaciones seran tomadas por adelantado en la oficina de Educacion Adulta de Rowland, 1830 Nogales St. Si se requiere mas informacion, pueden llamar 965-5975, de las 9 a.m. hasta las 9 p.m., Lunes a Jueves.

Paje es de Puerto Rico

WASHINGTON D.C.—La Srita. Siglinda Sanchez de Hoboken N. J. es la primer persona de origen puerto riqueno en tomar el cargo de paje en la Casa de Represeniates de E. U.

Su promovedor para ese cargo fue el Congresista Dominick V. Daniels, Democrata de la cuidad de New Jersey.

La Srita Sanchez se mudo a la ciudad de Hoboken con sus padres el Sr. y Sra. Elias Sanchez cuando ella tenia 6 anos de edad de su tierra Puerto Rico.

El Centro NSC ofrece variedad de servicios

POMONA — South Hills Neighborhood Service Center (N.S.C.) es la unica agencia en la area de Pomona que esta activamente envuelta en proveer medios para hacer frente a las necesidades de la comunidad.

Situada en una comunidad de minorias que reciben bajos sueldos, el centro, dividido en departamentos, ofrece servicios de: empleos, servicios sociales, salubridad, cuidado de ninos y nutricion, juventud y ciudadanos retirados.

Empleo: Este departamento ofrece a personas que han sido senaladas de tener desventaja economica y social viviendo en Pomona, un servicio de empleo eficaz y accesible; se lleva a cabo cinco dias de la semana trabajando juntamente con el Departamento de Recursos Humanos e industrias locales.

Este departamento tambien trabaja para sensibilizar a los patrones publicos y privados de sus metodos uniformes de emplear y dar pruebas a tales candidatos.

Servicios sociales: Este departamento suple a los ciudadanos de Pomona con un servicio que provee ayuda de emergencia en la area de comida, prevencion para evitar que se corten los servicios, ropa, ropa requerida en ciertos trabajos, transportacion, muebles y ayuda para la renta.

Salubridad: La Clinica Preventiva Medica de la Comunidad N. S. C. es un nuevo paso para administrar las necesidades de salubridad a los economicamente pobres. Es evidente que los metodos tradicionales no estan trabajando.

Hay mucha gente pobre sin atencion medica y muchos de ellos no buscan ayuda solamente que se enfermen. Esta clinica esta situada en el centro de una comunidad que recibe sueldos bajos, facilmente accesible a los ciudadanos locales.

El horario es durante la noche para permitir que asistan aquellos que de otra manera no asistieran. Para aquellos que no les sea posible pagar el donative de $1.00, el servicio es gratis.

Cuidado de ninos y nutricion: El proposito de N. S. C. Escuela de Ninos es de ayudar a la madre, que sostiene el hogar trabajando, con el cuidado de ninos a un costo nominal. El costo va de acuerdo con el sueldo del participante.

Una parte importante en la operacion de esta escuela, es un curso de estudios que esta orientado para proveer un enriquecimiento cultural y academico. Un programa de Nutricion tambien se provee que consiste de un desayuno caliente, lonche y dos "snacks" diariamente.

Juventud: El Centro de Desarrollo para la Juventud trabaja con jovenes de siete a diez y siete anos de edad. Especializa en ensenanza academica, aconsejar, recreacion y enriquecimiento cultural.

Ciudadanos retirados: El Club Darcus de Ciudadanos Retirados se formo y es operado por ellos mismos.

Se compone de un programa nutritivo que alimenta a muchos ciudadanos de sueldos bajos. Tambien se sirven comidas a domicilio a aquellas personas que no pueden salir.

Anidiendo a los servicios para estos ciudadanos: ayuda domestica, compras y transportacion.

El Centro esta situado en 1170 West Fremont St. en Pomona. Para informacion y servicio, favor de llamar al director, Ken Steward, al numero 623-8602.

Programa SSI tendra efecto el 1 de Enero

POMONA — El Centro de Informacion y Referibles para Ciudadanos Retirados recuerda a los residentes que un programa federal de ingresos suplementales, reconocido como "SSI", para persons de 65 anos o mas, para ciegos y para invalidos tendra efecto el martes.

Bajo este programa, una persona puede tener $1,500 o una pareja $2,250, en dinero efectivo o en ahorros, mas ciertas consideraciones de trabajo, y todavia tener derecho al programa.

El ajuste viene por medio de la Oficina del Seguro Social.

El Centro tambien alerta a todo dueno de casa de la rebaja de $1,750 de la valuacion calculada de su propiedad. La noticia de esto sera enviada al contribuyente en la primavera y las aplicaciones deben de llenarse para el 15 de Abril de 1974.

Comenzando el 15 de Mayo, el Centro espera tener ayuda disponible para las formas de contribuciones. Por primer vez, aquellas personas en el programa de Old Age Security (OAS) pueden ser consideradas para un reembolso parcial.

El Centro, operado por Pomona Valley Commission on Aging, esta situado en el cuarto numero 120 del Municipal Court Building en el Civic Center Plaza.

El Centro esta abierto de lunes a viernes de las 10:00 a.m. a mediodia. Hay ayuda bilingue por parte de voluntarios. Para mas informacion, favor de llamar al Centro al numero 628-6811, extension 279.

ACTION LINE

To ask help in solving problems with which you have been unsuccessful, write to Action Line, The Progress-Bulletin, P. O. Box 2708, Pomona, Calif. 91766. Sign your full name, address and phone number and include copies (not the original) of receipts or other documentation possible. If your letter is published, only your initials will be used.

Hearing aid problem solved satisfactorily

I am writing to Action Line in hopes that you may be able to help my parents with their problem.

They purchased a hearing aid for my mother nearly a year ago.

The former dealer for the hearing aid company has passed away. My mother had the aid two months before he died. When he was told that it wasn't the one she had been fitted with, he said he wasn't sure but that he may have given her a used hearing aid.

We are inclined to believe this because the serial number is different from the guarantee number by one digit.

When my parents went to the new representative, he said the problem was all in my mother's head and tried to sell her another hearing aid. He also made my mother two ear molds but they didn't fit properly.

My mother has been using a hearing aid for over 30 years. This is the first time she has had a serious problem.

We have sent two letters to the service department of the company but haven't received any answer. Therefore we are turning to you for help.—B.C., Montclair.

We wrote to the hearing aid company. We received no direct reply but you tell us that thanks to Action Line, your mother is able to hear.

The company repaired the hearing aid at no cost to your parents. The problem proved to be, not in your mother's mind, but in the central switch of the hearing aid.

Your parents have been assured that the company will continue to take care of any problems that might arise.

We are glad that the holiday sounds are coming in clearly.

Please tackle the Veterans Administration for me. I am at a complete standstill and if it were not for an exceptional landlord I would not have a home.

I am two months behind in my rent and also very late in paying for the utilities due to a financial problem and not unwillingness to pay. —L. I., Pomona.

Examination of papers you sent to us disclosed that you are one of two women claiming to be the widow of a veteran who died in 1971.

You were receiving payments until the other woman filed "a notice of disagreement" from the VA's determination that she may not be considered as a widow of the veteran.

When we contacted the VA office, we were told that the other woman would be allowed 30 days to file an appeal.

Since then, the appeal has been filed. The case has been forwarded to the Board of Veteran Appeals in Washington, D. C., for a decision.

I answered an ad with a $5 deposit for a home correspondence course in tax preparing.

In return I was sent a book. I opened it but sent it right back the same day. I asked to be canceled out.

The next thing I knew the company fined me another $10 for cancellation.

Exhausted from frustration, I mailed the fee as I was afraid the company would keep adding to the amount.

I asked for a refund but the firm never bothered to answer. Have I paid $15 for nothing? Is the company making a mint from people like me? —B. W., Montclair.

You told us you had not signed a contract. We sent the firm a letter asking for a refund, at least, of the additional $10 you had paid.

The company informed us that it has refunded the entire $15.

You sent us a greeting card with a note of thanks, telling us you thought the money was gone for good.

Only two homes in '73

No building boom in Montclair

MONTCLAIR — This city stood as an oasis this year in the construction of new residential developments.

As hundreds of new homes and apartments were being built in surrounding cities, only an occasional hammer and power saw could be heard here.

Officials reported issuing only two building permits for single-family homes and 22 permits for apartment houses.

These apartment houses, however, have not been completed. They are located west of the Montclair Plaza. Completion was delayed by a fire which damaged three of the structures.

In comparison with other West End cities, Chino is projecting 767 single-family homes for the year; Ontario, 268 homes; and Upland, 167 houses.

For apartment houses, 62 have been constructed in Chino and 25 apartment buildings with 258 units are being built in Ontario. Figures for Upland weren't immediately available.

But despite the slow construction, the city's population was reported to have increased by about 1,000 this year to 23,956.

This resulted from families moving this year into homes built during the previous year, said Mayor Harold Hayes . . . He doesn't see much residential growth within the city's present limits due to a lack of available land.

"I can think of only a 10-acre parcel near Montclair High School that could be developed for homes," Hayes added.

He reported, however, there is open land south of Mission Boulevard which lies within Montclair's zone of influence for future annexations.

"But at the present time, Montclair is pretty stable in its population growth," said Hayes.

Mike Loehr, the city's director of community development, said there had been inquiries regarding several residential developments for that area south of Holt Avenue.

He cited two main reasons for the small number of residential units constructed this year.

"Most of the residential areas within the city are developed with single-family homes and there is no large acreage left north of Holt Avenue.

"Also, the city has had a building moratorium for that area south of Holt Avenue pending completion of an environmental impact report for the Ontario International Airport." That moratorium expired this month.

A moratorium also had an effect on new apartment units being constructed, he added. The 22 buildings constructed this year were the first in the past five to seven years due to a moratorium imposed while a new ordinance was being developed, said Loehr.

A slowdown in single-family homes was indicated in 1971 when permits were issued for only 52 such homes. There were no apartment building permits.

Montclair, observed Loehr, does not have a high rate of growth.

This is substantiated by a recent population report issued by the San Bernardino planning department.

Planners estimated the city's number of residents increased from 22,546 in April, 1970, to 23,956 last July—a gain of 1,410.

The number of dwelling units during same period increased by 549 from 6,636 to 7,185.

Yule brightened for 12 families by three city groups

POMONA — A dozen Pomona families and some 80 youngsters had a brighter Christmas this year thanks to three Pomona organizations.

Members of the Silvermoon Lodge 105, Silver Star Chapter 89 and the Meridian Fellowship Club recently presented 12 families with Christmas boxes of groceries and sponsored a holiday party for the youngsters at the Lodge Hall on 1022 W. Second St.

Tom B. Jones, worshipful master, and Aileen Nowden, worthy matron, directed the holiday affair.

Everyone shuts down for New Year's—except CHP

With governmental agencies and most businesses closed Tuesday to mark the new year, Pomona Valley residents will be free to enjoy the Rose Parade, gorge themselves on football or hit the Southland's highways for a family holiday.

The California Highway Patrol is reminding motorists, however, that the New Year's Holiday ushers in the state's new 55 mile per hour maximum speed limit and that a full force of officers will be patrolling local freeways to make sure the new limit is observed.

Capt. W. C. Jones, commander of the Claremont CHP office, warns that persons caught driving 65 or 70 miles per hour can expect to be cited.

While all municipal, county, state and federal offices in the valley will be closed Tuesday, it will be business as usual Monday with all offices observing normal hours. The only exception is Montclair City Hall, which will close Monday at noon.

Window service at valley Post Offices will also be closed at noon Monday, while normal home delivery will continue. No deliveries will be made on New Year's Day.

Trash collections in all Pomona Valley communities will be one day late following the Tuesday holiday.

'74 will be a gloomy year, says clairvoyant

POMONA — Clairvoyant Grada Hawkins is not optimistic about prospects for the new year.

She sees 1974 as a year of ups and downs with many changes, only a few for the better.

"The cost of living will keep going up and, although the meat strike will end soon, prices will remain high. Gas rationing is possible, but I don't see it as a positive step as yet—it looks like the oil companies have it made," Mrs. Hawkins said.

Mrs. Hawkins says she is gravely concerned for President Nixon.

"Between now and March, it looks like the bottom might fall out from under Mr. Nixon. The month of March looks especially bad for him. He's been under such a strain, his health could fail him."

Mrs. Hawkins will demonstrate her psychic powers at the Pomona Public Library on Wednesday, Jan. 9, starting at 7 p.m.

A year ago, during a library-sponsored program at the City Council Chambers, Mrs. Hawkins made a number of predictions, including that 1973 would be a year for "landslide sales in small cars, many of us may have to get a bicycle."

The library program on Wednesday is being offered free of charge. Because of limited seating, advance reservations will be required. Reservations for tickets may be made by calling 620-2011.

Someone else will smooth path of justice in city—Hymie is retiring

By BOB NAGEY
P-B Staff Writer

In just a short time now, someone else will have to start standing over the oil can that has made the wheels of justice here turn smoothly for the past two score years. Hymie Bradofsky is retiring.

Hymie's is no ordinary retirement. When he turns in his keys to the East District Courthouse Building in Pomona Jan. 1, he will put an end to an era which he himself began as Los Angeles County branch law librarian during the early years of the Great Depression. Two years later, he became a deputy county clerk.

For 35 of those years he was a legal link between the local administration of justice and the Central District in Los Angeles. It was Hyman J. Bradofsky who first brought the county clerk's office to Pomona, along with a part-time Superior Court, in 1933.

Today, in its five-year-old, seven-story building, Pomona sports eight Superior Court judges and three commissioners sitting as judges pro tem, with provisions to add more in the future. Hymie is now removed from the bustle of the county clerk's office, transferred to more quiet, more dignified surroundings as the court clerk of Judge Glenn M. Pfau.

But his dedication to the legal profession which has made him a legend over the past four decades continues.

Only he knows how many aspiring lawyers he has coached through state bar examinations; how many more he has helped through the trying years that followed; how many thousands of marriage licenses, including many, many second generation Pomonans, he has issued during his span here.

He does not talk about the assistance he has given to legal secretaries, but the Pomona Valley-Citrus Legal Secretaries Association has made him an honorary member. A licensed attorney-at-law, he served as secretary-treasurer of the Pomona Valley Bar Association for eight years.

But his credits scarcely stop there. He is a retired lieutenant colonel in the U. S. Air Force, a charter member and former president of the Pomona Junior Chamber of Commerce, serving at different times as a vice president of the state Jaycees, and a director of the national Junior Chamber; and an active member of the Masons, Shriners, Boy Scouts, Pomona Valley Historical Society, the American Legion, the Delta Theta Phi law fraternity, and many others.

He is a recipient of the "Gold Key" award from the National Jaycees, and the holder of the local community's "Outstanding Young man" award for 1939.

Many persons with whom Hymie associated through those organizations and others over the past decades paid tribute to him at lunches, parties and banquets during the past four weeks.

And though some people use associations to judge the value of a man, in Hymie's case that would hardly scratch the surface.

He is a stranger to the 40-hour week and the eight-hour day. His work day often starts before 7 and rarely ends before 6, and he generally is at his desk over the weekend. The vacation he took last summer was his first in 20 years.

His explanation is simple. "I have had what the experts call job satisfaction," he shrugs. "And if I have had any one virtue, it has been that I have been naturally industrious—work, hard work."

That industry came in mighty handy even as a teen-ager, when he had to sell and deliver newspapers to augment the family income.

Hymie, one of five children, was born in New York City to a couple struggling to survive difficult times. His father was a small merchant whose health was poor and the family was frequently forced to travel, finally settling in Los Angeles in 1922.

Hymie put himself through Southwestern University Law School by working as a clerk for the Santa Fe Railroad.

After he passed the bar in 1930, he tried to establish himself as an attorney but the Depression had just struck and as he recalls, "attorneys were selling apples out of boxes."

So when he got a job in the law library, he gladly took it. And when he was offered $55 a month to become a permanent deputy county clerk in Pomona, he accepted.

"People talk about the good old days, "Hymie Bradofsky reminisced. "To me there is no such thing. In the 1930s we had no war, no traffic jams, no population explosion—but we also had no minimum wage, no television, no polio vaccine and no luxuries for the masses, either. It is the speed with which change takes place today that is the major difference between then and now."

Although he feels he has had a satisfying life up to now, he does find fault with it in that "it is too soon over. There is no time for all the challenging endeavors, for the alluring serenities and enchantments of love and friendship, for the thought realms to be explored . . ."

As he moves busily around the courtroom, making notations, answering phone calls, swearing in jurors and witnessess, Hymie does not give the impression of being an introspective person. But if one can slow him down, one finds that he has the humility of a man who has come to terms with himself, who has found his place in the order of things.

He is a warm, soft-spoken man with a heightened sense of integrity, and a deep concern for "what is right." And he has a dry sense of humor which can instantly change into contempt at the sight of sloppy work, irresponsibility, sloth or official gobbledegook.

One of the disappointments of his life is that he will never know whether, had the Depression not come, he might have been an important lawyer or an outstanding judge.

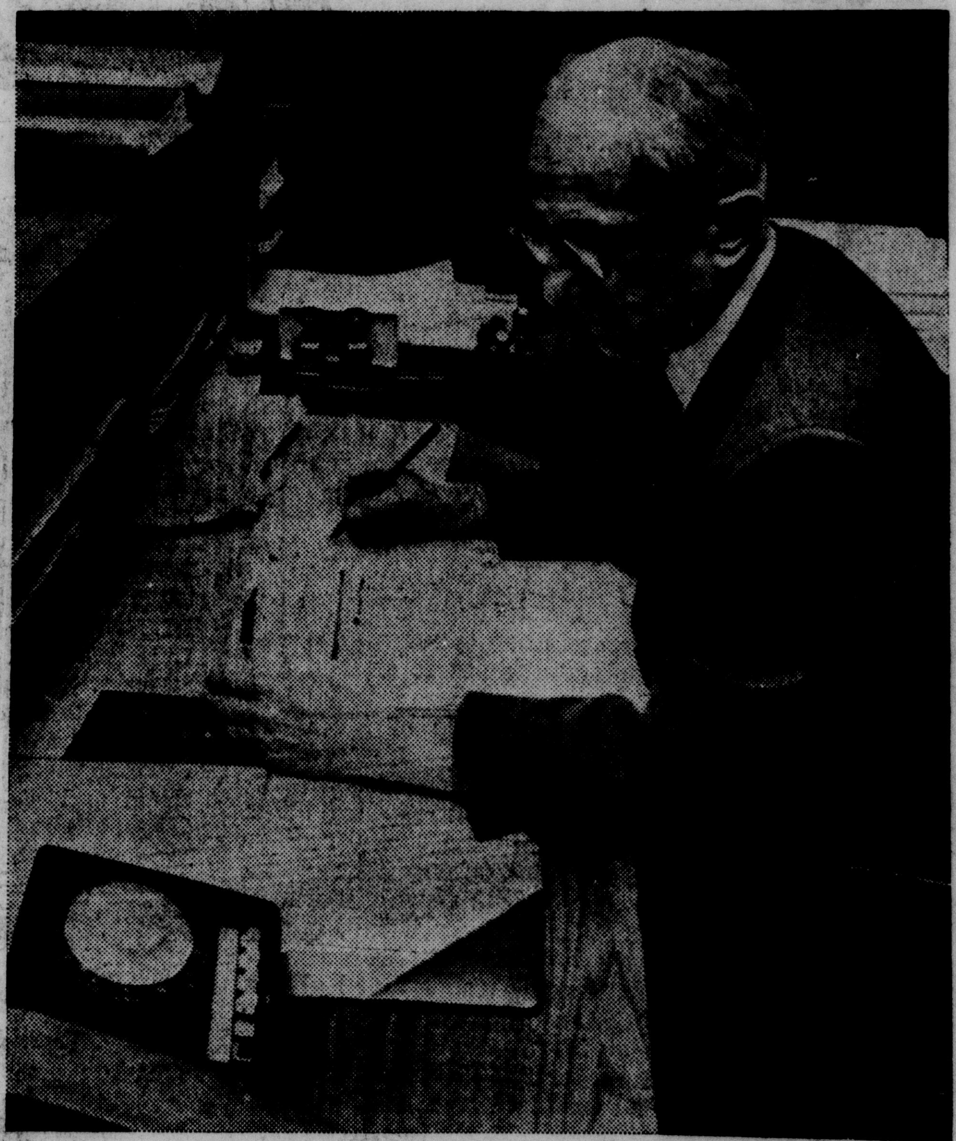
He did serve in the capacity of the second role once in 1956, when because of a judicial need he was drafted for a day to serve as a court commissioner.

"All attorneys present stipulated to my appointment to that post for that session," Hymie recalled. "I disposed of all of the calendar. There wasn't a single appeal."

He says to his knowledge he was the only clerk in the history of the county to be drafted to serve as a court commissioner.

Now that retirement is at hand, Hymie admits he will miss the courtroom atmosphere. "I've got it under my skin. Basically this is what my whole life has been about. I will miss the baffling paradox of people. I will miss all the co-workers."

But he hopes that in retiring from working with the county, he will be able to use his legal knowledge elsewhere so that most of those who have wished him farewell will run into him from time to time.



THE LAST ENTRY

Hyman Bradofsky makes his last entry into the court calendar of Judge Glenn Pfau as he closes 40 years of service with Los Angeles County, most of it in Pomona.

Much too fast, a little too strong

"There's something that doesn't like a wall," said poet Robert Frost. There's also something in the human makeup that doesn't like a computer.

For all the dramatic cost-savings promised by the computer, it can create a wall of customer bad will unless businessmen recognize the public's hositlity toward the electronic monster, warns the international accounting firm of Coopers & Lybrand.

"Computers are basically resented for two reason," says the company in an article in its fall Journal.

"The first is explicit: (The) systems have demonstrated an unresponsiveness to complaints and to special situations for which they have not been programmed.

"The second reason is seldom explicit but poses a much more serious challenge to management: computers tend to close the comfortable gap between theory and practice that nearly everyone takes advantage of at some time or another."

For example, customers are likely to be more outraged at a billing error by computer than a similar error committed by a human being. Moreover, if the computer continues to send out dunning letters before a store can correct the error, customers are likely to take their business elsewhere.

"Nothing exasperates people more than the slowness of automatic systems to react to information," says the Journal. "Given the incredible speed at which computers function, it stands to reason that the monster can perform hundreds of crucial recording or processing actions while it is operating under a misconception before the sapient gnomes who are supposed to control the machine can eliminate the misconception by inserting the necessary data."

Speed is also involved in the second reason computers are resented. A creditor who receives a notice two days after delinquency instead of the 30 to 60 days he is accustomed to may feel the computer "is on top of me."

Similarly, businesses that are used to taking advantage of the time lag between writing checks and having them charged to the bank account — thereby obtaining a short-term, interest-free "loan" — are not likely to appreciate the elimination of this benefit by the greater efficiency of computers.

Among a number of recommendations, the accounting firm suggests that computer users give high priority to setting up error-correcting departments in their automatic data processing systems, as well as building in more flexibility to allow for the inefficiencies of their all-too-human customers.

Does Kohoutek say something to us?

The ordinary reward for getting up at 5:30 on a winter morning is a sense of self-sacrifice.

These days, however, if you look east out the second floor windows of your house, the reward is tangible and immense. You get to see the comet Kohoutek now running at a down-tilt in the predawn sky.

That white blur has a strange majesty to it — maybe it's the majesty of the celestial survivor.

Kohoutek began its journey toward our reward and its rendezvous with the sun several million years ago. Scientists think it may be composed of the primordal matter of which the universe was first formed. That, in itself, is exciting to think about.

But Kohoutek does something else for us.

It resurrects, in the layman, a sense of awe which time, knowledge, the presumption of knowledge and the tendency of man-made miracles to go bad has stifled in many of us.

In the late 17th century a disciple of Sir Isaac Newton — a man named Halley — charted the courses of comets and began our scientific understanding of them. But, before Halley we had other uses for comets. Men looked into the dawn or dusk-greyed skies, saw the fiery nimbus with its streaming tail and concluded that comets were one of several things — flung morsels of God's wrath, omens of great events or warnings of catastrophe.

William of Normandy told his troops that Halley's comet, appearing in 1066, foretold disaster — not for him but for the defending British armies which also saw it. A late 15th-century Pope excommunicated a comet because it had foretold the fall of Constantinople.

If you believe in omens, you obviously believe in cosmic forces which send omens — you are reduced and made solemn by the evidence that there is something in the universe of greater and more transcendent importance than your self and the dreary, known world. That is a good thing to believe.

One is pleased — obviously — by all the interesting things that science will learn from Kohoutek. But sometimes, watching at dawn, one feels that faint, almost instinctive stirring of awe and wished it were stronger. One wishes to believe that that beautiful thing off to the east did foretell something. Our own sense of self-importance would be less. And Heaven knows we could use some expectation in lives inured to it by knowing too much.

Nixon wooed Spanish voters

WASHINGTON — Classified White House documents, which we can now publish for the first time, reveal how President Nixon's daughters were used in 1972 to charm Spanish-speaking voters.

Both Julie Eisenhower and Tricia Cox not only were recruited to campaign for their father among Americans of Spanish heritage, but the documents show that government money was spent on their political speeches and briefing papers.

The President eagerly wanted the support of the 12 million Spanish-speaking Americans, who are concentrated in key states. Conceivably, they could have provided the margin of victory in such crucial states as California, Florida, Illinois, New Jersey, New York and Texas.

It is likely the President would have done well enough in the Spanish-American precincts without the political trickery that characterized his 1972 campaign. His closest friend, Bebe Rebozo, came from the Spanish-speaking community.

Appointments

Nixon also appointed more Spanish-Americans to high positions than any past President. They included Ramona Banuelas as U.S. treasurer, Phillip Sanchez as antipoverty czar, Hilary Sandoval as small business administrator and Carlos Villarreal as urban transit head. A Spanish-American, Horacio Rivera, was named ambassador to Spain.

The President even established a White House task force to seek jobs and business grants for the Spanish-speaking. But like so many worthy projects, it was corrupted by the President's campaign crew, who used the task force more to gain votes than to give help.

The classified documents show that the task force provided campaign material for the President's daughters. Tricia's husband, Ed Cox, also got help from the task force for political speeches. Yet the task force was fiananced with the taxpayers' money, not campaign funds.

In an "Administrative-Confidential" memo to White House aide Charles Colson, the task force chief, William Marumoto, reported in April 1972: "We provided Julie Eisenhower . . . a copy of achievement list" for campaign purposes. The following June, another White House aide, Carlos Conde, "developed briefing papers for Julie. . . ."

Worked with CRP

Later the same month, Marumoto confided how he was working with the Nixon campaign committee "re Julie Eisenhower's participating in a few SS (Spanish-speaking) activities" for the campaign.

Tricia Cox also got political briefing papers from White House speech writers in June 1972. Afterward, she posed for campaign pictures, taken by the White House photographer, of herself and wives of Spanish-heritage leaders.

Later that month, the task force prepared her material for a political speech. In a confidential memo, the task force reported triumphantly that the audience for Tricia's speech was "stacked with our people" The White House, using federal funds, also printed and distributed her speech.

The President's aides also wanted to use Ed Cox in the Spanish-American vote drive, because of his association with Ralph Nader. A classified memo reveals that, in October, 1972, the White House "provided background and speech material to Ed Cox's speechwriter (and) worked . . . on the appearance of Ed Cox at (a) parade in New York."

Nixing foes

The same White House task force, which was supposed to be helping Spanish-Americans get grants, actually worked behind the scenes to knock out grants for those who opposed the President politically. A June 23, 1972, memo reports that the task force enlisted White House aide "Nate Bayer of the Domestic Affairs Council re identifying SS (Spanish-speaking) groups who have applied for federal grants . . . who are unfriendly toward the Administration."

Another memo reveals that the White House kept a watchful eye on Spanish-American government employes who were known to be Democrats. States a September 1972 intra-White House memo to Charles Colson and Fred Malek:

Presidential aide Tony Rodriquez "is working . . .to see that Armando Rodrrquez, HEW, is kept in line. He is a Democrat that is screening all Spanish-speaking applicants at OE (Office of Education)."

The memos also show that Nixon campaign aide Alex Armendariz sought to use the Cabinet Committee on Opportunities for Spanish-Speaking People, which was supposed to be totally nonpartisan, to attack New York City's Mayor John Lindsay. This proposal was made in June 1972, when Lindsay was regarded as a Democratic vice presidential prospect.

Attack issued

Armendariz noted that Mayor Lindsay had cut some funds from a bilingual education program. "How about taking a slap at Lindsay?" urged Armendariz in a memo to the cabinet committee chairman, Henry Ramirez. Sure enough, Ramirez issued a bitter attack on Lindsay.

On the other hand, the memos reveal the wholesale use of grants and patronage to reward Spanish-Americans who supported the President.

FOOTNOTE: A classified "action memo" sent to "the Attorney General" on Dec. 16, 1971, proves that former Attorney General John Mitchell lied when he swore he took no active role in the campaign while he was at the Justice Department. The memo asked Mitchell for "your attention now" on decisions involving the "Spanish-speaking, Labor, Middle America, Ethnic-Catholic."

The memo makes it perfectly clear that Mitchell was directing the campaign from his office in the Justice Department.

FARM JUNKET: High-flying members of the House Agriculture Committee have junketed to Brazil and Venezuela this year, but with a new twist. Brazil, looking for bigger sugar quotas from the United States, and Venezuela, worried about U.S. wheat exports, picked up the tab instead of the U.S. taxpayer.

The luxurious tour to Venezuela included Reps. W. R. Poage, D-Tex.; Joseph Vigorito, D-Pa.; Frank Denholm, D-S.D.; Wiley Mayne, R-Iowa; John Rarick, D-La.; Robert Price, R-Tex.; LeMar Baker, R-Tenn.; Eligio de la Garza, D-Tex.; and David Bowen, D-Miss. Brazil's military government played host to Poage, Frank Stubblefield, D-Ky.; William Wampler, R-Va.; George Goodling, R-Pa.; John Zwach, R-Minn.; Ed Jones, D-Tenn.; Dawson Mathis, D-Ga.; and Jerry Litton, D-Mo.

DOUBLE EDGE: In his new book, "Who Makes War — The President Versus Congress," Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., gives the background for Congress' recent overriding of the presidential veto on the war powers bill. His arguments could apply with equal bite to the Watergate case. "The implication that the presidency is beyond the range of congressional authority to check in the exercise of the war powers raises a serious constitutional danger," he writes. "Our own stature as free and equal citizens is diminished when we hand an individual leader our lives to do with what he will."

Gossip for today

It is a well known fact that flag waving is one of a politician's most important abilities. But strangely enough the greatest flag waver in the country today is not a patriotic politician. That honor goes to a fellow who has a full time job flying flags over our nation's capitol. On a busy day, in order to meet public demand for flags that have enjoyed that honor, he will run a flag up and down the Capitol dome flagpole at a speed of approximately one every three minutes.

Nader doesn't blow stack at everything

WASHINGTON — A lot of things make Ralph Nader mad. Things like no-pest strips hanging from ceilings and Coke machines.

Writing about Nader in the New Yorker magazine, Tom Whiteside recorded Ralph's reaction when he entered a gymnasium at Defiance College in Defiance, Ohio, and spotted one of the yellow bug killers overhead:

"Oh, no!," said Nader. He declared that the product had been put on the market without fully adequate testing, and he said that until further research had been undertaken into its potential for producing carcinogenic, mutagenic, and teratogenic (fetus-deforming) effects in animals he thought it outrageous that sale of the pesticide to the public should be allowed."

Whiteside also cited another example of when Nader, according to one of his associates, "blew his stack." The occasion? When someone suggested that a Coke machine be installed on the premises of one of Nader's organizations.

So, it is a matter of record that Ralph Nader can get angry and blow his top. To be sure, these examples are not things that would anger most people, but then Nader is not like most people. And in a perverse sort of way he is strangely consistent. While he gets mad at a lot of unimportant things, he also fails to get mad at some things that are truly outrageous.

Tapes

For example, there was the recent report of Nader lawyer William Dobrovir playing a subpoenaed Presidential tape at a cocktail party in Washington. Dobrovir had the tape because he's representing Public Citizen, Inc., a Nader group suing the President. When ABC News reported the lawyer's shenanigans, and Federal District Court Judge William Jones hauled him into court to explain things, he conceded it was a "terrible mistake" and he was "extremely sorry."

Now, Dobrovir did two things when he played this Presidential tape for his friends as they sat around drinking and eating salami and chopped liver.

He breached Canon Nine of the American Bar Association's code of professional responsibility and he violated the oath he took when he became a member of the U.S. District Court Bar.

Canon Nine says that "a lawyer should avoid even the appearance of professional impropriety." The ethical consideration underlying this canon is that public confidence in the law and lawyers may be eroded by irresponsible or improper conduct of a lawyer, conduct, which to a layman seems unethical.

The oath Dobrovir swore to on June 13, 1960 reads as follows: "I do solemnly swear that I will demean myself as a member of the bar of this court uprightly and according to law; and that I will support the constitution of the United States." When Dobrovir used the Presidential tape as a party favor, he obviously was not behaving in an upright manner.

Simon Trevas, president of the Federal Bar Association and a lawyer for 40 years, told me that what Nader's lawyer did was "highly improper, wrong, very unusual and in bad taste." Material obtained under a subpoena is to be used in a very limited way, he explained. When it is used outside the confines of a court or for preparing a case, it is improper.

CBS

Trevas also labeled as improper Dobrovir's letting CBS newsman Fred Graham hear the tape on an off-the-record basis.

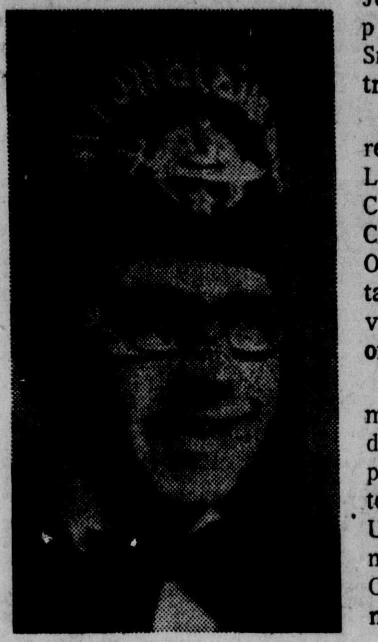
There are also indications that Dobrovir was less than completely candid with Judge Jones in his explanation of how he came to play the tape. The Nader attorney indicated that he had done so on the spur of the moment at the urging of the people at the party. Yet, Kevin Delany, director of ABC News, who was at the get-together and heard the tape, told me that 15 minutes before Dobrovir arrived, the hostess announced that he was on the way and had "a very interesting White House tape" with him.

Commenting on what Dobrovir told Judge Jones, Delany says it is obvious the Nader lawyer wanted to minimize the impact and importance of the matter. "I don't believe it was a case of Dobrovir suddenly realizing he had the tape in his pocket. He wanted to make it seem (to the judge) that it was impromptu, with us saying 'C'mon, play it! Play it!' But it didn't take that kind of urging, I assure you." Delany also says that he thinks about 10 minutes of the tape was played, not five minutes, as Dobrovir told the judge.

Now, what has Ralph Nader had to say about all this? Well, at first nothing. He wouldn't talk. Then ABC got hold of him and he said simply that it was an "unfortunate excess" on the part of Dobrovir but he was still retaining him. So, unlike Richard Nixon, Ralph Nader is keeping his John Dean on the job.

Claremonter heads Baldy Shrine unit

Gene F. Allen of Claremont has been elected president of the Old Baldy Shrine Club.



GENE F. ALLEN

Elected to the board of directors are Frank Moore of La Verne, Lawrence Fiora of Chino, George Martin of Cucamonga, John G. Smith of Ontario, Jack Daley of Ontario, Harold Ake of West Covina, and Vern O. Anderson of Pomona.

Gene A. Snyder of Claremont is honorary past president; Moore, publicity and printing chairman; Wilkins, temple chairman; Norman Unroe of Pomona, host chairman; and Bob Seiber of Claremont, DeMolay chairman.

Allen, who resides with his wife, Marianne, and daughter, Susie, at 1955 Loyola Court, is a member of the Landmark Lodge 103, Sioux City, Iowa, Scottish Rite Bodys, York Rite and Eastern Star. He is store manager of Stanyer-Edmundson tire store in Ontario.

The Old Baldy Shrine Club will hold 12 major functions this year, officials said. It is one of 66 Shrine Clubs within the Al Malikah Temple. The group helps support the Shrine crippled childrens and burn hospitals in the U.S., Canada and Mexico.

DMV will take month to gear for rationing

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Department of Motor Vehicles said today it would take a month to issue authorization cards for gasoline rationing coupons after receiving the go-ahead from the federal government.

Stable that Pinto during windstorms—or it may stall

CLAREMONT — If you own a Ford Pinto, try to avoid driving into windstorms.

The dust and sand could cause your vehicle to stall.

That's the finding of local highway patrolmen following several windstorms east of Ontario.

Officers first noted a large number of disabled Pintos last year in a wind area near the Ontario Motor Speedway.

"We checked and found they hadn't run out of gas," said Capt. W. C. Jones, area commander. "A tow truck operator later indicated he found sand and dust had gotten inside the distributor cap, causing an arcing of the points."

Three weeks ago, heavy winds again blew sand and dirt in the same area. Six of the seven vehicles found disabled were Pintos, he added.

"Then during a windstorm last week, 11 of the 12 disabled vehicles were Pintos."

Officer Bill Barkley said he was able to get several of the Pintos started by removing their air cleaners and shaking the dirt and sand loose.

The dirt and sand, he said, were clogging up the cleaners and not letting air into the carburetor.

Motorists whose cars become disabled in windstorms should check their air filters and file the distributor points, suggested Jones.

The Claremont commander reported his findings Thursday to the CHP zone headquarters in Los Angeles. The information was then sent to the Ford Motor Co. plant in Pico Rivera, he reported.

Snow survival course to be offered in Claremont

CLAREMONT — The fourth annual snow survival and igloo building course sponsored by the Claremont Parks and Recreation Department will be held the five Wednesdays in January.

Beginning Wednesday, the class will meet at Taylor Hall from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Don Douglass, the instructor, has plotted a lesson plan which includes two field trips and will cover snow environment and survival, equipment and technique, snow safety, snow travel, camping and snow shelters, and igloo building.

Cost of the course is $10 a person or $15 a family. Those less than 15 may be admitted only with an adult.

Registration should be made at the recreation office, 840 N. Indian Hill Blvd.

More information may be obtained by phoning 624-4531, extension 273.

A scene from Perry Mason

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — It was a scene right out of Perry Mason, and something of a shock for Edward April.

Paul Manley was called as a prosecution witness in the trial of Robert C. Slatton, accused of murder in the shooting death of a man at San Juan Hot Springs.

Manley was asked the standard prosecutor's question: Can you point out the man you saw do the shooting?

"Yes," Manley said, and pointed.

Not at the defendant, but at April, who appeared a bit stunned. April, an aerospace technical instructor, is an alternate juror, who was sitting with spectators in the courtroom. He said nothing, while the prosecution tried to repair the mistake, but smiled when the other jurors kidded him about it later.

'Optimism' helps boost year-end rally

By LEE MITGANG
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Optimism over favorable energy developments helped stocks score a strong year-end rally on the New York Stock Exchange this holiday week.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 29.29 to 848.02. The index scored heavily on Wednesday and Thursday, advancing 22.75 and 13.45, respectively. Observers termed the two-day rally largely technical, but said Wall Street clearly was pleased by news the Arabs were easing their oil embargo against Japan and most Western European nations.

Investors received another lift Thursday when William E. Simon, administration energy czar, announced a stand-by gas rationing program, but said it would take effect only if other conservation plans don't succeed.

He also cheered Wal Street by stating the estimated energy shortfall in the first quarter of 1974 would be 13.6 per cent, instead of the previously expected 16.3 per cent.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index gained 4.00 to 97.54, and the NYSE index was ahead 2.07 to 51.75.

Advances broadly outnumbered declines, 1,283 to 495, among the 1,992 issues traded.

Trading was heavy during the Christmas holiday-shortened week. Sales totaled 74,190,345 shares, compared with 89,245,880 a week earlier, and with 57,785,740 the year before.

Year-end technical factors played a key role in the week's action. Tax loss selling contributed to declines both Monday and Friday, and some brokerage houses reported the volume of that sort of selling was the heaviest in years, following the sharp market decline suffered this year.

Professional traders and institutional portfolio specialists made their presence felt in this last trading week of 1973. The prices of many stocks were yanked sharply higher or lower as pension funds, bank specialists and mutual funds made last minute portfolio adjustments in preparation for their annual reports.

As it worked out, the recently hard hit glamor issues proved the biggest beneficiaries of this normal end-of-year fund reinvesting.

In that group, Burroughs advanced 12 ½, IBM 8 ¾, Johnson & Johnson 6 ¾, National Semiconductor 6 ⅜, Texas Instruments 7 ½, Digital Equipment 8 ¾, and Coca-Cola 8 ½.

Some auto-related glamors also gained on news the Nixon administration was foregoing gas rationing for the time being. Walt Disney added 4 ⅞, Ponderosa Systems 3, Ryder System 2 ½, Holiday Inns 1 ⅝, Howard Johnson 1 ⅛.

Gold mining issues, often a haven during times of international economic uncertainty, rallied. Analysts said they responded especially well to news last Monday the Persian Gulf states had doubled the price of crude oil. Dome Mines soared 13 ⅝, ASA Ltd. 6 ⅛, Homestake Mining 5 ⅜, and Campbell Red Lake 4 ½.

Railroads involved in the mining or transport of coal gained strongly, helped by renewed interest in coal as an alternative energy source. Union Pacific advanced 8 ¼, Norfolk & Western 6 ⅝, Chessie System 4 ⅝, Burlington Northern 3 ⅞, and Missouri Pacific 3 ½.

Levitz Furniture was the volume leader, off ⅛ to 3 ¾ on 750,800 shares. General Motors was second, adding a point to 48 on 606,400 shares. The company Friday announced plans to lay off 86,000 employees early next year because of sagging car sales.

Surprising phone call

By JEAN ADAMS

ON THE PHONE: (Q.) For a long time Jeff called me every night on the telephone. We usually have a date on Friday night. When he called me last Thursday night he asked me to have sex with him the next night. I was so surprised I didn't know what to say.

But I told him the truth, that I cared too much about him to do something like that. He got angry. That was six days ago. He didn't come over Friday night and he hasn't called since. Should I call him? If he asks me again about sex what should I say? He and I are both 15. — Surprised in Louisiana.

(A.) You told him the truth the first time. Stick with that. If he must have an all-the-way girl at age 15 let him go elsewhere.

Do not call him back. I, too, am surprised that he would ask such a question over the telephone. He must have been scared or ashamed to ask it in person. I believe after he gets over his anger and shame he will call you.

DESERTED: (Q.) I was going with Dottie until about a month ago, which would be above five months. Then she just said she liked somebody else and broke up with me.

I really love her and I'd really like to get her back. I am 15 and she is 14.

My mother is against my having anything to do with girls — Grieving in Georgia.

(A.) That your mother worries about your having a girl friend is immaterial. Many mothers do this, but boys do not stop having girl friends because of it.

That your former girl friend likes another boy is important. She has made up her mind and has left you. Find a new girl!

America and the future of man

Population pushing to the limit—like it or not

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 14th of 20 essays by leading men in the world's academic community. The writer of this essay is professor of human ecology, University of California at Santa Barbara. Herein he discusses the 175-year argument over Rev. Thomas Malthus' dire predictions on population.)

By GARRETT HARDIN
Cooyright, 1973, Regents of the University of California.

Has there ever been an argument that lasted as long as the one started by the Rev. Thomas Malthus? It has been 175 years since he wrote his "Essay on Population," and we're still arguing about it. Why?

The most important thing Malthus said was that we have to learn to live within limits.

If our population grows, said Malthus, we will all be poorer. He said that in 1798. As history turned out, however, he couldn't have been more wrong.

The population of Europe and America has increased greatly since then, but prosperity has increased even more. The rest of the world also is somewhat richer, on the average. There are more of us and we have more per capita income. Where did Malthus go wrong?

Early spaceman

Malthus was a premature spaceman. His essay laid out a theory of living on a spaceship of fixed, finite size. But for the past 175 years our spaceship has been expanding, in two ways.

The first expansion was geographic. Europe tapped the riches of the New World, and thus expanded the European population. Low-density hunting economies were replaced by high-density agricultural and industrial economies.

And non-Europeans were murdered by the tens of thousands when they got in the way. That sort of expansion of our earthly spaceships is just about ended

The second expansion was in science and technology. Science made it possible for two blades of grass to grow where there was only one before. That is the equivalent of replacing one acre with two. This process is still going on. Can it continue forever?

Energy is the key to our population problem. Our energy comes almost entirely from two sources now: sun energy captured today by plants (wheat, potatoes, firewood, etc.), and sun energy captured yesterday — millions of years ago — by plants and stored as coal, oil and gas. These "fossil fuels" are the capital we inherited, and we can run through this capital only once.

At the latest, we will exhaust our fossil fuels in three hundred years; they may be practically exhausted in less than a hundred. Required to live on today's sun energy only, we cannot support even the world's present four billion people on the American standard of living. We are living beyond our income now.

What about atomic energy? The fuel needed for nuclear fission installations, including "breeders," will not last even as long as petroleum and coal. Only fusion power will do. There's enough of that for millions of years. But there are some problems.

First, we don't know if we can "tame' fusion, persuade the hydrogen bomb to purr like a kitten, so to speak. In 1955, physicists told us they would have fusion safely in a straitjacket in five years. Lately they have been talking about success by the year 2000. John Q. Citizen has a right to be skeptical of their promises.

Secondly, we don't know if fusion will ever be safe. The fusion process itself is "clean,' that is, it doesn't produce radioactive fallout. But it makes the associated hardware radioactive. This radioactive trash has to be locked away somewhere safely, for thousands of years. How can that be accomplished, when no human government has ever lasted so long?

Furthermore, we don't know if reactors can ever operate perfectly safely under all conditions. We hope our safety devices work, but we just don't know.

There is yet one more danger: sabotage. To gain political ends, dissident groups may be willing "to cut off their nose to spite their face," i.e., to blow up nuclear plants. How would you like to see sabotage-susceptible nuclear reactors placed today in Uganda, Malawi, the Congo, Panama, Bangladesh, Egypt, and Ireland?

Can we be trusted?

Or, for that matter, are we ourselves really so peaceful a people that we can safely tie our future survival to dependence on sabotage-susceptible nuclear power?

Well, when things are tough at home, people naturally think of running away. Why don't we just chuck it all? If the earth is getting too crowded why not gather the excess population together and jet-propel them off of Mr. Malthus' little spaceship?

Sounds appealing. But there are a number of things wrong with this solution. First, where would the emigrants go? The moon, Mars, Venus — all of the planets of our solar system are worse than the worst place on earth for man to live. There's no point in sending off our excess until the South Pole is as crowded as Coney Island.

What about the planets of other stars? Disregarding the fact that we know absolutely nothing about these other planets — not even if they exist — there are momumental objections to such a proposal.

A real costly job

First, cost. More than a decade ago I estimated it would cost at least $3,000,000 per emigrant. But if we can't afford to keep excess people on the earth, how can we afford to blast them out into space at such a price? (No scientist has ever challenged my cost estimate.) The present rate of increase of the earth's population is some 200,000 people per day. The cost for this "Solution" to the population problem would be 600 billion dollars per day. A single day's operation would cost close to the Gross National Product for an entire year in the United States. Who would pay such a bill? Or could?

Then there's the matter of time. At the present speeds of spacecraft it would take almost 100,000 years for the space travelers to reach the nearest star, Alpha Centauri. (They whould hope it had a nice, earth-like planet on which to settle. An uninhabited one, of course.)

Admittedly, technology can shorten this time. Let's be optimistic and assume that this voyage could someday — say a century from now — be shortened to 500 years.

Now what does our population "solution" look like? It looks terrible. In fact, it is impossible. Let me show you why.

The emigrants would be on a spaceship for fifteen human generations — longer than the United States has existed. For all that ime, they would have to control their reproduction rigidly. Zero Population Growth would be the absolute law for at least five centuries.

We are stuck

But what led us to propose this "solution' to the population problem? It was our unwillingness to control our reproduction. Some of us don't want to; such people would never sign up for the trip, since population control would be a "must' on board. Instead, these people would try to force others to go. These others would be the people who are willing to control their breeding.

If this second group were the only ones on earth there would be no population problem, hence no need for the spaceship "solution." Thus this solution leads to a paradox — which destroys the solution.

Neither mathematics nor technology denies the solution to us, ultimately. It is pure logic that closes this door. Inescapably. Forever.

So here we are back on Malthus' spaceship once more, Spaceship Earth.

And we must someday take positive control of population growth. When? Tomorrow? Today? Or should it have been Yesterday?

The question is, What is the optimum population on our spaceship? This is a very difficult question. Economists, biologists, psychologists, and specialists in ethics all must contribute to the solution. Unfortunately, they have scarcely begun their inquiries.

Some hard choices

The problem of increasing population and social disorganization that overwhelms us now compels us to look for an answer — at least a tentative answer — now, without waiting for all the facts to come in.

I have a simple suggestion. List as BETTER or as WORSE the various important aspects of our lives that would be changed by an increase in population. In which category would you place "Water pollution?" And "Air pollution?"

And what about these: access to uncrowded beaches and campgrounds, the quality of fishing and hunting, quietness, freedom to do my own thing, ability to make my voice heard in my nation, amount of time spent correcting misunderstandings in communication, and feelings of brotherhood with my fellow-citizens? The United States now has over 210 million people. When we have 420 million, which of these — or any other items — will be better than it is now?

Can you think of even one aspect of the quality of life to put in the BETTER category?

The defense for Mr. Malthus rests.

(Next Sunday: Dr. Roger Revelle, Richard Saltonstall professor of population policy and director, Center for Population Studies, Harvard University.)

Japanese plan to tell U.S. of oil policy

TOKYO (UPI) — Deputy Prime Minister Takeo Miki will visit the United States in early January to explain Japan's new Arab policy to U.S. officials, including Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, a government spokesman said today. Susumu chief cabinet secretary, said Miki will leave here Jan. 7.

Japan made a major policy switch in late November, Issuing a statement demanding that Israel withdraw from all Arab territories they have occupied since the 1967 six-day war.

Pomona Valley Residents Invade Africa

by FLORENCE MINTO

Twenty-six satisfied travelers, mostly from the Pomona Valley area, recently returned from a three-week tour which included Rio, de Janeiro, South America and Capetown, Durham and Johannesburg, South Africa.

A highlight of the tour was a visit to the Aberdare National Forest near Nairobi, Kenya which included lunch at the Outspan Hotel before departing to the world famous hotel, TREETOPS to spend the night and view game which gather at the water-hole and salt licks.

The tour will be repeated again in 1974 in September and October. For information and reservations call POMONA TRAVEL AGENCY, 623-6474 or come in to 540 W. Holt.

We sincerely wish all our loyal clients a contented Holiday Season with their loved ones, good health, satisfying wealth, and the time to enjoy it and the good sense to appreciate it.

Queen plans $575,000 remodeling

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II is planning to spend $575,000 modernizing her private country house at Sandringham, British newspapers said today.

Buckingham Palace spokesmen would not confirm the figure, but said "a detailed survey of the building is being undertaken" after earlier checks showed structural defects.

The queen arrived Thursday at Sandringham—an 1870 house on an estate of 19,500 acres—to spend the New Year holiday, as is her custom.

Walton MVP; Bruins waltz to Classic win

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — The Bruin Classic should probably be re-titled the Bruin Feast since UCLA basketball teams simply chew up the opposition.

Such was the case Saturday night at Pauley Pavillion where the Bruins dazzled a sell-out crowd and the Michigan basketball team in a 90-70 rout.

That put the streak at 83 with Washington and Washington State the next likely victims as conference play begins Saturday and continues Monday, Jan. 7, on the road.

Bill Walton, known around the country now as "Big Red, the baddest dude around" was as usual dominant. Walton scored 20 points and grabbed 21 rebounds to earn the event's MVP award.

In two games, the red-head totaled 38 points and 38 boards. Michigan had only two players, Campy Russell and Dave Grote in double figures Saturday night. UCLA had six, Keith Wilkes and Richard Washington (10 each), Dave Meyers (16), Pete Trgovich (14), and Tommy Curtis (11), and Walton.

Russell, the Wolverines' 6-8 forward, was game-high scorer with 22 points. Grote had 11. Russell left the game wth 7:06 remaining after falling heavily under the basket. He was given a standing ovation.

San Francisco won the first game of the evening. Wyoming showed its consistency by bowing to USF, 98-66.

The championship game of the third biennial affair was a great game . . . for 12 minutes and 10 seconds. At that time the score was 20-20 and Michigan, sparked by Russell and guard Wayman Britt, was giving the Bruins all they could handle . . . at a price that soon became evident.

But Britt, the 6-2 freshman, was charged with his fourth foul with 7:50 left in the first half. Walton sank one of two free throws to put UCLA ahead 21-20.

It marked the beginning of the end of any Wolverine hopes of dining on Bruin meat in this holiday tournament.

For the Uclans it was the beginning of another of the famed spurts. In the next 4:29 they outscored the visitors 18-4 as Walton again sank one of two free throws and sank three baskets. Wilkes had two baskets in the drive and Trgovich had a basket and two free throws.

Claremont center Bruce Abraham (30) takes position under the boards during the Wolfpack's 41-37 championship victory at the Chino Tournament Saturday night.

Claremont captures Chino tourney title

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — When you ask coach Jack Smith what his Claremont High basketball team is like this year, he'll undoubtedly tell you that it is small in size.

The Wolfpack have only one player as tall as 6-foot-4, with the rest of the starting unit averaging only 6-foot-1.

The 'Pack may be small in size, but they were the biggest thing at the 33rd Annual Chino High Lettermen's Club Invitational Basketball Tourament.

Claremont, now boasting a 10-1 record on the season, shot down a much taller Miraleste club Saturday night in a thrilling defensive showing to claim the Chino Tourney championship.

But it took two last-second layups by Claremont center Bruce Abraham to give the Wolves the exciting 41-37 win over the Marauders.

Wolfpack forward John Douglass tied the score with two minutes left in the game, 37-37, with a field goal.

Then after a Miraleste turnover, Claremont gained possession of the ball with 1:27 left on the clock. The Wolves controlled the ball for a full minute before the tournament's Most Valuable Player, center Greg Hummel of Miraleste, fouled out of the game with 19 seconds remaining in the game.

Smith immediately took advantage of Hummel's absence and called time out. Claremont, taking the ball out of bounds after the foul, pitched the ball in to guard Todd Ervin, who immediately shoveled the ball to Abraham under the basket.

The 6-foot-4 Wolfpack center catapulted toward the hoop and layed in the winning basket as the clock ticked down to two seconds. Miraleste quickly called time out, but the Marauders turned the ball back over to Claremont on the inbounds pass.

Taking the ball out from the baseline again, Claremont went to Abraham for the security bucket.

Ganesha had little trouble dumping Montclair in the consolation championship game. The Giants gradually pulled away from the stubborn Cavaliers for the first three quarters, and then blew the Cavs out of the Cowboys gym in the final eight minutes to win handily, 81-50.

Chino and Upland put on a good show, but when the final buzzer sounded in the game, the host Cowboys were the survivors.

Chino guard Manuel Delgado stole an Upland inbounds pass with the Cowboys leading by two points and only seconds left in the game, layed up the unmolested two-pointer, and gave the Cowboys a 58-54 win over the Highlanders.

It was Mark Milton's basket after an offensive rebound with 15 seconds left in the game which provided the winning basket.

With the victory, the Cowboys claimed the third place trophy in their own tournament.

Cerritos, fighting back from a 22-point deficit in the first half, defeated defending tournament champion La Canada for the fifth place championship, 67-63.

Claremont placed guard Ervin and Rip Sears on the All-Tournament team, while Hummel (MVP) and forward Mark Harryman of Miraleste made the squad.

Other All-Tournament team members included Cleve Porter of Ganesha, Mark Gosswiller of Montclair, Dick Sinclair of La Canada, Curt Oldenkamp of Upland, Steve Guderian of Cerritos and Tim Smith of Chino.

La Canada won the team sportsmanship trophy.

After trailing by one point, 9-8, at the end of the first quarter, Claremont looked as though it was going to run away from the Marauders early in the second period.

Abraham was the whole show for Claremont in the opening minutes of the quarter, pumping in the first eight points of the period and pushing Claremont to a seven-point lead, 16-9.

But Miraleste then outscored the Wolfpack in the closing five minutes of the half, 10-2, to take a 19-18 lead into the locker room.

Hummel picked up his fourth foul of the game with 20 seconds left in the third quarter and had to play cautiously for the rest of the contest.

Abraham was the game's high-scorer with 19 points, with eight of those coming in the important fourth quarter.

Guard Earl Wilson had the hot hands for Ganesha, as he poured in eight points in the first eight minutes—most of the shots coming from the 20 to 25 foot range.

Cal Poly subs rip Purdue (Calumet)

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

POMONA — There is no such thing as a second unit at Cal Poly.

Basketball coach Don Hogan doesn't like that term.

So the benchwarmers of Hogan's Heroes had their night Saturday in igniting the Broncos to an easy 90-59 romp over out-manned Purdue (Calumet campus).

Hogan wasn't delighted with the play of his starting unit as Purdue took a 14-13 lead with 10:53 remaining in the first half.

"You could say that, "the Bronco mentor grinned.

Deciding something had to be done, Hogan inserted a new team. In the next 20 minutes, the revitalized Broncs outscored the touring Pipers by a 65-23 margin to give the home team its first big laugher of the season.

Maybe the example worked as the starters built the margin when they returned to the game. Poly broke apart a 20-20 deadlock in scoring 19 straight points for a 40-22 halftime margin. The Broncos built up a 42-point margin (86-44) before the visitors were able to cut the final difference.

"We will play the guys who want to play the most," Hogan said. "The guys came off the bench and did a tremendous job for us. They did everything we have been working on in our recent practices. We don't have a second unit."

Arlis Garner, a junior from Ontario High, started the big rally when he scored nine consecutive points for a season-high 13.

It was guard Bill Bunkér's turn in the second half when he sank seven field goals in a six-minute stretch for a game high of 18 points.

John Carrillo (16), Malcolm Kennedy (12) and Art Williams (12) also scored in double figures for Poly. Showing the team's depth, Lee Roy Williams and Horace Aubrey, the season's top scorers, only tallied five and four respectively.

Poly shot 55 per cent from the floor, making 42 of 76 from the floor, while Purdue was held to 39 per cent (23 of 59). The Broncos were red hot in the second half with 65 per cent (24 of 37). Bunker made nine of 11 while Carrillo hit on eight of 11.

Hogan's team also enjoyed a 37-29 rebounding edge with Art Williams leading the way with seven. Alphonso Adair contributed four assists.

Tony Brown led the Indiana visitors with 14 points followed by center Vern Mikalowski with 13 and Mike Waisnora 12. The young Pipers start four freshmen and one sophomore.

Poly, 4-6, resumes play next weekend at Kellogg Gym when Occidental and Cal State Los Angeles come to town Friday and Saturday nights.

Trojans claim tourney title

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Tenth-ranked Southern California overcame a brief second half lapse and, behind the scoring of Gus Williams and three Trojan teammates in double figures, routed Oral Roberts 96-75 Saturday night to win the 38th annual All-College Basketball Tournament.

Houston, paced by the 25 points scored by Louis Dunbar, downed Rutgers 95-84 to win third place in the tournament and Lacy Lanier hit 26 points to lead Oklahoma City to a 76-66 victory over Weber State for fifth place.

Williams, named to the second team all-tournament squad, scored 20 points in pacing the Trojans to the championship. Clint Chapman added 15 for the winners, Dan Anderson had 13 and Biff Burrell added 11.

Al Boswell scored 20 for the Titans, Sam McCants had 16 and Eddie Woods and Wayne Fox both scored 12.

Bucks will have blood in their eyes

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Lynn Swann expects Woody Hayes and his Ohio State Buckeyes to be breathing fire this time.

"They'll have revenge in their hearts and blood in their eyes," said University of Southern California's All-America wide receiver.

"I think we have an excellent chance but they have the revenge factor on their side and they're a much improved football team from a year ago."

In the 1972 Rose Bowl, USC smashed the Big Ten Buckeyes 42-17. However, Ohio State is favored in the '73 rematch at Pasadena, Calif.

Swann will go into the sixth Trojans Rose Bowl appearance in eight years with 91 career catches, a figure that matches Rod Sherman's USC record.

Related story, C-4

Although he has made 37 receptions for an 18-yard average per catch and six touchdowns, Swann knows he may be a marked man on New Year's Day.

"Woody Hayes is a very good coach and I would tend to think he's looking to stop a few of the things we do best," said the gifted flanker from Foster City, Calif. "The Rose Bowl game won't be the easiest day in the world for me."

To get to Pasadena, USC had to beat UCLA. The Trojans did 23-13, giving them a 9-1-1 record.

"That was our best game and it helps our confidence to know that we were late in blooming," said USC quarterback Pat Haden's favorite target.

John McKay, the Trojans' 14 year head coach, calls Swann "the most outstanding receiver I've ever had."

"If you don't tackle him immediately," added McKay, "you don't have much chance to get him before he's in the end zone. He's a fanastic athlete who can make fantastic catches and then make fantastic runs."

Hayes better beware. The 6 foot, 180-pound senior also ran 14 reverses and counters this season for 99 yards—a 7.1 average.

Swann was a self-proclaimed candidate for the Heisman Trophy but finished 12th in the voting for the award won by Penn State's John Cappellettti.

"I'm really not disappointed," he remarked. "If you can't win it, it doesn't matter where you finish in the voting. Second or 12th it's all the same."

Warriors win shooting match with Lakers despite Gail's 37

OAKLAND (UPI) — Rick Barry scored 14 points in the final period and Cazzie Russell sank the winning free throws with three seconds remaining Saturday night to boost the Golden State Warriors to a 102-100 NBA victory over the Los Angeles Lakers.

The win snapped a seven-game losing streak for the Warriors, lifting them to within one game of first-place Los Angeles in the Pacific Division.

It was a shooting match between Barry and the Lakers' Gail Goodrich down the stretch, with Goodrich scoring 19 points in the final period for a game high 37.

But after Russell placed the Warriors ahead to stay 98-96 on a jump shot with 22 seconds left, Goodrich missed two free throws. Barry came back with two Warriors' free throws for a four-point lead at with 11 seconds to play.

Goodrich countered with a pair of free throws one second later.

Lakers' guard Jim Price concluded the scoring with a desperation field goal at the buzzer.

Russell topped the Warriors with 29 points and Barry added 24. Golden State center Nate Thurmond grabbed a season-high 29 rebounds.

Cowboy-Viking clash case of easy arithmetic

DALLAS (UPI) — The NFC title match between the Minnesota Vikings and the Dallas Cowboys today boils down to a case of simple arithmetic.

Since the two clubs last met in 1971, the Vikings have added Fran Tarkenton and the Cowboys have subtracted Calvin Hill and Duane Thomas.

That's why the Vikings are a one-point favorite over Dallas in this battle for a Super Bowl berth even though the Cowboys have the home field edge on the artificial turf of Texas Stadium.

Minnesota had the home field advantage when the clubs last met in the first round of the 1971 playoffs but Dallas still recorded a 20-12 victory.

However, there's been a change in the cast of characters in some key positions since that game.

For example, the Cowboys started Duane Thomas at a running back slot and the Vikings started Bob Lee at quarterback. This time, it'll be Bob Newhouse for the Cowboys at a running back post and Fran Tarkenton for the Vikes at quarterback. Advantage Vikings.

Calvin Hill once compared the Cowboys to a mighty river. He said, "You can scoop a pail or two out of it and it still keeps rolling along."

Over the years, the Cowboys have scooped out guys like Don Meredith, Duane Thomas and Lance Rentzel and they've managed to roll along to the playoffs for the eighth straight season.

But last Sunday, they found themselves scooping out Hill when he suffered an elbow injury on a freak play in the fourth period of the triumph over the Los Angeles Rams.

With Hill in the lineup, the Cowboys hadn't really missed the moody Thomas, who was dispatched to San Diego two years ago. Hill was the NFC's No. 2 rusher with 1,142 yards this season.

With Hill out, the Cowboys will have to count on Newhouse, a second year man who rushed for only 436 yards this season.

Coach Tom Landry tried to be impassive, as usual, about the loss of Hill.

"Newhouse and Hill can run the same plays," he says, "and our defense can still play defense and Roger Staubach can still throw the footalll."

But Landry knows that Newhouse is unlikely to run as well as Hill would —and he knows that you need an effective running game to beat the Vikings.

If you don't "establish your running game"—to use one of the favorite cliches in pro football these days—the Vikings can unleash their defensive line led by Alan Page and Carl Eller.

If Page and Eller and their friends don't have to hesitate for the run, they can concentrate on getting the passer and that could mean Roger Staubach will find himself running for his life.

It would also put more of a burden on John Niland and Rayfield Wright, the two offensive linemen who did such an excellent job against Page and Eller the last time the teams met.

Dolphins favored to overcome Raider nemesis

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders, who sidetracked history once this season, try again today with the American Football Conference title and a Super Bowl berth on the line this time as they face the world champion Miami Dolphins.

The Dolphins met Oakland with a record 18-game winning streak on Sept. 23 and saw it disappear when the Raiders turned in a superb defensive effort to win, 12-7.

Now the Dolphins have another shot at entering the history books and only the Raiders stand in the way. Miami, with a victory today, would become the first team ever to appear in three Super Bowls and the first to win three consecutive AFC titles.

Miami, which won the AFC East championship with a 12-2 record and then eliminated Central champion Cincinnati, 34-16, last week, is a seven-point favorite over the Raiders, the Western titlist with a 9-4-1 mark. Oakland ousted wildcard entry Pittsburgh, 33-14, last week to qualify for the final.

The winner plays the winner of Sunday's Dallas-Minnesota National Conference title game in the Super Bowl in Houston on Jan. 13.

Today's game will be played under sudden death in the event of a tie, with the first team scoring in overtime taking the title. Each member of the winning team will receive $8,500, while the losers each get $5,500. A sellout crowd of 80,010 will watch the game.

Both clubs enter the game relatively injury-free. Tight end Jim Mandich has a broken bone in his hand, but has been listed as probable by the Dolphins along with star defensive tackle Manny Fernandez, who missed last week's playoff game with a torn thigh muscle.

Phil Villapiano, Oakland's star linebacker, will play despite a twisted ankle and Bob Brown will see duty at offensive tackle.

The Raiders won the first meeting this season by shutting off wide receiver Paul Warfield and then controlling Miami's rushing game. Bob Griese, the Miami quarterback, who admits the Dolphins played poorly in their loss to Oakland, feels Sunday will be a different story.

"I don't think that first game will have much bearing on this one," Griese said. "Their defense played very well in that game and they shut out Paul. But one of the big reasons we lost was that we had poor field position all day. Ray Guy kept us backed up in our end of the field with his punting and they forced us into a lot of situations where they knew we had to throw and could double-cover Paul."

Griese, as emotionless a quarterback as there is in the NFL, said playoff pressure helped him prepare better.

"My concentration is better for the playoffs," he said. "It means so much more. You can lose a game during the regular season and still win your division. But this is one-game elimination. I find I don't have to read things more than once. It sticks right away."

Kenny Stabler, the Oakland quarterback, was cautious entering the game.

"I'm sure the Dolphins will remember us like we remembered Pittsburgh," said Stabler, referring to the Steelers' three straight upsets of Oakland. "Other than that, it's hard for me to say anything about it because I haven't played against them before. Right now, every game we play is a week-to-week thing and different."

Daryle Lamonica was the Oakland quarterback when the Raiders beat Miami.

Both teams match up well. The Dolphins have a solid fullback in Larry Csonka, a speedy outside threat in Mercury Morris and an all-purpose back in Jim Kiick. Warfield and Marlin Briscoe are exceptional receivers and the offensive line, led by Larry Little and Jim Langer, is the equal of any.

Oakland's heavy-duty running is handled by Marv Hubbard, while Clarence Davis is the speedster and Charlie Smith the do-everything back. Fred Biletnikoff and Mike Siani both are dangerous receivers, while Gene Upshaw and Art Shell both won honors for their offensive line play.

Defensively, Fernandez and end Bill Stanfill are the stickouts for Miami on the line and Nick Buoniconti is the top linebacker. Safeties Dick Anderson and Jake Scott could well be the best in the game. 5

Tony Cline and Art Thoms head the Oakland defensive line and Dan Conners, a 10-year veteran, is having one of his best seasons at linebacker. Safeties Jack Tatum and George Atkinson key the secondary.

Miami has a 23-game winning streak at the Orange Bowl, but has beaten Oakland only once in eight tries.

The key match-ups should involve Warfield against Willie Brown, the Raiders' stellar corner back, and Oakland's Biletnikoff against Lloyd Mumphord, who again will replace injured Tim Foley at left corner back. Foley has missed more than a month with a separated shoulder.

PGA tabs Beman new commissioner

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Professional Golfers Association has gained a commissioner and Deane Beman's five children have gained a father.

Beman, a tour regular, was named Saturday to replace Joseph C. Dey, Jr., who is retiring in February, as commissioner of the PGA's Tournament Players Division.

Consequently, Beman is retiring from tournament competition to devote full time to his new post.

"My kids are all very happy," Beman said from his Bethesda, Md., home. "The prospect of me being home seems to interest them. They think they might have a father now."

The 35-year-old tour veteran has won $369,347 since turning professional in 1967, but previously has said the toughest part of the PGA tour is the extended absences from his wife Miriam and their five children.

Despite three operations in the past six years, the fiercely competitive Beman has always battled determinedly to rejoin the tour, much as he has missed his family.

"I don't turn my back on it (the tour) with anything but the greatest memories," said Beman. "I was asked some months ago if I would consider becoming commissioner. It took me several months to decide. But, after a lot of consideration, I decided it was the opportunity of a lifetime. I can contribute more as commissioner than I ever could as a competitor.

"The job of commissioner requires a great deal of travel, but I will get to see my family more than I have in the past. That was certainly part of my consideration and weighed heavily on my decision."

Beman's term is for three years with the TPD holding an option to renew for at least three more years. The selection of Beman was made by the TPD Policy Board, of which Beman had been a member until just prior to the selection procedure.

"I am fortunate I am coming in at a time when things are well-organized and running quite well," said Beman. "My immediate problems are to familiarize myself with our operation."

Beman won five tournaments as a professional, but his greatest success came as an amateur.

He was a teenage sensation in 1953 when, as 15-year old standing only 5-7 and weighing less than 120 pounds, Beman won the Mid-Atlantic Junior Amateur tournament and was playing exhibitions with Ben Hogan and Sam Snead.

At age 17, Beman became one of the youngest players ever to qualify for the United States Open.

Mounties, Chaffey win tourney titles

Freshman forward Gary Melugin scored 16 of his 21 points in the second half Saturday night to lead surprising Mt. San Antonio College to a 57-48 victory over DeAnza for the championship of the Hancock Tourney at Santa Maria.

Melugin and sophomore forward Carl Williamson broke the game open in final 20 minutes. Williamson scored 10 of his 12 points in the span and pulled down 10 rebounds to lead the Mounties in that department.

Melugin, a 6-foot-6 product of Ganesha High, was named the tournament's most valuable player and center Gary Nash was voted to the all-tourney team. Nash added 10 points and eight rebounds in the victory.

It was MSAC's fourth victory in a row, boosting its record to 6-9 for the season going into Wednesday's 8 p.m. game at Long Beach City College.

Elsewhere Saturday, Chaffey College claimed the championship of the San Joaquin Delta Tournament at Stocketon with a 64-59 victory over San Francisco City.

Chaffey fell behind 20-4 in the first 12 minutes of the game but battled back to beat SFCC. Bob Kovach continued his fine tourney form, as he canned 27 points to lead all individual scorers.

But it was guard Pierre Rankin who led the Panther charge in the second half which beat a tough San Francisco squad. Rankin receipted for 17 of his 19 points in the pressure-packed second stanza.

It marked the first time the Panthers had won the Stockton-based tourney. Chaffey now stands at 8-5 on the season and will begin Mission Conference play next week. The Panthers will play Southwestern Jan. 4 at Southwestern.

Cougars win tourney, Leos lose at Chico

LaVerne met with defeat in the Chico Invitational Tourney while Azusa-Pacific won the Stanislaus St. Tourney in Saturday's basketball action involving local colleges.

LaVerne dropped its third straight game in the Chico Tourney, losing to Central Washington by a 80-76 count, in the seventh place game. LaVerne and Central were tied at the half 29-29 but the Washington school pulled away in the second half.

Chuck Davis led Leo scoring with 19 points, while Ken Lipkin tossed in 18. Ned Gilmore hit for 17 for Central Washington.

Azusa-Pacific won the Stanislaus St. Tourney with a 80-61 victory over the host school. Biggest story for the Cougars was the fine play of guard Reed and forward Dennis Vanzant. The two almost outscored Stanislaus between them, accounting for 60 of the Cougars' 80 points.

Reeds, with 32 markers Saturday, clinched the Most Valuable Player tourney award, while Vanzant was placed on the All-Tourney Azusa-Pacific now has a 8-2 record on the season.

St. Margaret's plays for title

LA VERNE — St. Margaret's of Chino continued to roll in the Our Lady of Assumption Grade School Basketball Tourney Saturday, as they posted a 30-18 win over St. Luke's of Temple City.

Holy Name of Mary from San Dimas beat St. George of Ontario 21-20 in the other championship bracket game played Saturday. Holy Name and St. Margaret's will meet at 7 p.m. tonight for the title.

In consolation games, Sacred Heart of Pomona beat St. Madeliene's of Pomona 37-21, and St. Louis of France (La Puente) downed host school Our Lady of Assumption 24-17.

Games will be played starting at 3:15 p.m. today at the Damien High gym.

S. Torrance, Chino score soccer wins

By TOM FAHEY
P-B Correspondent

LA VERNE — The Damien High School Invitational Soccer Tournament came to a close Saturday night with South Torrance claiming the championship over San Gabriel 3-1.

In the other games played earlier in the day, Ganesha fell to the San Gabriel J.V.'s 2-1 in overtime, Chino took third place by defeating Nogales 2-0, and Damien secured fifth place with a 5-0 trouncing of Pasadena.

Chino scored both of their goals in the second half, after a rather offensive first half. The Cowboys claimed the lead three minutes into the second half, on a goal by Miguel Katala.

Chino took the 2-0 lead on Martin Pimentel's goal after a fine pass from Edwin Marquez.

Damien totally dominated their contest with Pasadena, and easily won 5-0, improving their record to 9-1.

Forwards Bart Sullivan and Rick Davis led the Spartan attack with three and two goals respectively.

The Damien Defense, led by John Evans, continually stopped Pasadena from generating any offense.

Ganesha fell short of San Gabriel J.V.'s 2-1, despite a goal by Dave Segura from 30 yards.

The game was tied 1-1 after regulation time, and San Gabriel went on to score the deciding goal after seven minutes.

Chino surprised a lot of people in the tournament, especially Damien who they defeated 3-2. The two goals were the only goals Damien has allowed this year, and put a halt to the Spartan win streak.

Mizzou crushes Auburn, 34-17

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — Speedy senior John Moseley returned a kickoff 84 yards for a touchdown and an opportunistic Missouri defense turned three Auburn fumbles into scores Saturday to lead Missouri to a 34-17 Sun Bowl victory.

Moseley, who led the Big Eight in punt returns and kickoff returns this season, broke Auburn's back with his scoring jaunt as time ran out in the first half.

Before Moseley broke it open, Auburn had cut a 21-3 deficit to 11 points on a 17-yard pass from freshman quarterback Phil Gargis to junior Thomas Gossom with eight seconds left in the half.

Missouri quarterback Ray Smith threw touchdown passes of two yards to John Kelsey and 15 yards to Jim Sharp and halfback Ray Bybee also scored on a two-yard plunge. Missouri's first score came on a 35-yard halfback option pass, Chuck Link to Kelsey.

Auburn, which saw its running game stymied all afternoon by the tenacious Missouri defense, got its other touchdown on a 32-yard pass also Gargis to Gossom. The opening score of the game came on a 35-yard field by Auburn's Roger Pruett.

Pruett's field goal capped a seven-play drive which was kept alive by a pass interference penalty against Missouri at their own 39 yard line. The drive started after Missouri's Kelsey fumbled at the Auburn 49 and end Rusty Dean recovered.

Missouri struck back twice within a minute as its defense converted the first two Auburn fumbles into touchdowns.

Missouri linebacker Lynn Evans recovered a fumble at the Auburn 35 and on the next play Link hit Kelsey with the halfback toss. Kelsey took the pass at the 10 and the big tight end bulled over the final defender to slide into the end zone at 10:14 of the second period.

Greg Hill kicked the first of four extra points to give Missouri the lead it never relinquished.

Auburn turned the ball over again less than a minute later as starting quarterback Wade Whatley fumbled a pitchout and Missouri's Bob McRoberts recovered at the Auburn 24. Three plays later Bybee scored with 9:16 left in the half.

Bybee led the Missouri attack with 127 yards on 28 carries while halfback Tommy Reamon picked up 110 yards on 23 carries.

Missouri's power "I" offense picked up 295 yards on the ground and added 95 more through the air.

Auburn, which ranked last in the Southeast Conference this season in total offense, managed just 113 yards rushing and finished with 233 total yards.

Barnes leads Red Raiders to Gator win

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Texas Tech quarterback Joe Barnes passed for two touchdowns, one a 79-yard bomb to Lawrence Williams, and scored another himself to lead the Red Raiders to a 28-19 Gator Bowl victory Saturday night over the Tennessee Vols.

Barnes, a senior who led the Raiders to a 10-1 regular season, ran and passed for 231 yards.

His touchdown run, a six yard keeper, climaxed a 57 yard drive with 4:56 left in the first period. His long touchdown pass to Williams, which found the Texas Tech receiver wide open at the Tennessee 35, came with 5:16 elapsed in the second period and gave the Raiders a 14-0 lead.

Barnes' other touchdown pass, a seven-yard strike to tight end Andre Tillman, came with 2:26 left in the third period after Tennessee had cut the margin to 14-10.

Tennessee had closed the margin to 21-19 early in the final period and had a chance to go ahead late in the period but Ricky Townsend, who kicked two field goals earlier, missed a 32-yard attempt with 3:36 left to play. The Raiders quickly iced the game when fullback James Mosley ripped off a Gator Bowl record 70-yard run

East stuns West in Shrine game

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) Barty Smith of Richmond cracked over for two touchdowns and Gary Marangi of Boston College passed for two more scores Saturday as the underdog East overwhelmed the West, 35-7, in the 49th annual Shrine football classic.

Smith ran for 65 yards in the first half when the East built a 21-7 lead and never was seriously threatened. His touchdown runs covered two and one yards and won him the William Coffman Trophy as the game's outstanding offensive player by one vote over quarterback Norris Weese of Mississippi.

Weese, who prefers running with the ball, gained more than 70 yards on the ground and scored a touchdown on a one-yard sneak. Marangi, a quarterback who prefers to throw, connected on a five-yard toss to Don Clune of Pennsylvania for one touchdown and 32 yards to Paul Seal of Michigan for another TD.

James McAlister of UCLA ran one yard on the last play of the first half for the West's lone score. Bill Sandifer, McAlister's UCLA teammate, had 12 unassisted tackles and recovered a fumble to win the Jack Spaulding Trophy as the game's outstanding defensive player.

The game was one sided from start to finish as the East, led by the running of Smith, Weese and Charley Young of North Carolina State, piled up 230 yards rushing and Marangi and Weese, with an assist from Smith on three option attempts, picked up 128 yards passing.

The West, favored by 6 ½ poits, managed only 35 yards rushing and 107 passing. All-America David Jaynes of Kasas, Mike Boryla of Stanford and Danny White of Arizona State alternated at quarterback for the West and between them managed only 107 yards passing.

Playing a big part in the East victory was the defensive work of James McCollum of Kentucky, Dave Gallagher of Michigan, Ed Jones of Tennessee State and Carl Barzilauskas of Indiaa. The four shut off the West running game and forced Jaynes, Boryla and White to throw on the run.

Two of the East scores came on West mistakes by Boryla. Defensive back Terry Schmidt of Ball State intercepted a pass by the Stanford senior to set up the East third score and McCollum recovered a Boryla fumble to set up the fourth East TD.

Stanton takes big lead in Confidence

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI) — Australian Bob Stanton grabbed a commanding seven-stroke lead Saturday when he shot a course record 64 at Laguna Seca to lead the field with a 15-under-par 199 at the end of three rounds of the Confidence Open.

Stanton opened the tournament Thursday by breaking the course record with a 65 at Laguna Seca and then bettered his own mark Saturday, despite playing the first nine in a heavy rain. He had eight birdies and a bogey.

Despite shooting an even-par 71, Dick Lotz of Hayward, Calif., who had shared the halfway lead with Stanton, slipped seven strokes behind the Aussie.

Tour regulars Rod Funseth and Orville Moody were in at 208 and 209, respectively.

In another record-breaking effort, young Roger Maltlie, former San Jose State star who turned pro two years ago, had 10 birdies and a single bogey as he shot a 63 for a new course mark at Corral de Tierra. It put him in a tie for fifth with defending champion Ray Botts.

The shot of the day came on the 110-yard 17th hole at Laguna Seca when amateur Harry Coolidge of Santa Cruz dropped a sand-wedge shot for a hole-in-one.

Houston rolls by hapless Tulane

HOUSTON (UPI) — D. C. Nobles scored once and set up two more touchdowns with his precision passing Saturday to lead 13th-ranked Houston to a 47-7 win over outclassed Tulane in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl.

Nobles rolled up 201 yards passing and scored on a two-yard sprint in the third quarter set up by a stunning 61-yard pass to favorite receiver Bryan Willingham.

Bullish Leonard Parker scored on plunges of one and three yards and fleet Donnie "Quick Draw" McGraw scored on runs of one and 32 yards. Marshall Johnson, a third-team back until the final week of practice, rambled 75 yards for a touchdown on the third play of the game.

Reserve quarterback David Hussmann reversed his field and scored on a seven-yard run with 6:53 left for the Cougars' final touchdown. Ricky Terrell hit five of seven conversions.

Houston, ranked fourth in total offense nationally, rolled up an Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl record of 656 yards total offense.

Houston held a 21-0 lead late in the first half and appeared to be on the way to a rout with Parker's second touchdown. Martin Mitchell scooped up the following kickoff and raced 66 yards for Tulane. Reserve quarterback Buddy Gilbert then lofted a 32-yard touchdown pass to Tom Fortner for the Green Wave's only points.

Nobles broke open the game early in the third quarter. Houston was on its three-yard line and on first down Nobles faded back and fired the 61-yard pass to Willingham. McGraw bulled for 18 and then carried four men with him on a fake to spring Nobles on his two-yard scoring run.

Houston led 28-7. On the kickoff Mitchell fumbled and Roger Mayes recovered at the Tulane 20. Four plays later junior McGraw burst across from the one.

At 13:41 of the final quarter the high-stepping McGraw nearly lost his balance before rushing 32 yards on a draw play to score his second touchdown.

Houston lost five fumbles but Tulane, 9-2, was never able to cash them in. Field goal attempts of 50 and 47 yards by David Falgoust fell short.

Nobles was named the game's outstanding back. Middle linebacker Deryl McGallion won the outstanding lineman award.

Houston rolled up 402 yards rushing, led by Johnson with 114 and McGraw's 108. The win gave Houston a 4-1 bowl record and an 11-1 season record.

Ryan, Turf Club leader, to retire

ARCADIA — Fred H. Ryan, since 1971 the President of Los Angeles Turf Club, operator of Santa Anita Park, and one of Thoroughbred racing's most capable and respected executives, will retire from his position at the conclusion of the 1973-74 season.

The announcement was made by Robert P. Strub, chairman of the board of Los Angeles Turf Club and President of Santa Anita Consolidated, parent company of L.A.T.C.

"The success of Santa Anita Park in the past 15 years reflects the fine leadership of Fred Ryan, who now has reached retirement age," stated Strub.

Bear season closes soon

LONG BEACH — The Department of Fish and Game reminded hunters today that the bear season will close Tuesday, Jan. 1. The season opened Oct. 13.

This year's take is expected to be significantly greater than the 626 bears harvested last year.

As of Dec. 10, the DFG said, the harvest was running well ahead of that for 1971. The take through that date this year was 685 compared to 558 on the same date last year. The state's bear population appears to be in good shape, the DFG said.

The DFG also noted that hunting pressure is up markedly from the level last year. Through November this year, 19,456 tags had been sold. The comparable figures for 1972 and 1971 were 15,283 and 14,833, respectively.

Buckeyes 'best bowl' favorites

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Ohio State's Buckeyes, beaten badly a year ago by Southern California, are rated as slight favorites to defeat the Trojans on New Year's Day and end a string of four straight Pacific-8 victories in the Rose Bowl.

The oddsmakers have listed Ohio State as a 1½-point choice in the granddaddy of all bowl games.

Despite the Sugar Bowl encounter of national champion Alabama and Notre Dame, both undefeated, Buckeyes' Coach Woody Hayes says simply, "The Rose Bowl will be the best of all the bowl games."

He may have a point. Based on the records, it should be close. Ohio State is 9-0-1 while Southern Cal, which won the national championship a year ago and whipped the Buckeyes 42-17 in the Rose Bowl, has a 91-1 mark.

After the 10-10 tie between Ohio State and Michigan Nov. 24, the Big Ten athletic directors voted to send who they thought was the best team —the Buckeyes.

Until the deadlock, Ohio State had been the No. 1 team in the nation.

Once virtually invincible against West Coast representatives, the Big Ten hasn't won here since 1969 when Ohio State, then the national champion, beat USC and O.J. Simpson 27-16.

The Trojans defeated Michigan 10-3 in the 1970 game and Stanford followed with a 27-17 win over Ohio State in '71 and a 13-12 decision over Michigan in '72.

USC isn't the same club it was last season but it did play Oklahoma to a 7-7 tie and beat UCLA 23-13 in the Pac-8 decider for the Rose Bowl.

Like UCLA, Ohio State disdains the pass, throwing for only 474 yards this season. The Trojans were able to stop the run-conscious Bruins wishbone and they think they'll be able to keep the Buckeyes in check too.

On the other hand, the Buckeyes may be more motivated than the Trojans because of last season's drubbing and the string of four straight Big Ten defeats.

Although Hayes dismisses the "revenge" or "must" win premises, he does say:

"It would be prestigious for us if we went ahead and won this one. It's a prestigious game and, naturally, we'd like to win it."

John McKay, the USC coach who will be in the Rose Bowl for a record seventh time and sixth in eight years, says, "Revenge usually goes to the team with the fastest players."

Having made his sixth trip from the Midwest to Pasadena, the 59-year-old Hayes thinks this could be Ohio State's best team.

"Right now, I'd say my 1954 and 1968 teams were the best because they were unbeaten," he noted. "But in our opener (a 56-7 romp over Minnesota) this year, this team played as well as any I've ever seen. Ask me after we play USC if this was our best team and I'll let you know then."

While the Buckeyes rely mainly on the running of All-America sophomore tailback Archie Griffin, who has rushed for 1,428 yards this season, the Trojans have a diversified attack. It features the one-two tailback punch of Anthony Davis and Rod McNeill on the ground and the passing combination of Pat Haden and All-America flanker Lynn Swann, a senior. Haden, a junior, has passed for 1,603 yards and 13 TDs this year while Davis has rushed for 1,038 yards and 13 scores.

Forum will show rematch

INGLEWOOD — The Joe Frazier-Muhammad Ali rematch, set for Monday, January 28, in Madison Square Garden, has been scheduled for 12 rounds.

Their initial meeting, March 8, 1971, went the full 15 rounds with Frazier retaining his heavyweight title on a decision.

The Forum in Inglewood will show Frazier-Ali in color via closed circuit television direct from the Garden in New York City.

Crosby pro-am opens PGA tour

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The $215,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am, one of the glamour events of the year, helps kick off another $8 million PGA tour this week with Jack Nicklaus and the usual flock of pro stars and celebrities on hand to battle the weather as well as three of the world's toughest courses.

It seems like only yesterday that Nicklaus was picking up the winner's check in the Walt Disney to become the first man in PGA history to win more than $300,000 in a single year. It was really a month ago and after time out for the holidays and his family in Florida, Jack comes west to help launch the 1974 tour as Crosby defending champion.

Being the 1973 winner, Nicklaus is obligated to play in the Crosby but he'd probably be here anyway. While Jack likes to pick and choose his way through the PGA calendar, the Crosby is one event he never misses. That's because of his affection for Bing and the chance to play Pebble Beach, one of his all-time favorite layouts.

"I know it's a little early in the year, especially this year," said Nicklaus of the Crosby, "but it's an opportunity to play Pebble Beach and I wouldn't miss that under any circumstances.

"Sure, the weather is usually bad in January on the Monterey Peninsula, but the tournament is such a fun event it's hard not to play in it. Also, I've had my share of success."

Nicklaus has won the Crosby three times since he vaulted to national prominence by winning the U.S. Amateur on the Pebble Beach seaside links. He also won the U.S. Open on the same layout two years ago.

John Miller, winner of the 1973 Open, will be in the Crosby field as well as nearly every man in the first 20 on the 1973 money list. Even Gary Player, who usually doesn't start his American campaign until a week or so before the Masters in April, is coming out for his first Crosby ever. Player had his share of physical problems in 1973 and finished 63rd on the money list. That's three spots below the exempt list.

Lee Trevino will make a rare Crosby start this time. He doesn't care for the weather here or the three courses they use in the event. Besides Pebble Beach, play in the first three days will also be over Spyglass Hill and Cypress Point.

Of the three courses—all of which play to par 72—Pebble is the most demanding, although in bad weather, for which the Crosby is famous, Spyglass Hill can be a nightmare. Cypress Point is the prettiest of the three courses and can either be easy or tough, depending on the weather at teeoff time.

In all, there will be 168 pros and 168 amateurs in the field. The amateur field is made up of show business and sports stars, many of them with handicaps of 10 or less. The format calls for each pro to pair off with an amateur and play one round on each of the three courses. The cut then is made to the low 70 and ties for the final round, which will be played at Pebble Beach. Portions of Saturday's and Sunday's rounds will be televised nationally with Bing sitting in as colorman.

Nicklaus wound up 1973 with $308,362 in official earnings for seven victories in 18 events. He plans a similar schedule for 1974. Bruce Crampton, Tom Weiskopf, Trevino, Lanny Wadkins, Miller Barber, Hale Irwin, Billy Casper, Miller and John Schlee completed the first 10 this year. All will play in the Crosby.

Such other sentimental favorites as Arnold Palmer, Gene Littler and Chi Chi Rodriguez and Ben Crenshaw, the Texas collegiate star who blossomed in a hurry last Fall, also are in the field.

The Los Angeles Open traditionally kicks off the new golfing year but for 1974 the L.A. Open will close the Winter Tour, switching dates with the Crosby, which had accommodations problems for the scheduled Feb. 14-17 slot.

From Pebble the Tour goes to Phoenix, Tucson, San Diego, Hawaii, Palm Springs and then Los Angeles before moving to Florida for the $260,000 Jackie Gleason Inverrary Classic Feb. 21-24.

The new year brings innovation as well as hope on the Tour. A few weeks ago, PGA Commissioner Joe Dey announced a new plan of "designated tournaments" for 1974 in which certain leading pros will be obligated to compete.

The number of such tourneys will not exceed 10 in one year and will be put in effect gradually. Only two or three of the designated tournaments will be employed in 1974 and more in subsequent years as first-class courses are available.

These tourneys will be scheduled only on outstanding courses, with not more than two held on consecutive weeks. They will not be scheduled immediately before any of the "Big Four" events—the U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and the Masters.

Rod Funseth, the longshot winner of the 1973 Glen Campbell L. A. Open Golf Tournament, will defend his championship Feb. 14-17 at Riviera Country Club in Pacific Palisades.

Funseth achieved the greatest moment of his career when he beat the finest field in the long history of the tournament last January. Golf greats playing included Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Lee Trevino and Tom Weiskopf.

Funseth's winning score of 276, eight under par for Riviera's tough 7,000 yards, was only one shot off the course record of 275 held by Ben Hogan.

The L. A. Open will be the final event on the Western Golf swing this winter. It is expected to attract its usual lineup of top golfers.

THE TEAM of Jim Diemer, Jack McIntyre, Bob Moliana, Milton Thorton and a well-known name in golf, Al Geiberger, combined for a 58 to win the second annual Maury Wills Open Tournament at Via Verde recently.

The scramble tourney, due to the large turnout, was contested by five-man teams and also by foursomes.

Coming in second in the event was the team of Rod Dedeaux, Larry Organ, Bud Daley, Fred Claire and Frank Alexander. Third-place finishers were Chet Mitchell, Tom Johnston, Glen Wood and Ray Mitchell.

The team of Bob Wilson, Otto Tronowsky, Kenny Young and John Nichols finished fourth.

A number of celebrities were on hand to pay tribute to Wills, including singers Johnny Mathis, Glen Campbell and MacDavis; actors Ed Nelson, Percy Rodriguez and Billy Barty; and a host of major league baseball players.

At the banquet following the tourney, Wills presented the inaugural "Maury Wills Award" to Dodger infielder Davey Lopes, voted by his teammates as the Dodger demonstrating the most hustle and spirit, Wills' trademarks, during the past season.

THE ST. LOUIS Cardinals, The Chicago Bears and the Miami Dolphins benefit from the services of Don Anderson, Mac Percival and Doug Swift, respectively. But how do a running back, placekicker and a linebacker figure to do on a Las Vegas golf course?

The answer will become clear a couple days after the Super Bowl when they, and 47 other other NFL players visit Las Vegas for the Frontier Hotel's first Professional Football Players Pro-Am Invitational Golf Tournament. ment.

The fifty NFL players will be joined by 150 amateurs for four days of golf, awards and entertainment.

VIA VERDE Country Club pro Jimmy Powell is one of five Southern California club professionals earning exemptions in the seventh annual Andy Williams San Diego Open Golf Tournament Jan. 24-27 at Torrey Pines.

Manager Preston Gomez guest at baseball fete

Preston Gomez, new manager of the Houston Astros, will be a featured guest at the dais the evening of Thursday, Feb. 21, when the Los Angeles-Anaheim Chapter, Baseball Writers' Association of America hold the 17th annual Awards Dinner at the Disneyland Hotel Grand Ballroom.

One of the more respected figures in baseball, Gomez formerly was on the Los Angeles Dodgers coaching staff. When Leo Durocher became ill late in the 1973 season, Gomez, who was an Astros coach, ran the team. Then when Durocher resigned at the end of the campaign Gomez was named the official Houston skipper.

The fete honors members of the California Angels and Dodgers and is highlighted by the Civic Award to a prominent Los Angeles metropolitan area or Orange County figure as well as to individual players for outstanding 1973 season performances.

Dinner tickets, priced at $25.00 per peson, are available at the writers headquarters: 1352 Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles90013; (213) 626-7686.

Arts seen wallowing in coming year

UPI Senior Editor
By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP

NEW YORK (UPI) — If the tempo and gravity of world events in 1973 set the pattern for life in 1974, the arts will undergo a serious period of reassessment, even retrenchment.

Art upstaged by life? It has happened before in history and it's happening again, as even a cursory survey of painting, sculpture, architecture, music, dance, drama and films demonstrates. Failing any strong forward motion, the arts are showing a tendency to wallow in the disciplines and subject matter of the past.

The avant-garde, which flourished to the confusion of many in the 1960s, is not dead but has lost its power to shock or titillate. Realism is re-establishing itself as a valid expression in painting and sculpture. Romanticism has become fashionable again in musical programming and even composition.

Architecture has chosen to play it safe in spite of the innovative trends of the past decade. Modern dance has absorbed many of the conventions of classic ballet. Theater drifts aimlessly on a sea of nostalgia, and the most revolutionary of current new films is a silent movie.

Dr. Jacques Barzun, a versatile scholar and president of the National Institute of Arts and Letters, believes the avent-garde confronted the public in a spirit of derision and emnity that cowed its audience, for a time, into unquestioning receptivity. But this spirit was selfdestructive, he says.

"We are living and seeing one of those great turning points in history when a whole era dissolves and disappears,' Barzun observes. "The half-millenium since the Renaissance has given all that it possessed in art. We cannot squeeze any more out of its exhausted treasury. We may expect a thorough leveling and sweeping of the ground in preparation for a new and unimaginable type of art."

Meanwhile, many schools and styles of art are learning to coexist for the delectation of their specialized audiences—a welcome return to the alternative tradition. Nothing will be accepted solely for the sake of novelty. The art scene in 1974 will be diverse and somewhat tame as it awaits Barzuns bulldozer for some sense of direction.

Art lovers are flocking to realist shows to see technically brilliant canvasses that are more life-like, harsher, and more abrasive than photographs and seem hauntingly suspended in time. Jack Beal is the newest "Old Master" of the sharp focus or hyper realistschool. Unfortunately, most of this school's sculpture is on a level with store window mannequins. Look for a plethora of exhibitions of 19th Century American art, which is being "rediscovered" as part of the U.S. Bicentennial.

For Sunday, Dec. 30

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You will need time to yourself today so you can ponder your thoughts, relax and enjoy uninterrupted solitude.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Select the company of friends who aren't too antsy today. High-strung individuals will make you feel uncomfortable tense.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be helpful toward any who seek you out at this time. You'll gain their gratitude and respect by being compassionate.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Someone's sound, philosophical reasoning will have a favorable influence upon your thinking. Later you'll use these ideas.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A kindness you have done for another will be repaid. This person will do something for you at his own expense.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This can be a most enjoyable day if you and your mate can get off alone where you can enjoy each other's company.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your greatest satisfaction will come from something you'll do for another knowing this person truly deserves your help.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're exceptionally creative today. You'll have to find something to keep mind and hands busy, else you'll be bored.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your moods will be greatly influenced by those around you. A pessimist could get you down in the dumps.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Try not to be too sensitive regarding the comments of others. You're likely to read unintended meanings into things.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're going to be a trifle lackadaisical about possession today and not take care of them properly. Later you'll wonder why they didn't last.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't let others exert too strong a negative influence on the course you've set. You must continue as you deem best.

Your Birthday, Dec. 30

This year your creativity is likely to be your biggest asset. Don't dismiss your ideas lightly. There are dollar signs hovering over them.

For Monday, Dec. 31

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It's important you finish now a project you've left dangling. Once it's out of the way your progress will accelerate greatly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A relationship of dubious value will end shortly with no hard feelings on either side. It's the best move for both of you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You've been in the spotlight regarding a matter that reflected poorly on your image. Relax. Conditions are changing for the better.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You won't be most active till later in the day. When you start to catch up, don't be too impulsive. You'll make mistakes.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll be secretive today regarding a matter you're involved in. Later, you'll realize it's not worth hiding.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A shift in conditions will spare you from making a decision you've felt uncomfortable about. Time is on your side—wait it out.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Some of your work will be left undone today. You won't feel up to putting out the effort required. Tend to important tasks.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you're planning some form of entertainment, schedule things so you can have some fun yourself and not wind up doing all the work.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) What may start out as a routine day will begin to perk up. By evening, you'll be in full swing.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It looks like things will get rather active around your house this evening. Be prepared for some drop-ins, just in case.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Mundane affairs will hold small interest for you today. Restlessness will drive you to seek more exciting situations.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be on your toes. Something is coming up that will be to your material advantage. If handled poorly it could cost you money instead.

Your Birthday, Dec. 31

You'll make a major change this year that you will find both stimulating and promising.

Science has made a bold new breakthrough. In most cases, we are able to stop burning, itching, and relieve pain. In case after case, we've proved that while gently removing itching and burning, an actual reduction in irritation took place. Those of you who suffer, need no longer worry about shame or embarrassment. One application lasts for months. Specialists help you right to the bottom of your trouble, and fix it where it's needed. Fast, courteous service at Pomona Valley Datsun on Holt in Pomona across from Zodys. There is no other formula like it. You'll end the aggravation of walking to work, and the embarrassment of being late for a date. Remember, a well tuned car is essential to your mental health.

TEN BEST

Attention, brides

The Progress-Bulletin Women's Department looks forward to printing the stories of your engagement and wedding.

Please pick up engagement and wedding forms at the newspaper office and return them with the picture you wish used.

Engagement forms are not accepted if they are received less than five weeks before the wedding, and wedding forms should be returned within two weeks after the wedding with a picture of the bride only.

Snapshots, polaroid and color pictures are not acceptable for wedding pictures, although most color photos will be accepted for engagement announcements.

St. Paul's is setting for Saturday service

St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Pomona was the setting for the marriage Saturday evening of Miss Sally Melczer of Claremont to Frank Monastiere, son of the Joseph Monastieres of Ontario.

The double-ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Warren Nybank.

For her marriage the bride, daughter of the Louis Melczers of Phoenix, Ariz., chose an A-line silk organza gown trimmed with venise lace. A matching lace cap held a three-tier French illusion veil. She carried white roses and was given in marriage by her father.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Andrew Thompson and junior bridesmaids were Beverly Lou Thompson, Kathy Thompson, Karen Derenzi and Christine Derenzi.

Domenic Monastiere of Detroit was best man for his cousin and ushers were Andrew Thompson and Ronald Derenzi.

A reception at Ebell Club followed the wedding.

The newlyweds will reside in Claremont.

Cardiologists plan seminars for patients

NEW YORK (UPI) — Seminars in the Sand, a new vacation-medical experience will get under way in St. Thomas in March. "Seminars" is under the direction of American cardiologists who will conduct the weekly programs on a year-round basis.

"Seminars" is the brainchild of Stephen J. White, a recuperated heart attack victim, who upon recovery from open-heart surgery decided he was going to do something to help others avoid early heart attack. The innovative project sets about to educate and motivate couples between the ages of 35 to 65. The title of the endeavor is "Heart-Life Seminars in the Sand.",

Ask Dr. Brothers

Teen-age shoplifter

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: Last week, our daughter was picked up for shoplifting in a local department store. Fortunately, my husband is a good friend of the owner and we were able to have all charges dropped. But this incident shocked my husband and me. We can't understand why. We have provided a good home and she has almost everything she wants. Her needs have always been met without too much resistance from anyone.

She is a gifted student and is basically a very good daughter. She and my husband have constant arguments and quarrels about the position of women in society and he feels that she's a wild extremist where women's liberation is concerned. I stay out of these discussions because I know my husband is old-fashioned and my daughter is young and militant. Apart from this special subject, our home is generally a happy place to be. We consider ourselves a typical American family — nothing very unusual and certainly not the kind of home that would foster criminals. We have raised this daughter in much the same way as we've raised our other children, yet something has obviously gone wrong. We don't know what it is. We feel guilty but we don't know what we've done wrong. — V.M.

Dear V.M.: I don't know that you should accept all the blame for what has happened to your daughter. The are many other vital forces that play a role in an adolescent's life outside the immediate family.

Adolescence is a time when follow-the-leader is the most important game. If swallowing gold fish happens to be the "in" thing, then many insecure teen-agers will have to swallow gold fish before they feel a complete sense of belonging. Unfortunately, in some groups, shoplifting has become a way of gaining acceptance and status. Most young people don't realize the risks involved and many don't think of it as stealing at all. To some, it is simply a kind of exciting and stimulating game.

A study conducted by University of Michigan educational researcher Marcella Martha Thall revealed that many adolescents currently consider shoplifting acceptable behavior. They do not consider shoplifting to be criminal or themselves as thieves. There is an increase in larcenies by young females as more aggressive and daring behavior becomes more acceptable. Some female adolescents may practice this form of delinquency to emphasize their rebellion against society or against their families.

Rather than immobilizing yourself with feelings of guilt and inadequacy it would be better to sit down and have a long talk with your daughter to try to find out what she was trying to prove by shoplifting. Naturally, the seriousness of her act should be impressed upon her and the manager of the store might help you to do this.

Shoplifting should not be taken lightly but it is still important to try to uncover the real motives behind the act.

The motives behind teenage shoplifting are usually a need for excitement, peer influence and rebellion against authority, but there may be something more in your daughter's case. She may be trying to prove to your husband that she can do all the things a son can do, even if these happen to be acts of unacceptable behavior. She may be so frustrated by your husband's restricted views of her as a female that she may be trying to embarrass and punish him.

If you could change your husband's thinking, it might help him as well as your daughter. If you reassure your daughter of your belief in her potential as a human being, and let her know that she need not be limited because of her sex, she may begin to channel her needs for expression and excitement into plans for her future.

Copeland and Rice vows are repeated

At a double-ring ceremony read by the Rev. Philip O'Carroll in Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church, Montclair, marriage vows were exchanged between Miss Frances Ann Rice and Robert Lee Copeland Jr.

For the afternoon ceremony the bride, daughter of the Peter David Rices of Montclair, chose a gown of white crepe with lace trim. Her floor-length veil accented the gown and she carried yellow roses, green jackstraws and small red straw flowers. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Judith Feneck was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Mary Mollet, Miss Nancy Rice and Miss Katherine Rice.

Best man for the son of Mrs. Dee Copeland of Montclair was William Copeland. Ushers were William Mollet, Marvin Baker and Bruce Copeland.

A reception in the Father Joseph Mackey Memorial Hall was held after the wedding ceremony.

The couple honeymooned in San Diego and will reside in Norfolk, Va.

Decanting jug wine

"DEAR MISS VANDERBILT: We serve mainly california 'jug' wines which we decant into our own carafes. Should the carafe be unstoppered before serving? Please give us some general suggestions.—Mrs. D.W., Memphis, Tenn."

Wine expert Robert Misch agrees with me that decanting a jug of wine—or even a bottle—into a carafe (as the English do with minor wines) aerates the wine very quickly. This, wine in a carafe does not have to be unstoppered. In fact, many carafes have no stoppers.

But you should pay attention to your jug at this point, for it will have a pocket of air above the wine in which the wine begins to oxidize. It is a good idea to save empty wine bottles, cleaning them out well, so that, rather than keeping a jug of wine half-filled, you can decant it into stoppered wine bottles and refrigerate it.

If you refrigerate red wine, bring it more or less to room temperature before serving. Some of the less expensive ones, however, do well slightly chilled for serving.

"DEAR MISS VANDERBILT: A boy I have been dating in college for several months has made a suggestion I find discomfiting. He would like us each to pay our own expenses on our dates on a regular basis—not occasional Dutch treats, but each one paying his own way each time. He sees this as egalitarian, but I consider it destructive to a normal social relationship. What policy do you recommend?—M.S., Albany, N.Y."

I should think occasional Dutch treats might be fine, but for you to pay your own expenses each time you go out with this boy doesn't seem very special. The very fact that you asked me the question indicates that you prefer to be treated in a very special way—at least part of the time. You might try dating some other boys, occasionally at least. If you marry this one, eventually you may find that you are splitting every loaf of bread downthe middle. Post cards, please.

"DEAR MISS VANDERBILT: I have been a southpaw for 70 years, and I still find it annoying and officious for well-meaning people to reverse my place setting at a meal. It only calls attention to a difference.

"Practice and concentration will enable any southpaw to use a fork or hold a cup in the right hand when necessary. Where it is convenient to do so, I try to maneuver myself to the end of the row or the end of the table in order to have plenty of room. I prefer to use my fork in my left hand (which passes without comment in England, where it is customary).—Mrs. E.C., Chattanooga, Tenn."

Certainly, the Continental method of eating, with the fork in the left hand, could solve the problem for left handed people.

Here is another letter on the subject.

"DEAR MISS VANDERBILT: Most hostesses are cooperative when you ask to be placed at the left-hand end of the table. In our family, we seat southpaws next to each other.—Mrs. E.B, St. Louis, Mo."

Right-handed hostesses with left-handed friends should try to remember what table seating is comfortable for them.

(Amy Vanderbilt welcomes your letters and strives to answer all those of general interst in her column. Send your questions and comments to Miss Vanderbilt in care of Progress-Bulletin.

SHORT NOTICE AUCTION
of Rare Valuable Authentic
Persian Rugs
and other Oriental Rugs

As a result of the late arrival of the steamer Atlanta Crown, a complete shipment of genuine hand-knotted Persian and other Oriental rugs were not released in time for the stores Christmas sale. Those responsible for the unpaid shipment have instructed their U.S. agents to dispose of the entire shipment at the auction.

This direct shipment, in our opinion, is the finest collection in design, craftsmanship, and colour of hand-made carpets, rugs, and runners, we have ever seen in all our years of selling the finest quality of Oriental rugs and carpets.

GRISWOLDS INN
(Flamingo Room)
555 West Foothill Blvd.
Claremont, Calif.
SATURDAY, JAN. 5 — 2 P.M.
Viewing and Inspection from 12 noon until auction

Shipment consists of 30 bales—all inspected and cleared by customs. BOKHARAS, KASHAU, KERMAN, INDIAN, CAUCASIAN, CHINESE, and AFGHAN, also included is a fine collection of many old pieces.

Ask The Cook

By Nan Wiley

DEAR NAN:

My 90-year-old aunt remembers the tea cakes (actually a large soft light-colored cookie) her mother baked in their south Georgia home. She recalls the recipe as having butter and sour cream in it. It would give my aunt great pleasure if she could bake them again. Can you help? Dorothy Edmundson. Tulsa, Okla.

I'll do my level best and if I can't track down an exact match I'm sure someone else will. I have many wonderful southern readers who are more than generous about parting with treasured family recipes. The most historical one I found dates back to October 25th, 1774, when the ladies of Edmonton, N.C., held a tea party at the home of Elizabeth King to express their indignation at the British tax on tea. (They drank tea made of raspberry leaves that day). The tea cakes were made from Penelope Parker's recipe.

You will need 3-½ cups all-purpose flour (not self-rising) 1 teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup butter (not whipped type) 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 cups firmly packed brown sugar and 3 large eggs. Sift together flour, soda and salt. Set aside. Cream butter and vanilla until soft. Gradually cream in sugar until mixture is fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time beating well after each one. Stir in flour mixture. Divide dough in half, wrapping each half in waxed paper. Chill for several hours until easy to handle.

Roll out about ⅛-inch thick on lightly floured board. Cut with a 2-½ inch cookie cutter. Bake at 400 degrees on greased cookie sheets about 7 minutes. Note: There is no liquid called for except the eggs. I think this next version is more what your aunt remembers.

Sift together 2 cups flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon soda, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg and ½ teaspoon salt. Cream ½ cup butter with 1 cup granulated sugar until fluffy. Add 1 beaten egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla or ½ teaspoon lemon extract and 1-3rd cup dairy sour cream. Mix well, adding dry ingredients gradually to blend. Roll out ⅛ inch thick on lightly floured board.

Place cutout cookies on an ungreased cookie sheet. Brush cookies with milk, sprinkle with sugar, bake at 375 degrees 8 to 10 minutes. Try to test cookie in a pie pan first. If it isn't soft enough roll the dough a little less than ¼ inch thick. Love and kisses to your aunt. Anyone who is still interested in cooking at 90 rates my cheers.

What's your reason for not buying a home NOW?

TROUBLED OVER HIGH INTEREST RATES

It is true interest rates have risen, but they do seem to have stabilized in the past several months. And while the rates may seem high, they are not climbing as rapidly as are labor and material costs. An increase or a decrease of ½ percent in interest rates only amounts to 30c per month per $1000 on a 25 year loan. Is it really wise to deny yourself the security, pleasure and pride of home ownership on the vague hope of interest rates going down. thus saving you only $3 or $4 a month? The value of your home will increase at a much faster rate than can be gained by any lowering of interest rates. NOW is a good time to buy!

WONDER WHERE TO BEGIN LOOKING?

Worry no more . . . most folks have found that the best place to shop for that new or lived-in home is in the Classified Real Estate columns of the Progress-Bulletin. It's here (and only here) that each day you'll find the very latest offerings of homes 'for sale' . . . advertised by the area's leading real estate firms and builders. Check the want ads today—and every day—to find the home that satisfies all your needs.

YES NOW IS A GOOD TIME

Hard part of life in Roller Derby is on the road

By ARTHUR FREDERICK

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI) — The hotel sign said "Welcome, Roller Derby," and the parking lot was full of cars with California registration plates. The Queen of the Roller Derby sat in the restaurant and hacked into an overdone steak.

Joan Weston, big and blonde and close to 40, was eating a little late. She usually likes a few more hours between her steak and the game. The game was with the Chiefs at the Augusta Civic Center.

"Will I ever get a steak that isn't well done?" she asked, grinding away at the meat. Miss Weston has been chopping at well-done steaks on the roller derby circuit for 20 years.

Miss Weston's van had rolled into the hotel on a Thursday evening, after a game in Boston. She had spent Friday at a Chevrolet dealer's, getting the van's front end aligned.

"We do 70,000 or 80,000 miles a year," she said, "We get a break at Christmas and another break during the year, but we're on the road about 10 months out of the year."

Hard on van

"The Chevrolet van was bought new at the beginning of the season. It will have to be replaced before the next season starts.

Miss Weston has bright blonde hair and she's still attractive. But her nose is a bit bent and she's had her share of injuries over the seasons.

"When that happens, you just go home," she said. "We've got a team doctor out in California who takes care of us, and if the injury is bad enough you just go home until it's better. If it's just a sprain or something like that, you play with it."

The Pioneers, her team, play all over the country. She has been about everywhere and has pictures to prove it.

Photo buff

"I'm quite a camera bug," she said. "I've got pictures and slides and movie film, everything you can think of. I try to play tourist wherever we go. One of these days we're going to go through Canton (Ohio) at some time other than midnight. I really want to see the Football Hall of Fame. Seems every time we go through it is the middle of the night."

John Groll was eating a cheeseburger across from Miss Weston. He's played on the men's team for the past nine years.

"I got into it right out of the Marine Corps," he said. "I was kicking around, did a little carpentry."

Groll's wife travels with him, but their two children stay at home in California

The Augusta Civic Center wasn't deserted, but it was something less than a full house. The first roller derby in Augusta attracted about 4,000, but 1,500 less showed up for the next one and only about 2,000 were on hand to watch Miss Weston and the other Pioneers elbow the Chiefs.

The men skaters had gone to the Civic Center on Friday to set up the track. They prefer to do it themselves, but some places insist on setting it up because of union regulations.

Do it right

"You can always tell a union job," Miss Weston said. "It's bumpy and uneven and hard to skate on. Our guys do it and it's right—let's face it, they have to skate on it."

When the game at the Civic Center was over, Miss Weston and the others went back to their hotel. Some went to the lounge to drink and listen to the duo on organ and saxophone. Others went to their rooms, some to watch television and some to go to sleep because they would have to get up at 3 a.m. and head for New Haven, Conn.

The next morning the skaters got up and followed the advance party down the Maine Turnpike. The next game was that evening. "We go to Springfield (Mass.) after that, don't we?" Miss Weston asked. "I think we have a free day in Springfield.'

Someone gave her the name of a German restaurant in Springfield, and she scribbled it down. She had a place to spend her free day.

Slowdown in government employ seen

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Government employment will grow, but at a slower rate than it has over the past two decades, an official of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco said recently.

"The public sector has been one of the fastest growing components of the economy in recent times," Herbert Runyon wrote in the reserve bank's business and financial letter.

"Today one out of every six members of the work force is a public employe on the federal, state or local level."

Of a total work force of almost 86 million, nearly 14 million are employed by government. There are about 2.6 million federal workers and 11.1 million employed by state and local governments.

Although Runyon sees a continuing increase in the total number of persons working for the government, he expects a slowdown in the rate of growth.

One key area where this slowdown already is evident is in education. This is the largest single governmental function, employing about 5.6 million persons, and until recently it was the fastest growing category.

"The babies of the postwar baby boom have pretty much worked their way out of school and into the labor force with the predictable result that many once-jammed classrooms are empty and the once-soaring demand for teachers has come to an abrupt halt," Runyon said.

Shipping firm seeks additions

HONOLULU (UPI) — Pacific Resources, Inc., said its subsidiary, Hawaiian International Shipping Corp. has amended its application to the Federal Maritime Commision for subsidies on construction of tankers to cover four instead of three vessels and to increase the deadweight tonnage of the ships from 80,000 to 89,000 tons each. The tankers will cost about $140 million about 39 per cent of which would be covered by the subsidies.

PUBLIC NOTICE PUBLIC NOTICE

STANDARD AGREEMENT 733247

Sealed bids for Trap List Installation at California State Polytechnic University, Pomona, 3801 West Temple Avenue, Pomona, California, will be received until 10 a.m. Pacific Standard Time, January 11, 1974, in the Contract Services Office, Building 75, of the aforementioned State agency, at which time they will be opened and read publicly.

Specifications, plans, and proposal forms to be used in bidding will be mailed upon request by contacting the Contract Services Office of the aforementioned State agency (714-598-4041).

Questions related to bidding and a tour of the site of work may be arranged by calling area code 714-598-4083 and requesting Mr. Bob Hartz.

The University reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

In accordance with the provisions of Section 1773 of the Labor Code, the said State agency has ascertained that the generally prevailing rate of wages applicable to the work to be done is as follows for the Pomona area:

GENERAL PREVAILING WAGE RATES
COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES

The California State Polytechnic University, Pomona, has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages to be as tabulated hereafter for the county in which the work is to be done. Included therein are employer payments for health and welfare, vacation, pension, apprenticeship or other authorized training programs, and similar purposes. Holdays shall be as defined in the collective bargaining agreement applicable to the labor classification(s) employed on the project.

BLESSINGS IN

Happy New Year

May we take this opportunity to express our appreciation to our many friends who have been so loyal through the years. Our success and growth could not have been made possible without your recommendations and referrals. And our special thanks to the more than 6800 families who have given us the opportunity of assisting in their real estate transactions this year. Many of these were with the cooperation of our Realtor friends.

It is our wish your home may enjoy the blessings of the holiday season throughout the coming year.

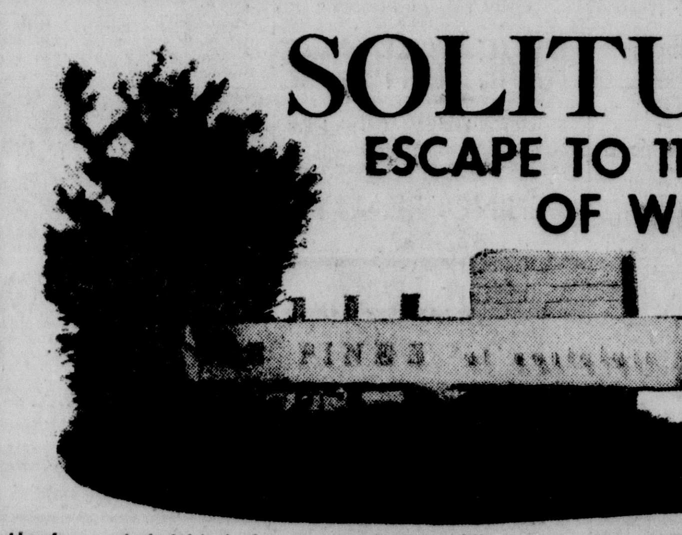
SOLITUDE
ESCAPE TO 11 ACRES OF WOODSY PINES!



Here's a secluded kind of apartment luxury living that you haven't seen before.

It's uniquely different, because The Pines has created 11 tranquil acres where you can stroll amid the pine trees. Get back to nature! Play 9 holes on our putting green, have a picnic, or just be plain old lazy.

At The Pines, you are just a stones throw from Montclair Plaza, minutes away from hospitals and medical facilities.

All apartments are fully carpeted and centrally air-conditioned. Closets are large and easily accessible. Kitchens are fully modern. There's a separate garden patio for each apartment. Carports have convenient storage compartments.

Come to The Pines—and we'll introduce you to a whole new way of life!

FRIENDS,
Here are just a few of the many written comments we receive from our happy customers:

Courteous, cooperative, considerate attention on every detail from all your personnel.
H. & B. RUSH, Mira Loma

Cooperation and concern of your personnel made the transition to mobile home living a pleasant experience.
L. HUTCHINSON, Pom.

Thanks for the fine way you have treated us in our new mobile home and we love every minute of it.
R. & M. BLAND, Pom.

Your Service Personnel have been exceptional, both in workmanship and pleasant attitude. Thanks so much.
A. & D. KRUGER, La Puente

Yes folks, our entire staff of efficient, cooperative personnel are at your service to provide you with courteous customer relations for the rest of your life!
Sincerely
BILL HARRIS

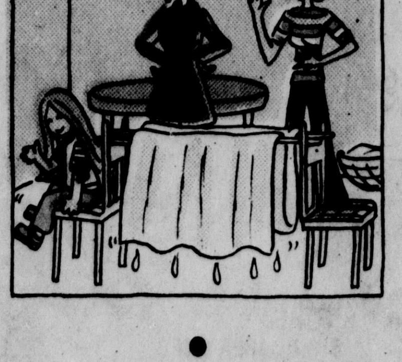
Polly's Pointers

DEAR POLLY — When there is no clothesline available, or if it is raining, a convenient way to dry curtains that have just been washed is to place two chairs back-to-back. Place a curtain rod with each end over a chair back. Pull the chairs as far apart as rods will allow. Fold curtains over the rods so they will just escape dragging on the floor. Place papers on the floor to catch drips. — SHARON



Polly pays $1.00 for every idea used. Send them to her, c/o this newspaper.

DEAR POLLY — I find a clothes basket most suitable for my baby to sit and play in. This is very handy when we are at the dinner table, as she is too big for her infant seat and too small for a high chair. When I attend a meeting of amy kind she and the basket go along. — MRS. M. P.

DEAR POLLY — The buckles on my "strap and buckle" shoes hurt my feet after I walked a while with them. I placed a round "plastic spot" from a package of assorted adhesive badages under each buckle and that solved the problem. — G. M. M.

DEAR POLLY — With the cost of food what it is, I keep a zip-lock plastic bag in my freezer and put into it any leftover onions, tomatoes, celery, carrots (all fresh) and they are clean and ready to use either in soup or stew. — TERRI

DEAR POLLY — My hair always looks soft, silky and shiny as I use a good shampoo, but I dilute it. About 1 part shampoo is used with 4 parts water to give me a lather — no dulling soap film, pretty hair AND the added bonus of four bottles of shampoo to every one I buy! — PATRICIA

DEAR POLLY — The furniture for our nursery was a motley collection of finishes. I used a quart of avocado green to cover the furniture. I bought one-half yard of gay orange-and-yellow adhesive-backed paper with the same design of large daisies. I cut these out and centered one over each of the holes for the drawer pulls. Three daisies were put on the front of the toy chest. On the panel foot of the crib I glued two "potted" daisies — a small dowel stick made the stem and the pots were the two halves of a cut-in-two styrofoam thread spool. This entire project cost about $3. — CHERYL

DAD MAKES ME SO GOSHAWFUL MAD! HE'S SPOUTING OFF ABOUT MALE SUPERIORITY AGAIN!
...AND THAT DARN WILLIS KEEPS EGGING HIM ON!
THEY'RE ONLY DOING IT TO TEASE YOU, DEAR! THEY DON'T MEAN IT!
THE HECK THEY DON'T! THEY'VE BEEN AT IT EVER SINCE WE FINISHED SUPPER!
WELL, YOU'LL HAVE TO FORGIVE THEM! MEN ARE ALMOST TOTALLY LACKING IN SENSITIVITY...
...IT GOES HAND IN HAND WITH THEIR FEAR THAT WOMEN WILL OUTSHINE THEM IN NEARLY ANY SKILL YOU CAN NAME!
AND I MEAN ABOVE AND BEYOND THE OBVIOUS ABILITY TO HAVE CHILDREN...
HA HA HA HA HA HA HA HA HA HA...
DID YOU HEAR THAT, WILLIS?
DID YOU EVER HEAR ANYTHING SO OUTRAGEOUSLY UNTRUE?
ALL RIGHT! NAME ONE THING, JUST ONE THING WOMEN DO THAT A MAN CAN'T DO TEN TIMES BETTER!
WIVES REALLY ZING IT IN THERE SOMETIMES, HUH, DAD?

THIS WEEK'S TOP PRIZE QUESTION:
HANK ROGERS OF HOOKER, OK, ASKS:
"WHY DOES IRON RUST?"
AN IRON NAIL LEFT IN A DAMP PLACE WILL SOON BE COVERED WITH A REDDISH-BROWN ASH WE CALL "RUST." AIR AND WATER MADE THE NAIL RUST. WHEN WATER AND THE OXYGEN IN THE AIR JOIN TOGETHER WITH THE IRON IN THE NAIL A CHEMICAL CHANGE TAKES PLACE. THE IRON "BURNS UP," MUCH LIKE A LOG THAT IS SET AFIRE. BUT THE RUSTING PROCESS IS VERY SLOW AND IS NOT ACCOMPANIED BY FLAMES. AS THE IRON "BURNS" IT TURNS INTO AN ENTIRELY NEW MATERIAL — RUST.

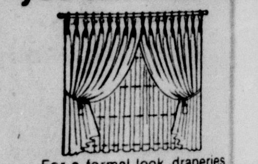
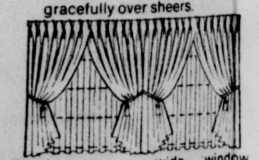
HOW TO MEASURE

For width, measure the width of a white conventional rod plus right and left projection from wall. With decorative rod, measure the distance between the end rings plus right and left projection. For length, measure from the top of conventional rod, or from eye of ring on decorative rod, to desired length. Why not pick up our handy guide-to-measuring brochure?

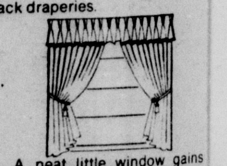
These are just some of the looks you can create!



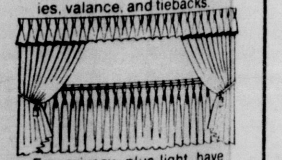
For a formal look, draperies with matching tiebacks hang gracefully over sheers.



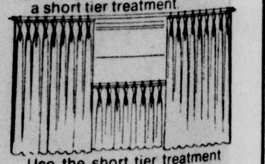
Break up a wide window with an abundance of tied-back draperies.



A neat little window gains stature with formal draperies, valance, and tiebacks.



For privacy, plus light, have draperies with a valance over a short tier treatment.



Use the short tier treatment for two looks. Draw the other draperies partially.

Radial Tire SALE

SAVE 25%

Sears Highway Passenger Tire Guarantee

If you do not receive the number of miles specified because of your tire becoming unserviceable due to (1) defects, (2) normal road hazards, or (3) tread wear-out,

We will: At our option, exchange it for a new tire or give you a refund charging in either case only the proportion of the then current selling price plus Federal Excise Tax that represents mileage used. If the tire is unserviceable due to any of the above causes before 10% of the guaranteed mileage is received. The replacement refund will be made with no charge for mileage received.

Nail punctures will be repaired at no charge. Guarantee applies to tires on vehicles used for private family purposes.

36,000 MILE GUARANTEE

The Sears Radial 36 boasts 4 rayon cord belts and 2 polyester cord radial plies that add up to strength, long wear and a smooth ride.

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR ARLENE DAHL

I've read with interest about your many business activities. How do you feel toward Women's Lib?—L. W., Lancaster, N.Y.

● I certainly believe that a woman should be paid the same salary as a man doing the same job. But I don't like the tactics of Women's Libbers. It seems to me that the women who are throwing away their bras and not using makeup are the last people who should do these things. Also, I believe women in business should complement the men they work with, not compete against them.

FOR HOWARD COSELL

How do you feel about Congress lifting the TV blackouts in the cities where pro football games are being played?—David Thomas, Waco, Texas

● I was dead set against it. I thought it was a cheap and scurvy piece of political expediency, and I think it's going to do great harm to professional football. I believe the blackout policy was the firm economic underpinning of the National Football League.

FOR JEAN STAPLETON, "All in the Family" star

What about your real husband? Does he believe, like Archie, that a woman's place is in the kitchen?—Doris Davis, Rochester, N.Y.

● No, my husband likes to be married to a woman who has interests outside the home. He thinks that makes her more interesting. And since he can cook and take care of the children, he's liberated, too!

FOR JACQUELINE SUSANN

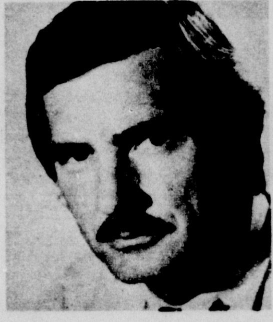
I have just started writing. What's your idea of a good, exciting book?—D. K., Spring Grove, Pa.

● All of mine.

FOR BILL RUSSELL, basketball coach

How long did it take you to make that fabulous shot in your TV commercial where you shoot the basketball through the hoop?—Janice Branich, Covina, Calif.

● The first time I made it with the first shot. The second time it took the good part of one day.



FOR DENNIS WEAVER

It seems to me that most of the characters you portray are basically gentle people. Do you consider yourself to be a gentle person?—M. Martnik, Hartford, Conn.

● I'd like to think so. I like gentle people. I don't get angry that easily. What's the purpose? Getting mad does two things: 1) it's bad for the health, causing body heat to burn up cells; and 2) it can make you totally irrational. You lose that quality that separates us from the lower beings.

FOR MRS. RICHARD NIXON

Why do you always wear gloves or long sleeves?—I. E. Garrick, Forest Hills, N.Y.

● I think long sleeves are more becoming to me.

FOR TWIGGY

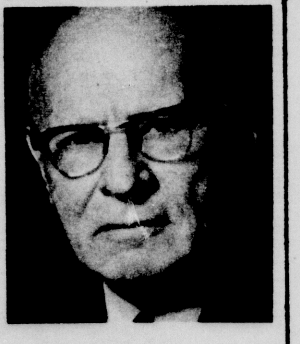
Do you take care of your own house?—L. A. Geller, Paterson, N.J.

● Well, yes and no. I do wash up sometimes, but not much really. But if I start cleaning I have to do everything, all day. Spring cleaning. As for cooking, I just started doing it—about once a week. I love American food. but I don't eat meat, so I've never tasted your hamburgers.

FOR LEE CORSO, football coach at University of Indiana

Why do you place so much emphasis on good recruiting?—C. George, Seattle, Wash.

● I have five reasons: Betsy, Steve, Dave, Diane and me. That's my wife and family, and we have developed some bad habits—like eating, sleeping under a roof and wearing clothes. If I don't recruit, we don't win. And if I don't win, we don't get to do any of those things.



FOR EMANUEL CELLER (D-N.Y.), retired congressman

What was the worst and the best experience you had in your 50 years in Congress?—P. O., Nyack, N.Y.

● The same experience—with a 41-year interruption. The worst came first: In 1924, I lost trying to prevent passage of the Immigration Act, a bill that banned Orientals and sharply limited Europeans coming to this country. I learned that passion more than logic rules the minds of men. The best came 41 years later, when, in 1965, a bill I sponsored repealed the 1924 Immigration Act. I learned that patience is bitter, but it bears rich fruit.

An After-Christmas Story from a Great Writer's Boyhood

By Bruce Catton

> "What I had seen through the transparent bending ice seemed to be nothing less than the heart of darkness. It was not just my own death that had been down there; it was the ultimate horror, lying below all life, kept away by something so fragile that it could break at any moment."

The time of this remarkable story: The year 1915, when Bruce Catton was 16. The place: Benzonia, a town in northern Michigan where Mr. Catton still makes his home.

We lived then in a time of great expectations. We believed in ourselves and in the future, and we welcomed all of the omens that were good. We were not, to be sure, altogether half-witted. It is good to know that the world is not exactly what it seems to be, but to know this is to be dimly aware that it may be worse instead of better.

We had an acute sense of the impermanence of the present, and a haunting understanding that we were living for a time in a strange borderland between the real and the unreal, without enough knowledge of the country to tell one from the other. Yet there was something about our north country (or maybe it was something about me) that issued disquieting warnings now and then. There was the emptiness off to the north, thousands of miles of it, with the cold tang of the Ice Age in the air; to the south was the land of the Mound Builders, whose best efforts produced nothing more than unobtrusive scars on the earth; and all about us were the bleak acres of stumps, the dying towns and the desolate farms that were being given up, discards in a game where most of the players had lost. Now and again these things demanded thought.

There was for instance one January morning that winter when Lewis Stoneman and I went sailing on skates. I do not know whether anyone does that nowadays, but it was quite a thing at the time and we had read about it in some magazine. You took thick strips of wood and made an oblong frame, about four feet long by three feet wide, added a couple of cross braces for stiffening and for handholds, and covered the frame with a piece of discarded bed sheet cut to size. Then you went to the ice, put on your skates, held the frame in front of you, and let the wind take charge. I talked about this with Lewis, who was a student at the academy and was for some reason known as "Yutch," and it sounded like fun. We built the frames in the basement of Father's house, talked Mother into giving us a frayed old sheet, tacked pieces of it to the wood, got our skates, and one Saturday went down to Crystal Lake to see about it.

Skating conditions were perfect. The sun was bright, the bare ice was like polished steel, and there was a brisk wind from the east—which was fine, because we were at the eastern end of the lake and the open ice stretched away to the west for more than eight miles. We put on our skating shoes, knotted the laces of our regular shoes

Continued

Daniel Kramer

The author in front of Crystal Lake.

"Overhead, infinitely remote, yet for all of that very near and comforting, there was the endless host of golden stars whose clear flames denied the darkness. The message was unmistakable. Life was leading us—somewhere, somehow, miraculously—to a transfiguration."

together and hung them about our necks, got out on the frozen lake, held the sails in front of us, and took off.

The wind was strong, blowing steadily and without gusts, and it filled our sails and took us down the lake at what seemed a fabulous speed. We had never moved so fast on skates before—had not imagined it was possible to move so fast—and it was all completely effortless. All we had to do was stand erect, hold on to our sails, and glide away; it was like being a hawk, soaring above the length of a ridge on an updraft of air, and it felt more like flying than anything that ever happened to me, later on in life, in an airplane.

For the moment it was enough to be carried by the wind. The whole world had been made for our enjoyment. The sky was unstained blue, with white clouds dropping shadows now and then to race along with us, the hills that rimmed the lake were white with snow, gray and blue with bare tree trunks, clear gold in places where the wind had blown the snow away from sandy bluffs, the sun was a friendly weight on our shoulders, the wind was blowing harder and we were going faster than ever, and there was hardly a sound anywhere. I do not believe I have ever felt more completely in tune with the universe than I felt that morning on Crystal Lake. It was friendly. All of its secrets were good.

Then, suddenly, came awakening. We had ridden the wind for six miles or more, and we were within about two miles of the western end of the lake; and we realized that not far ahead of us there was a broad stretch of sparkling, dazzling blue running from shore to shore, flecked with picturesque whitecaps—open water. It was beautiful, but it carried the threat of sudden death. The lake had not been entirely frozen, after all. Its west end was clear, and at the rate we were going we would reach the end of ice in a short time. The lake was a good hundred feet deep there, the water was about one degree warmer than the ice itself, and the nearest land—wholly uninhabited in the dead of winter—was a mile away. Two boys dropped into that would never get out alive.

There was also a change in the ice beneath us. It was transparent, and the water below was black as a starless midnight; the ice had become thin, it was flexible, sagging a little under our weight, giving out ominous creakings and crackling sounds, and only the fact that we kept moving saved us from breaking through. It was high time, in short, for us to get off of that lake.

Yutch saw it at the same moment I did. We both pointed, and yelled, and then we made a 90-degree turn to the left and headed for the southern shore. If we had known how to use our sails properly the wind would have taken us there, but we knew nothing about that. All we could think of was to skate for the shore with all speed, and those sails were just in the way. We dropped them incontinently, and we never saw them again, and we made a grotesque race for safety, half-skating and half-running. We came at last to the packed floe ice over the shallows, galloped clumsily across it, reached the snow-covered beach, and collapsed on a log to catch our breath and talk in awed tones about our narrow escape.

We got home, eventually, somewhere along toward dusk. We at first thought we would skate back, but the wind was dead against us and skating into it seemed likely to be harder than walking along the shore, and besides we had had all of the lake we wanted for that day. We put on our other shoes and plodded cross-country through the snow, three miles to Frankfort, at which place, the afternoon train having left, we got a livery-stable rig to take us to Benzonia. (I am not sure Father althogether appreciated having to pay the liveryman the required two dollars; he earned his dollars the hard way, and he never had many of them. However, he paid up without a whimper.)

The whole business cut a hard groove in my mind. I found after a while that I did not want to talk about it. I did not even want to think about it, but I could not help myself. What I had seen through the transparent bending ice seemed to be nothing less than the heart of darkness. It was not just my own death that had been down there; it was the ultimate horror, lying below all life, kept away by something so fragile that it could break at any moment. Everything we did or dreamed or hoped for had this just beneath it. . . . One gets knotty thoughts, sometimes, at halfway house.

This seemed especially hard to digest because it came so soon after another – and quite different – experience that had happened that Christmas Eve.

By the time I was 16, the old excitement of Christmas gifts had of course worn somewhat thin, and I was ready to admit that the intense emotion centering about the tree in the living room was primarily something for small children. Still, that year as every year, I routinely went to the Christmas Eve celebration in the village church.

The church was filled with people. It was imperfectly lighted, and its interior seemed immense, larger than life, dominated by the great tree that reached up to the shadows just beneath the rafters, its tiny flames all twinkling. Just to be in the place was to partake of a mystery. When the wheezy organ sounded off with "Joy to the World," and the doors opened to let us out into the winter night, it was as if we heard the sound of far-off trumpets.

Walking home afterward was what did it. It was cold and there was plenty of snow, which creaked under our feet as we went along the road, and the silent air seemed to be echoing with the carols we had sung; and overhead, infinitely remote, yet for all of that very near and comforting, there was the endless host of golden stars whose clear flames denied the darkness. The message was unmistakable. Life was leading us—somewhere, somehow, miraculously—to a transfiguration.

It stayed with me. I felt that I had had a glimpse behind the veil. I had seen the ultimate truth, and that truth was good; or so, at any rate, it seemed to me at the time. But while this remembered vision still lingered, I had gone on that wind-borne cruise along the Crystal Lake ice, and at the far end of it I had seen something altogether different. Under the ice lay a flat denial of everything I had seen beyond the stars on Christmas Eve. I had had two visions, of the horror and of the transfiguration, and they seemed equally authentic.

They spoke with equal force. I could not accept one and discard the other. They went together; forget both or live with both. Since they were, as I then believed, unforgettable, it seemed to me that I had to adjust myself to them.

The worst and the best visions are true, and the ultimate truth that embraces both is fantastically beyond comprehension. Life is a flame burning in water, shining on a sea that has no shore, and far overhead there are other flames which we call stars.

At class reunions almost everybody has a gimmick. Try picking the one who doesn't go along.

1. Nope. He's Don Wand. Won school essay contest with "The Art of Pre-Marital Dancing." Gimmick: 200 mm holder to balance his 100 mm cigarette. 2. No. It's Rah-Rah Mendelson, ex-cheerleader. Gimmick: He's wearing it. Smokes whatever he finds in his pouch. 3. No. He's Moe Mentum, alias "Stone Hands" for dropping passes. Just dropped statue of school mascot. 4. T. Deious, school bore. Gimmick: His voice, off-key contralto. Smokes oval cigarettes (he sat on his soft-pack and liked it). 5. Curley Gilroy. His hair was voted "Most Likely to Recede." Gimmick: Staples toupee on. Also staples his roll-your-owns. 6. Right. He's still his own man. Likes his cigarette honest, no-nonsense, too. Camel Filters. Easy and good tasting. 6a. Kicky VIII, mascot. Has eyes only for Mendelson (see 2 above).

Camel Filters.
They're not for everybody
(but they could be for you).

Turn a Simple Meatloaf into "Meatloaf Wellington"

This week, Food Editor Marilyn Hansen makes meatloaf—but not just another meatloaf. Says Marilyn: "Here's one recipe I think every smart gal will want to add to her collection. It's a change for the family—and pretty enough for guests!"

With a little pie crust, you can transform meatloaf into a dish that's pretty enough for New Year's Eve!

*Recipe given

MEATLOAF WELLINGTON

1½ lbs. ground chuck
¾ cup fine dry bread crumbs plus 2 tablespoons
⅓ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons ketchup
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon rosemary leaves, crumbled
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1¼ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
1 can (4¾ ozs.) liverwurst spread
1 can (3 ozs.) chopped mushrooms, undrained
1 pkg. (10 ozs.) pie-crust mix
1 egg yolk
1 tablespoon cold water

1. Preheat oven to 350°F. In large mixing bowl, combine ground chuck, ¾ cup bread crumbs, onion, ketchup, egg, milk, rosemary, Worcestershire, salt and pepper; blend well.

2. On sheet of waxed paper, shape meat into a 7x4-inch rectangle. Place loaf on a baking sheet; bake for 40 minutes. Cool for 25 minutes, until just warm.

3. Meanwhile in a small bowl, combine liverwurst spread with drained chopped mushrooms (save liquid for Sauce) and 2 tablespoons fine bread crumbs; set aside.

4. Prepare pie-crust mix according to package directions and divide into two parts, one slightly larger.

5. Roll smaller piece of dough into a rectangle 2 inches wider and longer than cooled meatloaf. Place on foil-lined baking sheet.

6. Place meatloaf on bottom crust. Spread surface of meatloaf with liverwurst mixture. Set oven at 400°F.

7. Roll out remaining dough into a rectangle large enough to cover top and sides of meatloaf. Cover meatloaf with top crust. Seal edges together smoothly with cold water. Trim edges of crust as necessary. Prick surface and decorate as desired with pastry flowers.

8. Combine egg yolk with cold water and brush entire crust with glaze.

9. Bake for about 20-25 minutes, or until crust is golden brown.

Makes 8 servings

SAUCE FOR MEATLOAF WELLINGTON

2 envelopes (¾-oz. size) brown gravy mix
Liquid from mushrooms
1¼ cup water
¾ cup dry red wine
¼ teaspoon rosemary leaves, crushed

1. Make up brown gravy mix as package label directs except use mushroom liquid, water, wine and rosemary in quantities given above.

2. Bring to boiling, stirring. Add additional wine or water if too thick. Season to taste.

Makes about 2 cups

When you buy just one record or tape—there are always at least half-a-dozen more you wish you could get too.

Okay... this is your chance.

Because, as a new member of the Columbia Record & Tape Club, you can get ANY 12 records or tapes on these four pages... ALL 12 for $1.97.

Take your favorites. (How nice not to have to choose among them. Just to get them all!) Throw in one or two "experimental" ones. Albums you've been anxious to try, just to add something different to your collection.

It's a music lover's dream come true!

To order your 12 stereo tapes or records, just fill in and mail the handy application card—no postage needed. (Be sure to indicate whether you want cartridges, cassettes, reel tapes or records.) In exchange...

You agree to buy nine selections (at regular Club prices) in the next two years—and you may cancel membership any time after doing so.

Your own charge account will be opened upon enrollment; the selections you order as a member will be mailed and billed at regular Club prices: cartridges and cassettes, $6.98; reel tapes, $7.98; records, $4.98 or $5.98... plus processing and postage. (Occasional special selections may be somewhat higher.)

You may accept or reject selections as follows: every four weeks (13 times a year) you will receive a new copy of the Club's music magazine, which describes the Selection of the Month for each musical interest... plus hundreds of alternate selections from every field of music. In addition, about six times a year we will offer some special selections (usually at a discount off regular Club prices). A response card will always be enclosed with each magazine.

...if you do not want any selection offered, just mail the response card by the date specified

...if you want only the Selection of the Month for your musical interest, you need do nothing—it will be shipped to you automatically

...if you want any of the other selections offered, order them on the response card and mail it by the date specified.

You will always have at least 10 days in which to make a decision. If for any reason you do not have 10 days in which to decide, you may return the regular selection at our expense and you will receive full credit for it.

You'll be eligible for our bonus plan upon completing your enrollment agreement—a plan which enables you to save at least 33% on all your future purchases. Here, indeed, is the most convenient way possible to acquire a record and tape collection at the greatest savings possible... so act now!

Raquel Welch Talks Candidly About Love, Marriage and the Men in Her Life

"I would be too self-conscious to appear nude in front of 200 people on the set, and I would be upset at the audience's reaction. I even feel uneasy gallivanting around in a bikini."

Pictorial Parade

Raquel: A Romantic

FAMILY WEEKLY: Raquel, we always hear rumors around Hollywood. . . . How about it–are you planning to marry again or not?

RAQUEL: You mean Ron Talsky? He's my boyfriend, but I don't plan to get married at this time.

FW: What does Ron do?

RAQUEL: He's a costume designer. He did my clothes for "Kansas City Bomber" and "The Last of Sheila."

FW: Before you met Ron, you were married to Patrick Curtis for many years and he seemed to have, to say the least, a very strong influence on your career. Do you always need someone to tell you what to do?

RAQUEL: Not at all! What I want is professional advice–then I want to make up my own mind. I don't need anyone to tell me what to do.

FW: Are you a romantic?

RAQUEL: Terribly. Ron and I keep writing each other the most beautiful love notes, and when we go someplace, we try to get two of the same things–glasses, matchboxes, whatever.

FW: Do you think two people can stay in love indefinitely and remain happy together?

RAQUEL: I'd like to say yes, but I think it is impossible to stay with one man forever. The trouble is, I can anticipate signs of trouble. Little things–tensions, weariness about being in each other's company. And I dread it, because I know that the end of the relationship is in sight.

FW: Do you think it's possible for a woman like you to be away on location for ten weeks and have her husband understand the separation?

RAQUEL: How many wives get used to their husbands being away that long? Besides, I don't think it's good for two people to be together all the time. A marriage has a much better chance of succeeding if they're apart a good deal because each time it's like starting all over again.

FW: Do you think your marriage to Pat Curtis failed because you were working together so closely? That it might have lasted a little longer if you'd been in different professions?

RAQUEL: Maybe–but I don't think our marriage could have worked under any conditions. When we started, I was a nobody, he was an office boy. Then my career zoomed and his–well, how shall I put it? His just didn't. It made things very difficult. But Patrick was not the Svengali he has been made out to be. I always made my own decisions. We just approached things differently.

FW: How did you get the name Welch?

RAQUEL: That was my first married name. I was married to my high school sweetheart, but we were too young to know what it was all about.

FW: Yet you have two children by your first husband. How old are they?

RAQUEL: My son Damon is ten and my daughter Tahnee is eight.

FW: Raquel, what do you think about nudity in films?

RAQUEL: Some nude scenes are done well. Some people are attractive. But personally I don't see any real necessity for nudity. I don't think not being nude has subtracted from what I'm doing. I think a story plot should progress well without nudity. And if a film is good—with or without nudity—it sells.

FW: Why won't you do nude scenes?

RAQUEL: Because they embarrass me! It's an intensely personal thing! I would be too self-conscious to appear nude in front of 200 people on the set, and I would be upset at the audience's reaction. I even feel uneasy gallivanting around in a bikini. That's why I wear modest swimming suits when I'm on vacation. I don't like crowded beaches either. I can't stand being scrutinized by a lot of people. I was brought up a particular way, and this does not include taking off one's clothes in front of a lot of strangers. If this is being old-fashioned, well, I guess that's what I am. Besides, until now I haven't seen such a wonderful script that I would undress for it.

FW: Do you get embarrassed seeing other women in the nude?

RAQUEL: No. I was in Paris recently with Ron, and we went to a nightclub that had a nude act. I thought the girls were beautiful, and if they wanted to take their clothes off, that was their business.

FW: How do you see your own future in, say, 10 or 15 years? Can you visualize yourself doing character parts?

RAQUEL: I'd have to wait and see. I honestly don't know. I think it would be a bore to still be in pictures 10 or 15 years from now. That's why I want to concentrate on nightclubs like the Las Vegas ones, where I can make lots of money in three weeks, so I can retire and do what I want to do.

FW: What do you want to do?

RAQUEL: Well, I'd like to make a picture every two years and the rest of the time I'd just live. I'd visit places, read, go to museums, exchange ideas. That's what life is really all about. Making movies is just a means of getting to do it eventually. When I started in films I was only interested in my work. I simply couldn't absorb anything else. There was no extra energy. Now I can look at food and enjoy it. Enjoy the smell, the taste. That's real wealth. And now work is becoming more cumbersome. The challenge, the real drive is gone. Acting is becoming kind of a bore.

FW: What is it you want most out of life at this point?

RAQUEL: To give my children a good education and all the love I am capable of giving. fw

by Norman P. Kennedy

Astrology Today

PRESENTED BY THE AMERICAN ASTROLOGICAL ASSOCIATION
"The Nation's Largest Astrological Society"

© 1973 American Astrological Assn. of Ohio, Inc.

Did you know your horoscope could mean the difference between happiness or sorrow; between success or failure?

Picture a long room with doors at each end. In this room there are money, attractive persons of the opposite sex, books that tell you the secret of happiness and many other valuable articles. But, also in this room are bottomless pits, traps, hostile persons and dangerous beasts chained in various places around the room. You must walk through this room, but you may take out of it anything you can.

Now if you had a choice, would you choose to 1) go through the room blindfolded or 2) go through the room with your eyes open and with written instructions on which places and people to visit or avoid.

Of course, all of us would pick the second choice in a case such as this. Isn't it ridiculous, then, that we would choose to go through life, the same situation, blindfolded! Even when there is a means to go through life with a map and our eyes wide open! The means provided is Astrology. The map is our astrological horoscope.

How does it work? Nature's cosmos imprints each of us at the time of birth – when the umbilical cord is cut. We then become ourselves. Until the cord is cut, we are part of our mother. Why or how we presently do not know. The movement of the large solar bodies then times potentials for events in our lives. Astrology does not cause events but is timing of events. But, it's not fortune telling. It's a prediction of potentials which free will can override.

What does a natal horoscope analysis by a qualified astrologer contain? A natal horoscope analysis contains the best psychological analysis of yourself that you can get today. Because, in a controlled experiment in 1960, astrologers beat psychologists in predicting case histories.

In addition, a natal horoscope analysis includes discussions on the following: financial outlook; taxes and inheritances; early home environment; relationships with family, relatives and parents; lovelife and marriage; children; career and occupation; hopes; wishes and goals; and subconscious attitudes. In a major analysis, a one year forecast is also included.

Many people think that astrology only appeals to "way out" unscientific people. Nothing could be farther from the truth. In fact, studies show that astrology appeals most to intelligent and logical people. Famous scientists Galileo, Carl Jung, Johannes Kepler, Roger Bacon, Tycho Bache and Albert Einstein all believed in astrology.

Your horoscope can help you be in the right place at the right time.

Your horoscope can help you avoid disasters while guiding you to your beneficial opportunities.

Did you know that astrology helped the allies win World War II? The allies employed astrologers. The axis powers started out employing astrologers. But, this was ceased early when the famous astrologer, Karl Ernst Krafft, predicted the exact time and place of an attempt on Hitler's life in 1939. Hitler thought the astrologers were conspiring against him, so they were imprisoned.

Hitler turned back to astrology – too late. He read his horoscope in the last moments of the war as Berlin burned around him.

More on avoiding disaster, came these stories from a recent article in the Miami Herald newspaper. The article tells the story of Mary Kelly, a Miami computer programmer, who heeded the advice of her horoscope which warned her of a wrong medical diagnosis. She avoided an unnecessary operation that would have left her a cripple.

The Miami Herald also tells the story of astrologer Clifford McMullen, who is George McGovern's personal astrologer. He warned McGovern that if he ran for president, that he would win the Democratic nomination, but he would lose badly to President Nixon in the November election.

Your horoscope can bring you wealth. Famous business tycoon, J. P. Morgan, used astrology to acquire his fortune. Morgan did not make a financial move without checking his natal horoscope forecast.

From an article in the Miami Herald came this story: "Stockbrokers on Wall Street are as likely to call an astrologer in this decade as Hollywood film stars would call a psychiatrist in the last. David Williams, a 75 year old retired financial expert who lives in Clearwater, has made $150,000 from the stock market in 13 years by using astrology as an investment guide."

Your horoscope can show you the way to success and happiness in love and marriage. Horoscopes of Grace Kelly and Jackie Kennedy predicted their current successful marriages, Grace Kelly to Prince Rainier and Jackie Kennedy to Aristotle Onassis.

Princess Grace and Prince Rainier have recently had their horoscopes done together by American astrologer, Keith Clayton. As with these famous people, your horoscope can help you find and keep a lasting and meaningful love relationship.

Now and through the ages a good natal horoscope analysis has meant success for many people. In other cases many men have missed their opportunity; some with tragic consequences, such as Adolf Hitler.

Will you miss your success opportunities? Will you stumble into pitfalls you could have avoided?

Today, right this moment, you can have your natal horoscope cast and analyzed. You can get it for only the cost to make your duplicate copy. You get the expensive casting and analyzing process – FREE. The article below will tell you how. The means are available, but the choice is yours.

HOW TO GET YOUR NATAL HOROSCOPE FOR ONLY THE COST OF MAKING COPIES.

by John F. Ford

Send me your exact time and place of birth. I'll cast and analyze your natal horoscope for research purposes. You may have duplicate copies of your horoscope for only $3.00 – the cost to make your copies plus postage and handling costs. You get the expensive casting and analyzing process – FREE, because of the fact that we must produce your horoscope for research anyhow.

Your natal horoscope will consist of nine pages and over 3,000 words. Your natal horoscope will contain your psychological analysis plus a discussion of the following: your lovelife; financial outlook; marriage, family and children relationships; career and occupations; hopes, wishes and goals; and subconscious attitudes. A horoscope of this type would cost up to $300 if done by an astrologer.

I will cast your horoscope with the help of our 360 - 65 I.B.M. computer, which contains over 24 million bits of information. Your horoscope will not be the worthless type found in daily newspapers. Your natal horoscope will be cast from your exact time and place of birth for you and you alone.

THERE'S ABSOLUTELY NO CATCH. I need this information for my astrological research. I am looking for certain planet configurations. If you are chosen as a research subject, I will mail to you a research questionnaire. If you fill out and return this questionnaire, you will be entitled to extra bonuses.

There is no need to worry about findind out about an unavoidable coming disaster thru your chart. As mentioned, astrology deals in potentials. Your free will can override potentials if you know about them. In any case, the policy of qualified astrologers is positive astrology. If there is something negative in your chart, you are told what you can do to make it positive.

To get your horoscope thru this special opportunity, simply fill out the research computer form and mail to the address given on the form. Include the $3.00 copy cost for each horoscope or charge your credit card. There is a limit of two per family. If you don't know your exact time of birth, fill in 12:00 PM.

If you have any questions, call me, John F. Ford, president, The American Astrological Association. Telephone me at (216) 478-2171. Thank you!

I submit my birth data for research. I am now eligible to promptly receive my 3,000 word natal horoscope for only a $3.00 cost to make my duplicate copy. One or two names from my household may be submitted. (Limit of 2 - no exceptions)

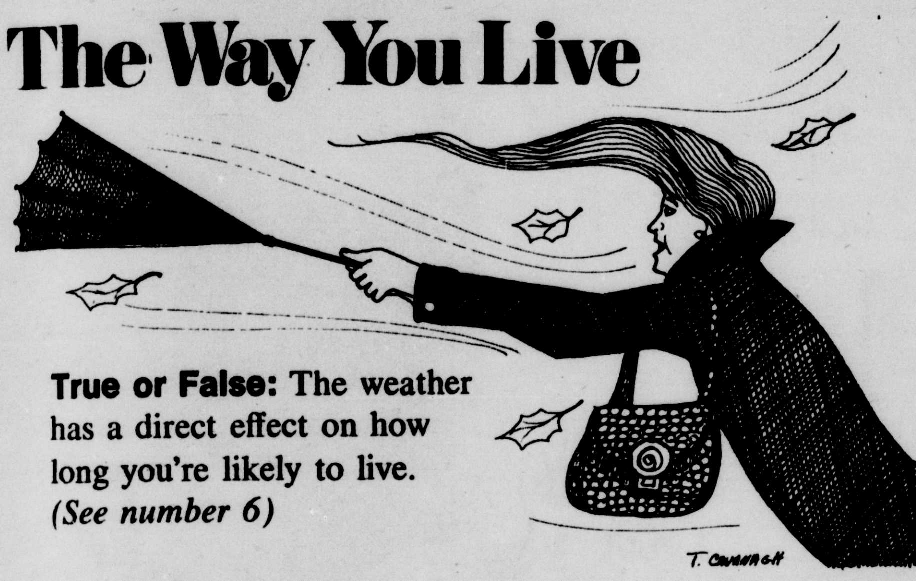
People Quiz

By John E. Gibson

How the Weather Affects The Way You Live



True or False: The weather has a direct effect on how long you're likely to live. (See number 6)

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. You do your best thinking, have the greatest capacity for solving problems and doing mental work, on sunny days when the weather is warm.

2. The reason most people pull up stakes and move from one part of the country to another is usually due to either of two things: to get more sunshine or more money.

3. Men adjust to changes in temperature much more quickly than women are able to.

4. Weather that you'd ordinarily take in your stride can have a devastating effect on you when you're feeling depressed.

5. The thermometer is an indicator of crime.

6. The weather has a direct effect on how long you're likely to live.

ANSWERS

1. False—as shown by a recent study on the effect of the weather on our capacity to think, reason and perform mental work, which cites findings showing that our mental faculties function at peak efficiency on days when the weather is cool and dry.

2. True. Studies show that the two chief factors that motivate moving to a different part of the country are a better climate or a fatter paycheck. For a great many people the two factors were found to be "about equally predictive" of migration. A substantial minority, however, subscribed to the you-can't-eat-the-weather school of thought, tending to move where employment conditions were most favorable—irrespective of climate.

3. False—according to findings of a university study that subjected hundreds of men and women subjects to temperature changes ranging from 60 to 98 degrees Fahrenheit for various periods of time. Findings: Women were much quicker to adapt—and report feeling "comfortable"—in the various temperature changes than the men were.

4. True. A study of thousands of subjects at the University of Basel's Psychiatric Clinic showed that people who were depressed "felt greatly influenced by weather conditions, especially warm, dry winds, and cold fronts, and suffered particularly from interrupted sleep."

5. True. You're more likely to be robbed, burglarized, hit over the head, or otherwise subjected to mayhem whenever the temperature shoots up unexpectedly. A study of weather and criminal activity has shown that "temperatures higher than average for the day increased the crime rates, while lower than normal temperature decreased them." So whenever it's "unusually warm for this time of year," you might want to stay clear of dubious neighborhoods.

6. True—as evidenced by the findings of a study of the relationship between weather and mortality in ten metropolitan areas in the U.S. over a three-year period. This study found that a person's chances of becoming a mortality statistic or contracting some physical ailment are appreciably greater when the weather is acting up. It was found that illness of various types and mortality "are more likely to be above average during periods of disturbed or unstable weather." As for the specific type of weather that packs a potential killer punch for vulnerable people, the study showed that "in general there are three weather situations that are associated with changes in mortality: excessive heat and humidity, changing weather and days with low wind speeds." The latter situation permits a pollution buildup.

INGRID BERGMAN & ISABELLA

Several years ago I took my young nephew to the drive-in dairy. We stopped to watch the cows being milked. I very carefully explained the milking machines and the procedure leading up to the bottle of milk we had just purchased. When we got home I asked him to tell his mother what he had seen. He promptly answered, "They were putting milk into the cows."

—Marguerite Church

Obscene calls – "Only about 20 percent of all nuisance calls are actually obscene, and studies have shown that most of these are made by men under 30 who either hate or fear women. Dozens of stratagems have been devised to thwart obscene phone callers. Two of the most popular: Blow a shrill whistle into the mouthpiece, which will at least give the caller an earache. Place a tape recorder next to the phone with a prerecorded 'beep' like those used on radio and TV shows to indicate that calls are being recorded." From "The (What to do While You Are Holding the) Phone Book," by Gary Owens of "Laugh-In" fame (J. P. Tarcher, Inc., $3.95).

Alex Yunevich

When Alfred University's football coach Alex Yunevich was honored by the Washington Touchdown Club in 1956, he met Richard Nixon, who told the coach about his days playing substitute in California. Nixon related that he wasn't a very good player, but, the then Vice President told Yunevich, "I stuck it out." Yunevich, now 64, is currently being acclaimed as the first coach in the nation to stay active at one college for 33 seasons. Stick-to-itiveness is a quality Yunevich demands of his players. During his career, he has amassed 159 wins, 77 losses and 10 ties. All this on a small sum of money. Alfred's budget this year is $35,000; Ohio State's is $380,000.

NEW YEARS EVE

For more years than can be counted on your fingers and toes, New Year's Eve has belonged to Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians. Now there is a new tradition. It's called "New Year's Rockin' Eve," and this is its second outing for the majority of the TV audience who prefer their music with a rock beat. Produced by Dick Clark Teleshows, Inc., the action will take place aboard the HMS Queen Mary in Long Beach, California and cut to Dick Clark in Times Square, New York City, for the heralding in of the New Year at midnight. Host George Carlin begins the festivities on NBC, Monday night at 11:30PM with his guests Billy Preston, Tower of Power, Linda Ronstadt and special guest stars The Pointer Sisters. The positive reaction from last year's telecast indicates a vast change in the traditional celebration of the New Year—something more in keeping with the mood of the times and the temper of the day. The pace is quick, the music lively and the entertainment first cabin.

The Pointer Sisters are special guests of host George Carlin for NBC's "New Year's Rockin' Eve '74," a rock salute to the new year.

'HERE'S THE ACTION'

Coverage of NBA action resumes Sunday on CBS, when the network begins its regular Sunday afternoon broadcasts of National Basketball Association games. Twenty regular games, the All-Star Game (Tuesday, Jan. 15th), thirteen play-off games and four to seven games of the championship series have been scheduled for broadcast during the '73-'74 basketball season.

Bing Crosby and pretty Pat Mickey are on their way to the 33rd Annual Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament at Pebble Beach, Calif. ABC's exclusive telecast of Bing's famous "clambake" will air Saturday and Sunday afternoons (Jan. 5 & 6), and will kick off the 1974 PGA Winter Golf Tour. Bing is tournament host and does the special commentary for ABC.

Miami
Dec.31

Peter Marshall (pictured left) and Robert Morse co-host coverage of the 40th Annual King Orange Jamboree Parade, from Miami, Florida, on NBC, Monday at 8PM. The New Year's Eve spectacle will have as its theme "That Broadway Magic," and the floats will be styled to represent famous Broadway musical hits, including "Annie Get Your Gun," "The King and I," and "Showboat." NBC will also air the Rose Bowl Game from Pasadena and the Orange Bowl Football Game from Miami, both on New Year's Day (Tuesday).

HOLIDAY SPECIALS

The paper shortage is still critical, therefore we are unable to provide—as we have always done in the past—the ususal FULL DAY listing for the New Year's Holidays. We have provided this SPECIAL half-page listing of Daytime Holiday Programs for your convenience. The Daytime Programs page lists regular programming for the remainder of the week.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 31

12:30PM 11 Backstage With the King Family (Monday ONLY) Prop men, wardrobe mistresses and make-up men move in and out of the scenes in this informal re-creation of a typical working day in the life of the King Family. To further create the backstage mood, scenes are filmed from the catwalks, the wings and center stage.

5:00 7 17 3 42 Sugar Bowl Football (Monday ONLY) Live, from New Orleans, Louisiana, as Alabama's Crimson Tide meets the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 1

6:30AM 2 (29 8) 8 Rose Parade Preview Bob Barker and June Lockhart serve as hosts of this glimpse of pre-parade activities. Charles Schulz, creator of the cartoon "Peanuts" and Grand Marshal of the parade, will be interviewed.

4 23 6 10 36 Junior Orange Bowl Parade Emergency's Randolph Mantooth and Kevin Tighe co-host coverage of the 25th annual youth-oriented parade from Coral Gables, Fla., featuring singer Lisa Donovan as guest star. Theme for the parade floats is "Heroes of a Child's World." Victoria Zudak is the Junior Orange Bowl Queen.

5 Rose Parade Preview Larry Van Nuys visits the starting point of the parade and interviews participants and celebrities.

7:30 2 (29 8) 8 Cotton Bowl Festival Parade The 18th annual parade spectacular will feature 20 floats, 21 marching bands, and numerous equestrian units, from Dallas, Texas. William Conrad of Cannon and Lee Meriwether of Barnaby Jones are co-hosts and commentators.

7:45 4 23 6 10 36 Doc Severinsen's Rose Parade Pre-Show The talented trumpeter and conductor of the Tonight Show orchestra is host for a personalized look at several of the outstanding high school bands that will march in the Rose Parade. Doc also presents a little music of his own on the 45-minute special.

8:30 2 (29 8) 8 Tournament of Roses Parade The theme for this year's 85th annual presentation is "Happiness Is . . ." Color commentators and co-hosts for the CBS coverage are Bob Barker and June Lockhart. The theme contest drew a record 10,000 entries from 35 states and four Canadian provinces.

4 23 6 10 36 Tournament of Roses Parade NBC's coverage will be handled by John Davidson (The Girl With Something Extra), Ed McMahon (The Tonight Show) and Rebecca Ann King, Miss America of 1974. "Peanuts" creator Charles Schulz is Grand Marshal. A tribute to Schulz's popularity is that 128 persons suggested "Happiness Is . . ." as the theme for the parade when it was learned that he would be this year's Grand Marshal.

5 Tournament of Roses Parade Dick and Jeri Enberg are co-hosts of KTLA's coverage of the annual pageant that will boast 60 floats, 21 bands, 250 equestrian units and hundreds of pompon girls over the 5½ mile route.

WOODY HAYES: 'NO MOTIVATIONAL PROBLEMS'

It's a repeat performance for the Trojans of USC and the Ohio State Buckeyes. Standout players from the participating teams are top to bottom, tailback Anthony Davis who led the Trojans to last year's Rose Bowl victory, wide receiver J. K. McKay who led the USC team in touchdown receptions last season and the quick and clever Ohio State quarterback Cornelius Greene and All-American Buckeye linebacker Randy Gradishar.

No college coach whose team wins a bid to the Rose Bowl Game has trouble getting "up" for the big post-season grid battle, airing on NBC, Tuesday at 1:30PM. Certainly coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State will have no motivational problem if only to even the score for last season's New Year's Day clash with USC in Pasadena. Southern California Trojans clobbered the Buckeyes 42–17. Woody not only lost in front of all those people in the stadium and more than 50 million television viewers, but he went down to the highest score ever tallied against him in his 22 years as coach at Ohio State.

It was a particularly bitter pill for Hayes, whose record going into that 1973 game marked Woody as one of the nation's outstanding college coaches. And, of course, his team's return this year as the Big Ten representative for 1974 proves he hasn't lost his touch. But those 42 points hurt, especially for a coach known to eschew the wide-open game in favor of a grind-'em-out-on-the-ground offense and a strong defense. In a post-game interview following the 1973 defeat to USC, Woody gave the Trojans and Coach John McKay their due. "Yes, they are the best college football team I've ever seen."

What convinced Hayes of that evaluation was not only the final score but the awesome offensive play by the Trojan backfield. Flanker Lynn Swann's six pass receptions for 108 yards and one touchdown came at critical junctures throughout the game. According to coach Hayes, one of Swann's catches in the third quarter with the score 7–7 and USC facing a 3rd down situation with 17 to go was the turning point of the game. "If we could have held them there," says Woody, "we might have stayed with them."

Then of course there was Anthony Davis who went into last year's Rose Bowl game as the first sophomore at USC to gain more than 1000 yards in a single season. He had averaged 154 yards rushing in just the final six outings of last season. And Davis has broken the 1000-yard mark this year again. Against Ohio last New Year's Day, he rushed for 157 yards in 23 carries. Quarterback Mike Rae went 18 for 25 and 229 yards and fullback Sam Cunningham set a Rose Bowl record with his four touchdowns on dives which ruined Ohio State's proud goal-line defense. Rae, who was voted the game's Most Valuable Player, and Cunningham are gone this year but Davis and Swann are back along with 24 other USC lettermen.

Meanwhile, Ohio State has 17 regulars returning this season and a key factor, according to Hayes, is the fact that he has 33 seniors on this 1974 Rose Bowl team. "I've never had a team with this many seniors in my entire coaching career. Our seniors give us the solid leadership any winning team needs, not to mention the all-important ingredient of experience."

Floral Floats

Seven states other than California and four locales beyond the continental United States will field 11 of the 60 floral floats participating in the 1974 Pasadena (Calif.) Tournament of Roses Parade, airing live on NBC, Tuesday. States sending floats include Georgia, Kentucky, Minnesota, Oregon, Missouri, Texas and Washington. Theme of the New Year's Day parade is "Happiness Is . . ." and each of the floral floats set to pass along the 5½-mile parade route on Pasadena's Colorado Blvd. will depict scenes reflecting this theme.

Out-of-state entries and their themes include State of Georgia, "One Nice Thing After Another"; Louisville, Ky., "The Summer of '74"; Minnesota, "A Four Season Vacationland"; Portland, Ore., "A Festival of Roses"; City of St. Louis, Mo., "A Snowflake; San Antonio, Texas, "A Torchlight Parade"; and Spokane, Wash., "A World's Fair." Also sending floral floats are Mexico, "A Mexican Serenade"; Calgary, Alberta, Canada, "The Living West; Province of Nova Scotia, "The Kingdom of the Sea"; and the U.S. Virgin Islands, "A Vacation."

Later on New Year's Day, NBC will present exclusive coast-to-coast coverage of the Rose Bowl football classic between the University of Southern California Trojans and the Ohio State Buckeyes. The major California cities of San Diego, San Francisco and Los Angeles will field floral floats themed "Freedom," "The City on Golden Hills," and "Peace," respectively. Co-hosting the NBC colorcast will be John Davidson, Ed McMahon, and Miss America, Rebecca Ann King.

WOMEN'S LIB COMES TO THE 'FBI'

For the first time in its eight-year history, The FBI television series will feature female agents in key roles during the course of the new season's episodes. The first actress to be signed for one of these important roles is Betty Anne Rees, a young lady who brings a varied stage, motion picture and television background to her portrayal of Special Agent Joyce Hanafin in the Quinn Martin Production.

Miss Rees makes her first appearance in the "Ransom" episode which airs Sunday at 7:30PM over ABC. In the episode, which guest stars Anne Francis, "Summer of '42" and "Class of '44" star Jerry Houser and former Young Lawyers star Zalman King, Betty Anne, in her Special Agent Hanafin role, doubles for Miss Francis in making a pay-off drop to kidnappers.

Miss Rees debuts as a female Special Agent in the series just one year after the FBI actually began using female field agents. The first of three or four actresses who will star in various episodes throughout the year, Miss Rees is a native of the Shaker Heights suburb of Cleveland.

"It's always a nice feeling being the first—who remembers the second man to discover America," laughs the pretty Miss Rees, who spends her spare time conducting a school for talented child actors aged from 5-17. She attended the University of Miami prior to enrolling in the famed Pasadena Playhouse and she also studied with Uta Hagen in New York. On television, she's been seen in virtually every popular series, including Bear Cats, The Smith Family, The Streets of San Francisco, Adam 12, Mannix, My Three Sons, Medical Center, Secret Storm, Love Is A Many-Splendored Thing, The Mod Squad and others.

Off-camera, Miss Rees is an avid horse-racing and football fan. She also paints and loves to fence and work in her garden.

COVER CLOSE-UP

RICHARD ROUNDTREE

Richard Roundtree, at the risk of disappointing his fans, is the first to admit he's not quite the flamboyant character he plays as a super-cool private eye in the Shaft television series and movies. Soft-spoken, introspective but with a quick sense of humor the handsome black actor is more likely to be playing tennis or riding one of his four horses than cruising the bright lights of the Hollywood party circuit or testing his strength in a fist fight. He's still adjusting to the demands of the overnight stardom that came just two years ago with the first of the phenomenally successful "Shaft" films.

He has made two other "Shaft" pictures, the movie "Charlie One-Eye," and is now working on his Shaft television series, broadcast (Tuesdays, 9:30–11:00PM on CBS, in rotation with Hawkins, starring James Stewart, and The New CBS Tuesday Night Movies. "It's been something to get used to, the way people know you from television," says Roundtree. "It's even more than in movies. Little boys gather on the street and chant at me, 'Shaft, Shaft, Shaft!' as though I were carrying the football in a big game. I get asked my opinion on everything, as though I were an expert. At times, I have to get away just to keep my head on straight."

While admitting he never expected his career to take off in the spectacular way it did, he was sure that once he started he'd be a success as an actor. "It's probably the kind of self-confidence you have to have to survive the discouraging times," he says. "But when it happened, I wasn't quite prepared for how fast."

He credits his skill in football for first giving him the push he needed. As a child in New Rochelle, N.Y., he recalls having little faith in his ability to do anything. "I've called it suffering from the slave mentality. But I started coming out as a result of football in high school. That's when I realized I was good for something. People said nice things about me and that meant a lot. Once you become used to it, the publicity and all, it becomes addictive. The desire to keep that feeling going is probably what pushed me toward modeling and then acting."

He played college football at Southern Illinois University but gave up his hope of a pro football career because of his lack of speed. He became a clothing salesman, and a friend persuaded him to try modeling. Roundtree was hired for the Ebony Fashion Fair, which took him on a tour of 79 cities in 90 days. Of that experience, he says: "Modeling gave me the same kind of feeling I'd known on the football field. It was like carrying the ball and getting praise for it but I was now relating to people as I had never done before. People responded to me as an individual and I figured I could further that feeling if I had dialogue."

In Los Angeles, he met Bill Cosby who gave him what Roundtree terms "the best advice I'd ever had"—get dramatic training. He joined the Negro Ensemble Company, modeled to pay the rent, studied with a drama coach and started doing off-Broadway plays, He was with the Philadelphia company of "The Great White Hope" when he answered an open-audition call for the coveted role of "Shaft," and won it over hundreds of other actors. Suddenly he was in the fishbowl life of a black superstar.

"It's hard to see how a fish lives until you get in the bowl yourself," Roundtree says. "It's hard to fathom the idea that the fish just might have a hard time surviving, that movie peoples, lives aren't what they read in those fan magazines. There are a lot of hassles and pressures. But I enjoy most of it and wouldn't want to go back."

He's pleased with the popular reception of the Shaft series and shrugs off some critics who complained that it lacked the violence and sex of the movie version. "I look at it this way—we can tell a complete story, we'll have action and you'll know something about the characters. I see nothing wrong in Shaft working out something with his brains instead of his fists. Can you imagine what would happen if we did make it as violent as the movies?"

He sees the role as opening up new career directions. He's looking forward some day to doing comedy and possibly, four or five years from now, directing.

It's a day for 'horror' stories in gas crisis

An irate motorist threatened a service station attendant with violence when the gas pump went dry Saturday before he got his $3 quota. One of several thousand drivers using federal government "gasoline price watch" telephones complained he had to pay $6.42 for two gallons of gasoline.

Police and government agents told "horror" stories of the gasoline shortage as motorists in some parts of the country found themselves in what could be one of the worst of 1973's gasless days, with the promise of worse to come in 1974.

Service station operators were locking up their pumps and going home in several East Coast and Midwest cities as they used up the last of their reduced monthly allocations. No fresh supplies were expected until next Wednesday, the day after New Year's and the end of the holiday season.

Some of the most bizarre tales came from New York City. Three young gunmen hijacked a truck carrying 3,000 gallons of gasoline, police said.

One man told state officials, who set up special "hotlines" along with federal government agents to receive complaints of price gouging, that he had to pay $6.42 for two gallons of gas at a Manhattan service station. Another said his car's gas tank was topped off with water, and he was still charged.

In another case a driver lined up with other motorists outside a Staten Island, N.Y., filling station for an hour to buy his $3 quota of gas. When he got to the front, the pump ran out out after he received only $1.84 worth.

Police said the service station wouldn't give him gas from another pump unless he went back to the end of the line, so he left. He returned a few minutes later and threatened the attendant with a gun, but left without getting any more.

In Chicago, attendants at one string of stations were reported to have taped the meter to block out the price, charged $1 a gallon and pocketed the difference—more than 50 cents a gallon.

Acting Attorney General Robert H. Bork ordered U.S. attorneys across the country to go to the homes of judges if necessary to get court restraining orders against service stations gouging motorists.

The Internal Revenue Service set up price watch complaint centers. Service stations charging more than allowed under federal price ceilings are ordered to rollback prices and face a $2,500 fine. One oil company cut off supplies to a station that charged 99.9 cents a gallon at Christmas.

In Baltimore, IRS official Gloria Tanski estimated that they received more than 140 calls in the first three hours of the New Year's holiday weekend.

Prepaid program to guarantee medical attention at far less cost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon signed a law Saturday which offers families a less costly way of receiving good medical attention from doctors.

The measure provides $250 million in direct subsidies over the next four years to demonstrate the feasibility of a national network of health maintenance organizations (HMO's), the formal name for prepaid group health plans.

These are centers where for a single annual fee a family is assured of receiving a year's health care no matter how frequently a doctor's services are required.

Backers believe HMO's promote better health since people no longer need to be wary of the cost of seeing a doctor at the first sign of ill health.

The HMO's also have a profit motive to practice preventive medicine —looking after patients when they are well so that they are less apt to become ill.

The chief drawback from the viewpoint of many laymen is that they are not certain to see the same doctor on every visit.

Those HMO's now in existence often are staffed by a large number of specialists so patients on each visit are sent to the doctor best qualified to treat their ailments.

One response

In a statement released here and in San Clemente, Calif., where the bill was signed, Nixon said the HMO method "represents one response to the challenge of finding new and better ways to improve health care for the people of this country."

Caspar Weinberger, secretary of health, education and welfare, told a White House briefing that on the average families could expect to spend less for their health care under HMO's than they do under the existing system of a fee for every visit to the doctor.

Dr. Charles Edwards, assistant HEW secretary, said HMO's could provide "the continuity of care that a lot of people don't have on today's health scene."

Kennedy a leader

The bill was pushed through Congress by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., chairman of the Senate health subcommittee. Nixon said it was welcome though "somewhat broader than the administration's proposal."

The measure provides funds for planning studies and the heavy start-up costs for creating HMO's and subsidies to meet deficits for their first three years of operation.

It lists benefits any HMO must offer which go beyond what most now in operation provide. These include preventive dental care for children, treatment for alcohol and drug abuse and "crisis intervention mental health services."

The bill also authorizes loan guarantees for profitable HMO's in "medically underserved" areas. It authorizes HEW to contract for HMO-type health services for Indians and migratory workers.

Trucker pledges end to 'tie-ups'

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — J. W. "River Rat" Edwards, the unofficial co-ordinator of recent trucker blockades, Saturday became the official leader of a new organization of independent truck drivers and promptly pledged there would be no more intentional truck tie-ups.

"Road blocks have already served their purpose," Edwards said. "Another road block would only serve hardship on the country and at this time we cannot see where shutdown would do the owner-operators or the country any good."

Representatives of independent truck owner-operators, drivers and smaller common carriers gathered here for a meeting that stretched into the early morning hours Saturday. The result was formation of the Owner-Operators and Independent Drivers of America, Limited.

Edwards, the Overland Park, Kan., driver who led trucker delegations to Washington recently, was elected president. Headquarters was established in Kansas City.

Any exemption from federal gas rationing? -- very few -- if any

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal energy official said Saturday the government anticipates granting very few exemptions if gasoline rationing is imposed.

Doctors, clergymen —even congressmen —will have to buy coupons from other drivers if they cannot live within their ration, the official, John Hill, told UPI.

Hill, an assistant to presidential energy adviser William E. Simon said the key to avoiding the black markets and administrative troubles that plagued gasoline rationing in World War II is the negotiability of coupons. Motorists who don't need all they get will be able to sell their surplus coupons for whatever price they can command.

The question of exemptions and exceptions should be largely settled by the "white market" system under which rationing coupons could be sold or exchanged freely by those who receive them.

"The reason for having transferable coupons is to reduce the black market, and avoid having the government make all those distinctions between professional classes," Hill added.

"In World War II, you had to have a large administrative force just deciding special appeals and such."

Hill said "We just really want to take care of health matters and emergencies."

There may be some exemptions or higher allotments of coupons for health or emergency reasons, but not many, he said.

"Foreign diplomats will probably get an extra allotment of coupons. They might not speak English well, and car pooling may be difficult, so theirs would be a special burden," Hill said.

Although the rationing plan envisions giving coupons only to licensed drivers 18 and over, Hill said there would be exemptions on a case-by-case basis for younger teen-agers who are their family's major breadwinners "or have jobs critical to their support."

"We will be very severe there," he said. There are many more youngsters whose driving is mostly for fun or to school. They could buy coupons from buddies, he said.

Woman hurt in car mishap

CLAREMONT — A 39-year-old Claremont woman is in serious condition in Pomona Valley Community Hospital following an accident Saturday afternoon on Mountain Avenue, north of Baseline Road.

Eddie Ray Weber of 3000 N. Mountain Ave. underwent surgery for major injuries suffered when she was struck by a car driven by Annanette Burns, 47, of 707 Valparaiso Drive at about 4:50 p.m.

Details of the accident were not immediately available and a highway patrol spokesman said the accident is still under investigation.

IRS 'absolves' Nixon's campaigners of taxes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Henry S. Reuss said Saturday the Internal Revenue Service had "absolved" President Nixon's re-election committee of taxes due on $18 million in stock contributions.

An IRS decision that the committee must pay taxes only on profits from stock sold after Oct. 3, 1972, will mean that only about $3.4 million of the estimated $18 million to $20 million in stock contributions is taxable, Reuss said.

Reuss said precise figures were not available because the original purchase price of the stock given by numerous contributors is not recorded. But he said the profit from the stock sale "is in the millions."

The Wisconsin Democrat quoted a General Accounting Office report on stock contributions prepared at his request as saying:

"Since 1965, the federal government has held repeatedly that political committees, like ordinary citizens, must pay taxes on capital gain income. Nevertheless Republican fund raisers throughout 1972 solicited contributions of appreciated stock with the promises that such gifts would not be subject to capital gains taxes."

Reuss said the GAO report showed "the IRS simply absolved the (Nixon) committee of taxes due on over $18 million of stock contributions."

The report concluded that the IRS ruling that taxes be paid only on stock sold during the last month of the campaign "violates the spirit of the tax code, previous IRS rulings, and the good faith of candidates and committee who have paid income tax on capital gains for years."

One major stock donor identified by the GAO was Joseph Segel, President of the Franklin Mint, who gave $101,600 in stocks. Reuss noted the Franklin Mint was subsequently given the contract to make and sell 1973 inaugural medals.

Britain's unemployed nears 1 million

3-day work week to begin

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's unemployment rolls may rise to one million persons by Monday —the start of the emergency three-day work week—as a result of layoffs caused by fuel shortages, industry sources said Saturday.

The economic crisis the government has described as the country's gravest since World War II showed no signs of easing as leaders of Britain's 260,000 coal miners postponed further talks on their overtime ban until next Wednesday.

Government figures published this week showed 544,000 persons eligible for unemployment benefits have been laid off because of the energy crisis. A Department of Employment spokesman said many others have been put out of work but are not counted because they had their own guaranteed income agreement with employers and were not eligible for government benefits.

The country's fuel stocks have dwindled as a result of the miners' ban on overtime work in a demand for higher pay and similar actions by electric power workers and train engineers who haul coal, when coupled with Arab oil cutbacks. The government has had to impose the three-day work week in order to save stocks of energy.

One ray of hope was the decision Friday by 18,000 electric power engineers to call off a two-month old ban on overtime work. This should enable the Electricity Generating Board to switch power across the nation to where it is most needed.

Government controls on the use of electricity, unusually mild weather and cuts in use by domestic consumers have slowed the rate of depletion of coal stocks at the power stations.

However, the amount of coal available at power stations has been reduced from 16 million tons on Nov. 24 to 13 million tons a month later.

Lawrence Daly, general secretary of the Mineworkers Union, said Saturday the three-day working week is a panic measure designed to turn the public against the miners. He contended that coal stocks "are probably higher than at this time last year."

16,000 gallons of fuel oil spill as freighter rams Navy ship

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI) — A Navy cargo ship and a Liberian freighter collided in predawn fog Saturday, rupturing the Navy ship's fuel tanks and spewing 16,000 gallons of oil 11 miles off the beaches of scenic Big Sur.

No injuries were reported among the 50-man civilian crew aboard the Navy's Private Joseph F. Merrill, or the civilian freighter Pearl Venture, which sustained only minor bow damage.

Twelve crewmen were removed from the crippled Naval vessel, which reported "severe damage" to the stern section. The 12 were returned to Richmond, Calif. aboard the Standard Oil tanker the H.B. Collier because they were not needed during salvaging operations.

"The Pearl Venture hit the Private Merrill at an angle towards the stern, just missing the engine room. A moment later would have been disastrous," said Cmder. C. M. Mortensen, the Coast Guard's oil pollution coordinator.

The collision off Cape Martin, 160 miles south of San Francisco, created a "medium size" oil spill that ran two miles north of the ship in a path 50 yards wide.

A Coast Guard cutter with spill cleanup equipment steamed to the area to prevent the oil from washing onto Central California beaches.

An ocean going tug, the U.S.S. Gear, enroute from Los Angeles, was expected to reach the damaged vessel and will attempt to tow the Private Merrill to San Francisco for repairs.

Hundreds face drug charges, languish in jails

U.S. youths find hard life abroad

By United Press International

The life sentences given three young Americans last week in Turkey for smuggling hashish underscores the plight of hundreds of similar youths languishing in jails around the world on similar charges.

U.S. State Department statistics show there are an estimated 873 Americans in foreign prisons on drug charges, but Friday's sentences were among the most severe ever handed down to Americans.

Those sentenced for smuggling 225 pounds of hashish into Turkey from Syria were Joanne Marie McDaniel, 30, of Coos Bay, Ore.; Catherine Zenz, 29, of Lancaster, Wis.; and Robert Hubbard, 23, whose hometown was not known.

Sentenced to death

The three had been sentenced to death, but then were given life terms because of "extenuating circumstances," the Turkish government said.

The State Department in Washington said the three life sentences were the first they had on record for American citizens on drug charges.

The longest previous sentence on record was for an American, William Hayes, who was sentenced to 30 years in Turkey, officials said.

There are about 200 Americans imprisoned in Europe and the Middle East on drug charges. Others are imprisoned in Canada, Mexico and other parts of the world.

Some are confined to windowless cells in what are described as unsanitary, disease-ridden jails in Spain.

One of the most recent cases of an American arrested overseas on drug charges was that of a 19-year-old man two days before Christmas in Frankfurt, Germany.

The American, who was not identified, claimed on arrival by air from Bogota, Colombia, he had broken a leg. But police said doctors X-rayed his cast, found his leg intact and discovered several bags of heroin and marijuana concealed inside.

U.S. embassies say there is virtually nothing they can do about the plight of such persons; when an American is in another country he is subject to the laws of that country, with no exceptions except deplomatic immunity.

A U.S. State Department spokesman summed up the drug sentencing situtatiion like this:

"Young travelers better know what they are up against when they use drugs. What happens to you in court depends on where you are and how the officials of that country feel on a particular day.

"If a judge feels particularly hostile to hippies, or drugs, or even just Americans, then you might find yourself in the position of the mouse being hit with a sledgehammer."

Stalin plotted mass execution of Jews, Solzhenitsyn claims

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nobel prize-winning novelist Alexander Solzhenitsyn, in a new book described by the publisher as his "most politically dangerous," charges that Russian dictator Josef Stalin plotted mass executions and enslavement of Jews that may have been thwarted only by his death.

In an expose of the Soviet secret police, prison camp and terror system, in the book called "The Gulag Archipelago, 1918-1956," Solzhenitsyn wrote that Stalin in 1953 planned public executions in Moscow to whip up anti-Jewish sentiment to such a pitch that the entire Jewish population of three million could be transported to Siberia allegedly for their own safety.

But in an angry debate with some of his close associates who opposed the plan, Stalin suffered a stroke from which he died, according to the New York Times which Saturday published the first of three excerpts of the book, the English version of which is copyrighted by Harper & Row.

The 606-page description of the Soviet prison system from the days of the Bolshevik revolution to 1956 was smuggled out of the Soviet Union. It is being published in the original Russian by YMCA Press in Paris, and will appear in English, German, French, Swedish and Spanish editions.

Publisher Jean Morozov said the book was "the most politically dangerous" Solzhenitsyn has written and said he thought it was part of the writer's last literary testament.

Solzhenitsyn lives just outside the Soviet capital under what he has described as threat of exile in Siberia. He has complained Soviet authorities have compelled him to live apart from his wife.

In Moscow, a Foreign Ministry spokesman said he could not discuss the matter.

Boris D. Pankin, head of the new Soviet copyright agency, said: "Only recently I discussed that question with a UPI correspondent. I answered all his questions, and now I do not have time to go into that."

Climber who scaled Tetons 50 years ago tries again

GRAND TETON PARK, Wyo. (UPI) — Paul Petzoldt, who first scaled rugged Grand Teton Peak nearly 50 years ago, Saturday led 25 climbers in his ninth New Year's assault on the 13,770-foot mountain in Northwest Wyoming.

Petzoldt, who first scaled the peak in Grand Teton National Park July 25, 1924, is leading graduates and instructors from his national outdoor leadership school at Lander, Wyo., in the attempt to reach the top by New Year's. They have reached the peak only three times previously.

The snow caves which will be dug at the 11,000-foot level will serve as the base camp for the final attempt to reach the peak, which is whipped by 70 knot winds. Temperatures can drop to as low as 40-below zero.

"We can go to the top of the mountain and back to the snow caves in one day," said Petzoldt, who personally has reached the summit only once in the past attempts.

Most of the climbers stay in reserve while a few makes the difficult climb to the summit. Five climbers reached the peak last year.

"On the day they made the summit, the temperatures were not too severe —only about 10 below," Petzoldt said. "It was snowing and foggy, and they were in the clouds all day."

The Petzoldt climbing party carries radios to stay in contact with park headquarters during the climb.

Franco appoints prime minister

MADRID (UPI) — Interior Minister Carlos Arias Navarro, former chief of the national security police, was named Saturday by Generalissimo Francisco Franco as the new prime minister of Spain nine days after the assassination of his predecessor.

Political sources said the appointment of Arias, who headed the Policia de Seguridad—Spain's equivalent of the FBI—for eight years, may signal a sharp turn further right by Franco.

Arias modernized and reequipped the police and was coauthor of the tough Public Order laws as head of the national security forces.

5 Arab terrorists questioned

KUWAIT (UPI) — Investigators from the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) Saturday began questioning five Arabs who killed 32 persons in an attack at the Rome airport and hijacking of a West German Lufthansa airliner, government sources said.

The PLO, political arm of the Arab guerrilla movement, joined Kuwaiti police who have been interrogating the hijackers since they surrendered here.

Government sources said the joint investigation team was expected to make recommendations on what should be done with the gunmen, who carried out the bloodiest Arab guerrilla attack to date.

The newspaper Al Siyassah said the hijackers would leave Kuwait before the end of the year, probably to stand trial before a Palestinian court in Syria.

The five gunmen, claiming to represent the Palestinian guerrilla movement, firebombed a parked Pan American World Airways jetliner in Rome Dec. 17 and then hijacked the Lufthansa plane to Athens and Kuwait.

David O. Fleming, union leader, dies

DAVID O. FLEMING

POMONA — David O. Fleming, a printer who retired from the Progress-Bulletin in 1960 ending a 53-year career, died Friday afternoon at Pomona Valley Community Hospital following a three-year illness.

Mr. Fleming, of 1629 S. Park Ave., worked at the Progress-Bulletin 14 years.

He was born March 26, 1895, in Pittsburgh, Pa. He began his career as an errand boy on a Pittsburgh newspaper in 1906. He became a journeyman printer in 1914. He moved to Michigan in 1920 and worked there until moving to Pomona in 1946.

Mr. Fleming was a member of the Westmont Methodist Church, the Pomona Masonic Lodge and Pomona Chapter 110 of the Order of the Eastern Star.

He was active many years in the typographical union and the credit union.

He was secretary-treasurer of the Southern California Typographical Conference for 23 years, retiring in 1970. He was treasurer-manager and a member of the board of directors of the Printing Office Employes Credit Union in Pomona.

He served as legislative information secretary and was a past president of the Mt. Baldy Chapter of the California Credit Union League. He was a former president and member of the board of the California Credit Union League Associated Services. He was a former director of the California Credit Union League, and a former chairman and member of the Union Printers Home Committee of the International Typographical Union. He also served as a member of the laws committee of the union.

He served as a delegate to 11 conventions of the International Typographical Union. He served 10 years as president of the Pomona - San Gabriel Valleys Typographical Union No. 994.

Mr. Fleming was former secretary-treasurer and lobbyist for the California Typographical Legislative Conference, and a delegate to the Southern California Typographical Conference.

He was elected a lifetime delegate to the Southern California Typographical Conference in July of 1970, when he retired as conference secretary-treasurer.

Surviving are his widow, Myrtle J.; two daughters, Mrs. Grace Ware of Clarklake, Mich., and Mrs. Emma Jean Brinkley of Chino; a son, David O. Jr., of Flat Rock, Mich.; a step-son, William H. Osier of Des Moines, Iowa; a sister, Mrs. Mabie Brooks of Pennsylvania; five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Services will be held in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona Monday at 1:30 p.m. Dr. Paul F. Huebner of Claremont will officiate. Joe L. Bellot will conduct th[illegible] ritual.

Private burial w[illegible] [illegible]mona Cemetery.

Mrs. Maria Schoeps

CLAREMONT — Mrs. Maria Schoeps, wife of Ernest J. Schoeps of 3105 Padua Ave., died Friday at her home following a long illness.

Mrs. Schoeps was born Jan. 23, 1914, in Czechoslovakia. She came to the United States in 1960 from Germany. She had lived in the Pomona area since that time.

She was a member of Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic Church.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Trudy Callison of Claremont and Mrs. Rosemarie Cundiff of Mira Loma; a sister, Mrs. Rosa Wick of Bavaria; and four grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited tonight at 8 at Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. Requiem Mass will be celebrated Monday at 9 a.m. at Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic Church.

Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery in Pomona.

Death toll in India reaches 316 as cold wave continues

NEW DELHI (UPI) — A two-week-old cold wave, which has claimed over over 300 lives so far, continued its chilling sweep through northern and northeastern India Saturday with little prospect of relief in the next few days.

While the Kashmir valley lay freezing at 32 degrees Fahrenheit the temperature fell to a regional all-time low of 24.8 degrees in the plains at Churu (Rajasthan), the weather office said.

The death toll stood at 316 with most of the fatalities recorded in the eastern state of Bihar where 200 persons are reported to have died due to exposure.

In Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's home s[illegible]te of Uttar Pradesh, 73 dea[illegible] have been reported in the wor[illegible]r in the 30 years, Indi[illegible]s agencies reported.

New Delhi continued to shiver for the fourth successive day with the night temperature falling to an all-time low for the capital at 34.7 degrees.

'Electric blanket' fire causes $22,000 loss

CLAREMONT — An electric blanket which burst into flames was blamed for a bedroom fire which caused an estimated $22,000 loss at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen L. Baker at 650 Smoketree Drive.

The home, appraised at $42,000 according to the county fire department, is in the county area north of Claremont.

Battalion Chief Orval Dame supervised firemen from engine companies 102, 62 and 104 who battled the blaze, confining the fire to the attic, one bedroom and a hallway.

The call was turned in at 11:02 p.m. Friday.

Firemen quoted Baker as saying his wife turned on the electric blanket and was preparing for bed when it burst into flames. Firemen said Baker attempted to fight the fire with a garden hose before they arrived.

Loss was estimated at $18,000 to the structure and $4,000 to contents.

Obituaries

Mrs. Mary E. Egan

POMONA — Mrs. Mary E. Egan of 448 E. Alvarado St. died Friday afternoon in a local convalescent hospital following a three-week illness.

Mrs. Egan was born May 18, 1886, in Madrid, Iowa. She came to Pomona from Iowa in 1972. She was a member of the First Christian Church.

Surviving are a son, Marshall of Duarte; two daughters, Mrs. Doreen Townsend of Montclair and Mrs. Nellie Edmonds of Twentynine Palms; three grandchildren, Debra Townsend of Montclair, Mrs. Judy Alkire of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. Joan Egan of Pasadena; and two great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Monday at 3 p.m. in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. The Rev. Morgan Sly, pastor of the First Christian Church, will officiate.

Private entombment will be in Pomona Mausoleum.

Manuel L. Mattos

CHINO — Manuel L. Mattos of 12733 Central Ave. died Friday in an Upland convalescent hospital following a long illness.

Mr. Mattos was born Feb. 19, 1903 in Portugal. He came to Chino from Sacramento four months ago, where he was a career civil service employe. He had been a member of St. Margaret Catholic Church here.

He is survived by a brother, Jose L. of Chino, and several nieces and nephews.

A Rosarywill be recited at 8:30 p.m. Sunday in Griffith Mortuary Chapel. A Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. Monday in St. Margaret Church. Burial will be in Bellevue Cemetery, Ontario.

Helen Woodcock

LA PUENTE — Mrs. Helen D. Woodcock of 16250 Dalark St. died Friday at a Glendora convalescent home following a long illness.

Mrs. Woodcock was born June 10, 1886, in Muncie, Ind.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Marie Morrison of Pomona, four grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited tonight at 7:30 p.m. at St. Francis of Rome Catholic Church. Mass of the Christian Burial will be celebrated at the church Monday at 9:30 a.m.

Burial will be in Queen of Heaven Cemetery in Covina. Blackman Mortuary, Pomona, is in charge of arrangements.

Lowell F. Cook

POMONA — Lowell F. Cook of 1401 W. 9th St. died Friday morning at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Mr. Cook was born Sept. 20, 1896, in Lawrenceville, Ill. He came to Pomona from Mesa, Ariz., in 1969. He was a world War I Army veteran.

Mr. Cook was a member of the Oriental Lodge No. 33 of the Masons, and the Scottish Rite, in Chicago, Ill., and the Elzaribah Temple in Phoenix, Ariz.

Surviving are his widow, Ann H.; a son, William C. of Pomona; two sisters, Mrs. Cora Coffee and Mrs. Adda Brown, both of Mesa, Ariz.; and two grandchildren.

Services will be held Monday at 11:30 p.m. at Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. Dr. Paul F. Huebner of Claremont will officiate.

Solutions to energy crisis flood Simon's office daily

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal energy chief William A. Simon gets about 1,500 letters a day from people with suggestions for solving the energy crisis—like the man who urged householders to burn buffalo chips.

Recalling pioneer days, when Americans on the great plains sometimes burned buffalo manure for fuel, the writer told Simon "if it was good enough for our ancestors" it ought to be good enough now as a substitute for coal and oil.

A woman telephoned the Federal Energy Office and asked what could be done about her automobile. A puzzled official asked what had happened to the car.

"You told me to stop using gas so I parked the car, and now the police have towed it away,' the woman said.

Inventors are swamping the energy office with ideas. A man in Oklahoma offered his ''electro plasma gravity hydrogen fusing reactor."

One inventor wound up his letter by explaining he was motivated by patriotic reasons but that "I would be less than honest if I do not add that I expect to be well paid."

A motorist complained that he was trying to observe the President's request to hold to a 50-mile-an-hour speed limit, but police had arrested him for driving 50 in a 35 mile-an-hour speed zone.

Open House de LULAC

Oficial federal visito aqui

POMONA — El Centro Educacional de LULAC en Pomona tuvo su "Open House" el 15 de diciembre de 1973 a las 3 de la tarda en el salon de la iglesia del Sagrado Corazon.

Como invitado de honor estuvo el Doctor Henry Ramirez, director del "Cabinet Committee for the Spanish-Speaking" en Washington, D.C.

El Doctor Ramirez hablo de la importancia de la educacion para la gente de habla espanol.

Otros oradores fueron el Senor Ernesto Robles, director ejecutivo de los Centro Nacionales de Education de LULAC y el Senor Fidel Gonzalez, director estatal de la organizacion de LULAC en California.

El Senor Ernesto Robles hablo de la importancia de tener mas Centros para que los estudiantes de habla espanol obtengan la informacion necesaria para entrar a las universidades.

El Senor Fidel Gonzalez hablo tocante la organizacion de LULAC en el estado.

Tambien huvo una exhibicion de arte Mexicana por artistas de la area de Pomona. Se presentaron los grupos de ballet Folklorico de Pomona High School y Cal Poly. Se termino la fiesta con una comida al estilo mexicano.

Curso para adultos comenzara en Enero

ROWLAND HEIGHTS — Preparacion para empleo en la industria de fabricas de ropa—cual esta creciendo rapidamente—se ha sido mas facil para residentes de este local.

Un curso de Costura de Maquinas de Fuerza, co-ofrecida por Con-Stan Industries y la Escuela de Educacion Adulta de Rowland, ha hayado posiciones para los graduantes. Un curso nuevo comenzara el 7 de Enero.

Inscripciones se tomaran durante el tiempo del curso. El curso se tomara seis semanas, pero estudiantes que muestran aptitud superior podran completar los requerimientos para empleo en menos tiempo.

Aplicaciones seran tomadas por adelantado en la oficina de Educacion Adulta de Rowland, 1830 Nogales St. Si se requiere mas informacion, pueden llamar 965-5975, de las 9 a.m. hasta las 9 p.m., Lunes a Jueves.

Paje es de Puerto Rico

WASHINGTON D.C.—La Srita. Siglinda Sanchez de Hoboken N. J. es la primer persona de origen puerto riqueno en tomar el cargo de paje en la Casa de Represeniates de E. U.

Su promovedor para ese cargo fue el Congresista Dominick V. Daniels, Democrata de la cuidad de New Jersey.

La Srita Sanchez se mudo a la ciudad de Hoboken con sus padres el Sr. y Sra. Elias Sanchez cuando ella tenia 6 anos de edad de su tierra Puerto Rico.

El Centro NSC ofrece variedad de servicios

POMONA — South Hills Neighborhood Service Center (N.S.C.) es la unica agencia en la area de Pomona que esta activamente envuelta en proveer medios para hacer frente a las necesidades de la comunidad.

Situada en una comunidad de minorias que reciben bajos sueldos, el centro, dividido en departamentos, ofrece servicios de: empleos, servicios sociales, salubridad, cuidado de ninos y nutricion, juventud y ciudadanos retirados.

Empleo: Este departamento ofrece a personas que han sido senaladas de tener desventaja economica y social viviendo en Pomona, un servicio de empleo eficaz y accesible; se lleva a cabo cinco dias de la semana trabajando juntamente con el Departamento de Recursos Humanos e industrias locales.

Este departamento tambien trabaja para sensibilizar a los patrones publicos y privados de sus metodos uniformes de emplear y dar pruebas a tales candidatos.

Servicios sociales: Este departamento suple a los ciudadanos de Pomona con un servicio que provee ayuda de emergencia en la area de comida, prevencion para evitar que se corten los servicios, ropa, ropa requerida en ciertos trabajos, transportacion, muebles y ayuda para la renta.

Salubridad: La Clinica Preventiva Medica de la Comunidad N. S. C. es un nuevo paso para administrar las necesidades de salubridad a los economicamente pobres. Es evidente que los metodos tradicionales no estan trabajando.

Hay mucha gente pobre sin atencion medica y muchos de ellos no buscan ayuda solamente que se enfermen. Esta clinica esta situada en el centro de una comunidad que recibe sueldos bajos, facilmente accesible a los ciudadanos locales.

El horario es durante la noche para permitir que asistan aquellos que de otra manera no asistieran. Para aquellos que no les sea posible pagar el donative de $1.00, el servicio es gratis.

Cuidado de ninos y nutricion: El proposito de N. S. C. Escuela de Ninos es de ayudar a la madre, que sostiene el hogar trabajando, con el cuidado de ninos a un costo nominal. El costo va de acuerdo con el sueldo del participante.

Una parte importante en la operacion de esta escuela, es un curso de estudios que esta orientado para proveer un enriquecimiento cultural y academico. Un programa de Nutricion tambien se provee que consiste de un desayuno caliente, lonche y dos "snacks" diariamente.

Juventud: El Centro de Desarrollo para la Juventud trabaja con jovenes de siete a diez y siete anos de edad. Especializa en ensenanza academica, aconsejar, recreacion y enriquecimiento cultural.

Ciudadanos retirados: El Club Darcus de Ciudadanos Retirados se formo y es operado por ellos mismos.

Se compone de un programa nutritivo que alimenta a muchos ciudadanos de sueldos bajos. Tambien se sirven comidas a domicilio a aquellas personas que no pueden salir.

Anidiendo a los servicios para estos ciudadanos: ayuda domestica, compras y transportacion.

El Centro esta situado en 1170 West Fremont St. en Pomona. Para informacion y servicio, favor de llamar al director, Ken Steward, al numero 623-8602.

Programa SSI tendra efecto el 1 de Enero

POMONA — El Centro de Informacion y Referibles para Ciudadanos Retirados recuerda a los residentes que un programa federal de ingresos suplementales, reconocido como "SSI", para personas de 65 anos o mas, para ciegos y para invalidos tendra efecto el martes.

Bajo este programa, una persona puede tener $1,500 o una pareja $2,250, en dinero efectivo o en ahorros, mas ciertas consideraciones de trabajo, y todavia tener derecho al programa.

El ajuste viene por medio de la Oficina del Seguro Social.

El Centro tambien alerta a todo dueno de casa de la rebaja de $1,750 de la valuacion calculada de su propiedad. La noticia de esto sera enviada al contribuyente en la primavera y las aplicaciones deben de llenarse para el 15 de Abril de 1974.

Comenzando el 15 de Mayo, el Centro espera tener ayuda disponible para las formas de contribuciones. Por primer vez, aquellas personas en el programa de Old Age Security (OAS) pueden ser consideradas para un reembolso parcial.

El Centro, operado por Pomona Valley Commission on Aging, esta situado en el cuarto numero 120 del Municipal Court Building en el Civic Center Plaza.

El Centro esta abierto de lunes a viernes de las 10:00 a.m. a mediodia. Hay ayuda bilingue por parte de voluntarios. Para mas informacion, favor de llamar al Centro al numero 628-6811, extension 279.

ACTION LINE

To ask help in solving problems with which you have been unsuccessful, write to Action Line, The Progress-Bulletin, P. O. Box 2708, Pomona, Calif. 91766. Sign your full name, address and phone number and include copies (not the original) of receipts or other documentation possible. If your letter is published, only your initials will be used.

Hearing aid problem solved satisfactorily

I am writing to Action Line in hopes that you may be able to help my parents with their problem.

They purchased a hearing aid for my mother nearly a year ago.

The former dealer for the hearing aid company has passed away. My mother had the aid two months before he died. When he was told that it wasn't the one she had been fitted with, he said he wasn't sure but that he may have given her a used hearing aid.

We are inclined to believe this because the serial number is different from the guarantee number by one digit.

When my parents went to the new representative, he said the problem was all in my mother's head and tried to sell her another hearing aid. He also made my mother two ear molds but they didn't fit properly.

My mother has been using a hearing aid for over 30 years. This is the first time she has had a serious problem.

We have sent two letters to the service department of the company but haven't received any answer. Therefore we are turning to you for help.—B.C., Montclair.

We wrote to the hearing aid company. We received no direct reply but you tell us that thanks to Action Line, your mother is able to hear.

The company repaired the hearing aid at no cost to your parents. The problem proved to be, not in your mother's mind, but in the central switch of the hearing aid.

Your parents have been assured that the company will continue to take care of any problems that might arise.

We are glad that the holiday sounds are coming in clearly.

Please tackle the Veterans Administration for me. I am at a complete standstill and if it were not for an exceptional landlord I would not have a home.

I am two months behind in my rent and also very late in paying for the utilities due to a financial problem and not unwillingness to pay. —L. I., Pomona.

Examination of papers you sent to us disclosed that you are one of two women claiming to be the widow of a veteran who died in 1971.

You were receiving payments until the other woman filed "a notice of disagreement" from the VA's determination that she may not be considered as a widow of the veteran.

When we contacted the VA office, we were told that the other woman would be allowed 30 days to file an appeal.

Since then, the appeal has been filed. The case has been forwarded to the Board of Veteran Appeals in Washington, D. C., for a decision.

I answered an ad with a $5 deposit for a home correspondence course in tax preparing.

In return I was sent a book. I opened it but sent it right back the same day. I asked to be canceled out.

The next thing I knew the company fined me another $10 for cancellation.

Exhausted from frustration, I mailed the fee as I was afraid the company would keep adding to the amount.

I asked for a refund but the firm never bothered to answer. Have I paid $15 for nothing? Is the company making a mint from people like me? —B. W., Montclair.

You told us you had not signed a contract. We sent the firm a letter asking for a refund, at least, of the additional $10 you had paid.

The company informed us that it has refunded the entire $15.

You sent us a greeting card with a note of thanks, telling us you thought the money was gone for good.

A NEW LIFE

Admonished by Judge Pfau to stay productive in retirement, Bradofsky leaves the courthouse to start a new life.

Only two homes in '73

No building boom in Montclair

MONTCLAIR — This city stood as an oasis this year in the construction of new residential developments.

As hundreds of new homes and apartments were being built in surrounding cities, only an occasional hammer and power saw could be heard here.

Officials reported issuing only two building permits for single-family homes and 22 permits for apartment houses.

These apartment houses, however, have not been completed. They are located west of the Montclair Plaza. Completion was delayed by a fire which damaged three of the structures.

In comparison with other West End cities, Chino is projecting 767 single-family homes for the year; Ontario, 268 homes; and Upland, 167 houses.

For apartment houses, 62 have been constructed in Chino and 25 apartment buildings with 258 units are being built in Ontario. Figures for Upland weren't immediately available.

But despite the slow construction, the city's population was reported to have increased by about 1,000 this year to 23,956.

This resulted from families moving this year into homes built during the previous year, said Mayor Harold Hayes . . . He doesn't see much residential growth within the city's present limits due to a lack of available land.

"I can think of only a 10-acre parcel near Montclair High School that could be developed for homes," Hayes added.

He reported, however, there is open land south of Mission Boulevard which lies within Montclair's zone of influence for future annexations.

"But at the present time, Montclair is pretty stable in its population growth," said Hayes.

Mike Loehr, the city's director of community development, said there had been inquiries regarding several residential developments for that area south of Holt Avenue.

He cited two main reasons for the small number of residential units constructed this year.

"Most of the residential areas within the city are developed with single-family homes and there is no large acreage left north of Holt Avenue.

"Also, the city has had a building moratorium for that area south of Holt Avenue pending completion of an environmental impact report for the Ontario International Airport." That moratorium expired this month.

A moratorium also had an effect on new apartment units being constructed, he added. The 22 buildings constructed this year were the first in the past five to seven years due to a moratorium imposed while a new ordinance was being developed, said Loehr.

A slowdown in single-family homes was indicated in 1971 when permits were issued for only 52 such homes. There were no apartment building permits.

Montclair, observed Loehr, does not have a high rate of growth.

This is substantiated by a recent population report issued by the San Bernardino planning department.

Planners estimated the city's number of residents increased from 22,546 in April, 1970, to 23,956 last July—a gain of 1,410.

The number of dwelling units during same period increased by 549 from 6,636 to 7,185.

'74 will be a gloomy year, says clairvoyant

POMONA — Clairvoyant Grada Hawkins is not optimistic about prospects for the new year.

She sees 1974 as a year of ups and downs with many changes, only a few for the better.

"The cost of living will keep going up and, although the meat strike will end soon, prices will remain high. Gas rationing is possible, but I don't see it as a positive step as yet—it looks like the oil companies have it made," Mrs. Hawkins said.

Mrs. Hawkins says she is gravely concerned for President Nixon.

"Between now and March, it looks like the bottom might fall out from under Mr. Nixon. The month of March looks especially bad for him. He's been under such a strain, his health could fail him."

Mrs. Hawkins will demonstrate her psychic powers at the Pomona Public Library on Wednesday, Jan. 9, starting at 7 p.m.

A year ago, during a library-sponsored program at the City Council Chambers, Mrs. Hawkins made a number of predictions, including that 1973 would be a year for "landslide sales in small cars, many of us may have to get a bicycle."

The library program on Wednesday is being offered free of charge. Because of limited seating, advance reservations will be required. Reservations for tickets may be made by calling 620-2011.

Yule brightened for 12 families by three city groups

POMONA — A dozen Pomona families and some 80 youngsters had a brighter Christmas this year thanks to three Pomona organizations.

Members of the Silvermoon Lodge 105, Silver Star Chapter 89 and the Meridian Fellowship Club recently presented 12 families with Christmas boxes of groceries and sponsored a holiday party for the youngsters at the Lodge Hall on 1022 W. Second St.

Tom B. Jones, worshipful master, and Aileen Nowden, worthy matron, directed the holiday affair.

Everyone shuts down for New Year's—except CHP

With governmental agencies and most businesses closed Tuesday to mark the new year, Pomona Valley residents will be free to enjoy the Rose Parade, gorge themselves on football or hit the Southland's highways for a family holiday.

The California Highway Patrol is reminding motorists, however, that the New Year's Holiday ushers in the state's new 55 mile per hour maximum speed limit and that a full force of officers will be patrolling local freeways to make sure the new limit is observed.

Capt. W. C. Jones, commander of the Claremont CHP office, warns that persons caught driving 65 or 70 miles per hour can expect to be cited.

While all municipal, county, state and federal offices in the valley will be closed Tuesday, it will be business as usual Monday with all offices observing normal hours. The only exception is Montclair City Hall, which will close Monday at noon.

Window service at valley Post Offices will also be closed at noon Monday, while normal home delivery will continue. No deliveries will be made on New Year's Day.

Trash collections in all Pomona Valley communities will be one day late following the Tuesday holiday.

Someone else will smooth path of justice in city—Hymie is retiring

By BOB NAGEY
P-B Staff Writer

In just a short time now, someone else will have to start standing over the oil can that has made the wheels of justice here turn smoothly for the past two score years. Hymie Bradofsky is retiring.

Hymie's is no ordinary retirement. When he turns in his keys to the East District Courthouse Building in Pomona Jan. 1, he will put an end to an era which he himself began as Los Angeles County branch law librarian during the early years of the Great Depression. Two years later, he became a deputy county clerk.

For 35 of those years he was a legal link between the local administration of justice and the Central District in Los Angeles. It was Hyman J. Bradofsky who first brought the county clerk's office to Pomona, along with a part-time Superior Court, in 1933.

Today, in its five-year-old, seven-story building, Pomona sports eight Superior Court judges and three commissioners sitting as judges pro tem, with provisions to add more in the future. Hymie is now removed from the bustle of the county clerk's office, transferred to more quiet, more dignified surroundings as the court clerk of Judge Glenn M. Pfau.

But his dedication to the legal profession which has made him a legend over the past four decades continues.

Only he knows how many aspiring lawyers he has coached through state bar examinations; how many more he has helped through the trying years that followed; how many thousands of marriage licenses, including many, many second generation Pomonans, he has issued during his span here.

He does not talk about the assistance he has given to legal secretaries, but the Pomona Valley-Citrus Legal Secretaries Association has made him an honorary member. A licensed attorney-at-law, he served as secretary-treasurer of the Pomona Valley Bar Association for eight years.

But his credits scarcely stop there. He is a retired lieutenant colonel in the U. S. Air Force, a charter member and former president of the Pomona Junior Chamber of Commerce, serving at different times as a vice president of the state Jaycees, and a director of the national Junior Chamber; and an active member of the Masons, Shriners, Boy Scouts, Pomona Valley Historical Society, the American Legion, the Delta Theta Phi law fraternity, and many others.

He is a recipient of the "Gold Key" award from the National Jaycees, and the holder of the local community's "Outstanding Young man" award for 1939.

Many persons with whom Hymie associated through those organizations and others over the past decades paid tribute to him at lunches, parties and banquets during the past four weeks.

And though some people use associations to judge the value of a man, in Hymie's case that would hardly scratch the surface.

He is a stranger to the 40-hour week and the eight-hour day. His work day often starts before 7 and rarely ends before 6, and he generally is at his desk over the weekend. The vacation he took last summer was his first in 20 years.

His explanation is simple. "I have had what the experts call job satisfaction," he shrugs. "And if I have had any one virtue, it has been that I have been naturally industrious—work, hard work."

That industry came in mighty handy even as a teen-ager, when he had to sell and deliver newspapers to augment the family income.

Hymie, one of five children, was born in New York City to a couple struggling to survive difficult times. His father was a small merchant whose health was poor and the family was frequently forced to travel, finally settling in Los Angeles in 1922.

Hymie put himself through Southwestern University Law School by working as a clerk for the Santa Fe Railroad.

After he passed the bar in 1930, he tried to establish himself as an attorney but the Depression had just struck and as he recalls, "attorneys were selling apples out of boxes."

So when he got a job in the law library, he gladly took it. And when he was offered $55 a month to become a permanent deputy county clerk in Pomona, he accepted.

"People talk about the good old days, "Hymie Bradofsky reminisced. "To me there is no such thing. In the 1930s we had no war, no traffic jams, no population explosion—but we also had no minimum wage, no television, no polio vaccine and no luxuries for the masses, either. It is the speed with which change takes place today that is the major difference between then and now."

Although he feels he has had a satisfying life up to now, he does find fault with it in that "it is too soon over. There is no time for all the challenging endeavors, for the alluring serenities and enchantments of love and friendship, for the thought realms to be explored . . ."

As he moves busily around the courtroom, making notations, answering phone calls, swearing in jurors and witnessess, Hymie does not give the impression of being an introspective person. But if one can slow him down, one finds that he has the humility of a man who has come to terms with himself, who has found his place in the order of things.

He is a warm, soft-spoken man with a heightened sense of integrity, and a deep concern for "what is right." And he has a dry sense of humor which can instantly change into contempt at the sight of sloppy work, irresponsibility, sloth or official gobbledegook.

One of the disappointments of his life is that he will never know whether, had the Depression not come, he might have been an important lawyer or an outstanding judge.

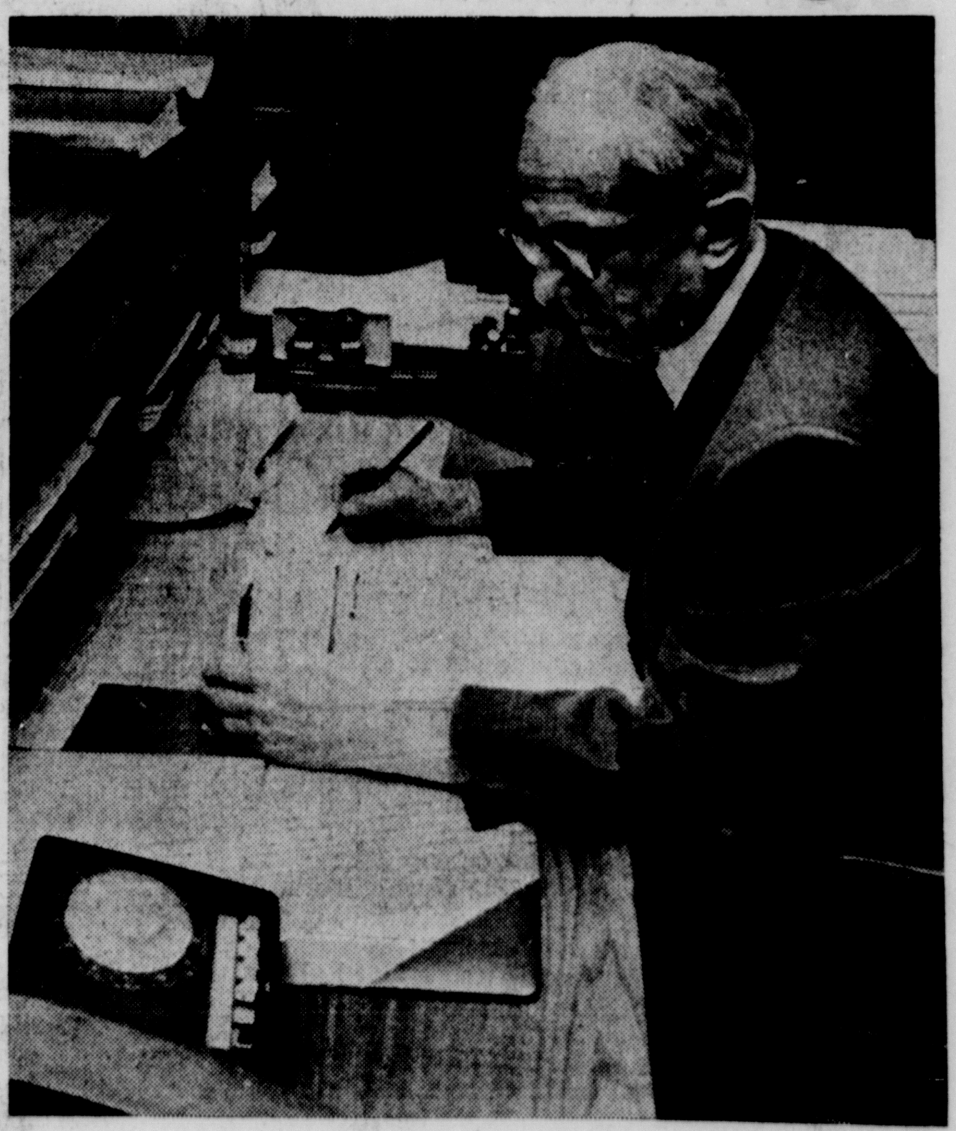
He did serve in the capacity of the second role once in 1956, when because of a judicial need he was drafted for a day to serve as a court commissioner.

"All attorneys present stipulated to my appointment to that post for that session," Hymie recalled. "I disposed of all of the calendar. There wasn't a single appeal."

He says to his knowledge he was the only clerk in the history of the county to be drafted to serve as a court commissioner.

Now that retirement is at hand, Hymie admits he will miss the courtroom atmosphere. "I've got it under my skin. Basically this is what my whole life has been about. I will miss the baffling paradox of people. I will miss all the co-workers."

But he hopes that in retiring from working with the county, he will be able to use his legal knowledge elsewhere so that most of those who have wished him farewell will run into him from time to time.



THE LAST ENTRY

Hyman Bradofsky makes his last entry into the court calendar of Judge Glenn Pfau as he closes 40 years of service with Los Angeles County, most of it in Pomona.

Much too fast, a little too strong

"There's something that doesn't like a wall," said poet Robert Frost. There's also something in the human makeup that doesn't like a computer.

For all the dramatic cost-savings promised by the computer, it can create a wall of customer bad will unless businessmen recognize the public's hositlity toward the electronic monster, warns the international accounting firm of Coopers & Lybrand.

"Computers are basically resented for two reason," says the company in an article in its fall Journal.

"The first is explicit: (The) systems have demonstrated an unresponsiveness to complaints and to special situations for which they have not been programmed.

"The second reason is seldom explicit but poses a much more serious challenge to management: computers tend to close the comfortable gap between theory and practice that nearly everyone takes advantage of at some time or another."

For example, customers are likely to be more outraged at a billing error by computer than a similar error committed by a human being. Moreover, if the computer continues to send out dunning letters before a store can correct the error, customers are likely to take their business elsewhere.

"Nothing exasperates people more than the slowness of automatic systems to react to information," says the Journal. "Given the incredible speed at which computers function, it stands to reason that the monster can perform hundreds of crucial recording or processing actions while it is operating under a misconception before the sapient gnomes who are supposed to control the machine can eliminate the misconception by inserting the necessary data."

Speed is also involved in the second reason computers are resented. A creditor who receives a notice two days after delinquency instead of the 30 to 60 days he is accustomed to may feel the computer "is on top of me."

Similarly, businesses that are used to taking advantage of the time lag between writing checks and having them charged to the bank account — thereby obtaining a short-term, interest-free "loan" — are not likely to appreciate the elimination of this benefit by the greater efficiency of computers.

Among a number of recommendations, the accounting firm suggests that computer users give high priority to setting up error-correcting departments in their automatic data processing systems, as well as building in more flexibility to allow for the inefficiencies of their all-too-human customers.

Does Kohoutek say something to us?

The ordinary reward for getting up at 5:30 on a winter morning is a sense of self-sacrifice.

These days, however, if you look east out the second floor windows of your house, the reward is tangible and immense. You get to see the comet Kohoutek now running at a down-tilt in the predawn sky.

That white blur has a strange majesty to it — maybe it's the majesty of the celestial survivor.

Kohoutek began its journey toward our reward and its rendezvous with the sun several million years ago. Scientists think it may be composed of the primordal matter of which the universe was first formed. That, in itself, is exciting to think about.

But Kohoutek does something else for us.

It resurrects, in the layman, a sense of awe which time, knowledge, the presumption of knowledge and the tendency of man-made miracles to go bad has stifled in many of us.

In the late 17th century a disciple of Sir Isaac Newton — a man named Halley — charted the courses of comets and began our scientific understanding of them. But, before Halley we had other uses for comets. Men looked into the dawn or dusk-greyed skies, saw the fiery nimbus with its streaming tail and concluded that comets were one of several things — flung morsels of God's wrath, omens of great events or warnings of catastrophe.

William of Normandy told his troops that Halley's comet, appearing in 1066, foretold disaster — not for him but for the defending British armies which also saw it. A late 15th-century Pope excommunicated a comet because it had foretold the fall of Constantinople.

If you believe in omens, you obviously believe in cosmic forces which send omens — you are reduced and made solemn by the evidence that there is something in the universe of greater and more transcendent importance than your self and the dreary, known world. That is a good thing to believe.

One is pleased — obviously — by all the interesting things that science will learn from Kohoutek. But sometimes, watching at dawn, one feels that faint, almost instinctive stirring of awe and wished it were stronger. One wishes to believe that that beautiful thing off to the east did foretell something. Our own sense of self-importance would be less. And Heaven knows we could use some expectation in lives inured to it by knowing too much.

Nixon wooed Spanish voters

WASHINGTON — Classified White House documents, which we can now publish for the first time, reveal how President Nixon's daughters were used in 1972 to charm Spanish-speaking voters.

Both Julie Eisenhower and Tricia Cox not only were recruited to campaign for their father among Americans of Spanish heritage, but the documents show that government money was spent on their political speeches and briefing papers.

The President eagerly wanted the support of the 12 million Spanish-speaking Americans, who are concentrated in key states. Conceivably, they could have provided the margin of victory in such crucial states as California, Florida, Illinois, New Jersey, New York and Texas.

It is likely the President would have done well enough in the Spanish-American precincts without the political trickery that characterized his 1972 campaign. His closest friend, Bebe Rebozo, came from the Spanish-speaking community.

Appointments

Nixon also appointed more Spanish-Americans to high positions than any past President. They included Ramona Banuelas as U.S. treasurer, Phillip Sanchez as antipoverty czar, Hilary Sandoval as small business administrator and Carlos Villarreal as urban transit head. A Spanish-American, Horacio Rivera, was named ambassador to Spain.

The President even established a White House task force to seek jobs and business grants for the Spanish-speaking. But like so many worthy projects, it was corrupted by the President's campaign crew, who used the task force more to gain votes than to give help.

The classified documents show that the task force provided campaign material for the President's daughters. Tricia's husband, Ed Cox, also got help from the task force for political speeches. Yet the task force was fiananced with the taxpayers' money, not campaign funds.

In an "Administrative-Confidential" memo to White House aide Charles Colson, the task force chief, William Marumoto, reported in April 1972: "We provided Julie Eisenhower . . . a copy of achievement list" for campaign purposes. The following June, another White House aide, Carlos Conde, "developed briefing papers for Julie. . . ."

Worked with CRP

Later the same month, Marumoto confided how he was working with the Nixon campaign committee "re Julie Eisenhower's participating in a few SS (Spanish-speaking) activities" for the campaign.

Tricia Cox also got political briefing papers from White House speech writers in June 1972. Afterward, she posed for campaign pictures, taken by the White House photographer, of herself and wives of Spanish-heritage leaders.

Later that month, the task force prepared her material for a political speech. In a confidential memo, the task force reported triumphantly that the audience for Tricia's speech was "stacked with our people" The White House, using federal funds, also printed and distributed her speech.

The President's aides also wanted to use Ed Cox in the Spanish-American vote drive, because of his association with Ralph Nader. A classified memo reveals that, in October, 1972, the White House "provided background and speech material to Ed Cox's speechwriter (and) worked . . . on the appearance of Ed Cox at (a) parade in New York."

Nixing foes

The same White House task force, which was supposed to be helping Spanish-Americans get grants, actually worked behind the scenes to knock out grants for those who opposed the President politically. A June 23, 1972, memo reports that the task force enlisted White House aide "Nate Bayer of the Domestic Affairs Council re identifying SS (Spanish-speaking) groups who have applied for federal grants . . . who are unfriendly toward the Administration."

Another memo reveals that the White House kept a watchful eye on Spanish-American government employes who were known to be Democrats. States a September 1972 intra-White House memo to Charles Colson and Fred Malek:

Presidential aide Tony Rodriquez "is working . . .to see that Armando Rodriquez, HEW, is kept in line. He is a Democrat that is screening all Spanish-speaking applicants at OE (Office of Education)."

The memos also show that Nixon campaign aide Alex Armendariz sought to use the Cabinet Committee on Opportunities for Spanish-Speaking People, which was supposed to be totally nonpartisan, to attack New York City's Mayor John Lindsay. This proposal was made in June 1972, when Lindsay was regarded as a Democratic vice presidential prospect.

Attack issued

Armendariz noted that Mayor Lindsay had cut some funds from a bilingual education program. "How about taking a slap at Lindsay?" urged Armendariz in a memo to the cabinet committee chairman, Henry Ramirez. Sure enough, Ramirez issued a bitter attack on Lindsay.

On the other hand, the memos reveal the wholesale use of grants and patronage to reward Spanish-Americans who supported the President.

FOOTNOTE: A classified "action memo" sent to "the Attorney General" on Dec. 16, 1971, proves that former Attorney General John Mitchell lied when he swore he took no active role in the campaign while he was at the Justice Department. The memo asked Mitchell for "your attention now" on decisions involving the "Spanish-speaking, Labor, Middle America, Ethnic-Catholic."

The memo makes it perfectly clear that Mitchell was directing the campaign from his office in the Justice Department.

FARM JUNKET: High-flying members of the House Agriculture Committee have junketed to Brazil and Venezuela this year, but with a new twist. Brazil, looking for bigger sugar quotas from the United States, and Venezuela, worried about U.S. wheat exports, picked up the tab instead of the U.S. taxpayer.

The luxurious tour to Venezuela included Reps. W. R. Poage, D-Tex.; Joseph Vigorito, D-Pa.; Frank Denholm, D-S.D.; Wiley Mayne, R-Iowa; John Rarick, D-La.; Robert Price, R-Tex.; LeMar Baker, R-Tenn.; Eligio de la Garza, D-Tex.; and David Bowen, D-Miss. Brazil's military government played host to Poage, Frank Stubblefield, D-Ky.; William Wampler, R-Va.; George Goodling, R-Pa.; John Zwach, R-Minn.; Ed Jones, D-Tenn.; Dawson Mathis, D-Ga.; and Jerry Litton, D-Mo.

DOUBLE EDGE: In his new book, "Who Makes War — The President Versus Congress," Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., gives the background for Congress' recent overriding of the presidential veto on the war powers bill. His arguments could apply with equal bite to the Watergate case. "The implication that the presidency is beyond the range of congressional authority to check in the exercise of the war powers raises a serious constitutional danger," he writes. "Our own stature as free and equal citizens is diminished when we hand an individual leader our lives to do with what he will."

Gossip for today

It is a well known fact that flag waving is one of a politician's most important abilities. But strangely enough the greatest flag waver in the country today is not a patriotic politician. That honor goes to a fellow who has a full time job flying flags over our nation's capitol. On a busy day, in order to meet public demand for flags that have enjoyed that honor, he will run a flag up and down the Capitol dome flagpole at a speed of approximately one every three minutes.

JOHN D. LOFTON JR.

Nader doesn't blow stack at everything

WASHINGTON — A lot of things make Ralph Nader mad. Things like no-pest strips hanging from ceilings and Coke machines.

Writing about Nader in the New Yorker magazine, Tom Whiteside recorded Ralph's reaction when he entered a gymnasium at Defiance College in Defiance, Ohio, and spotted one of the yellow bug killers overhead:

"Oh, no!," said Nader. He declared that the product had been put on the market without fully adequate testing, and he said that until further research had been undertaken into its potential for producing carcinogenic, mutagenic, and teratogenic (fetus-deforming) effects in animals he thought it outrageous that sale of the pesticide to the public should be allowed."

Whiteside also cited another example of when Nader, according to one of his associates, "blew his stack." The occasion? When someone suggested that a Coke machine be installed on the premises of one of Nader's organizations.

So, it is a matter of record that Ralph Nader can get angry and blow his top. To be sure, these examples are not things that would anger most people, but then Nader is not like most people. And in a perverse sort of way he is strangely consistent. While he gets mad at a lot of unimportant things, he also fails to get mad at some things that are truly outrageous.

Tapes

For example, there was the recent report of Nader lawyer William Dobrovir playing a subpoenaed Presidential tape at a cocktail party in Washington. Dobrovir had the tape because he's representing Public Citizen, Inc., a Nader group suing the President. When ABC News reported the lawyer's shenanigans, and Federal District Court Judge William Jones hauled him into court to explain things, he conceded it was a "terrible mistake" and he was "extremely sorry."

Now, Dobrovir did two things when he played this Presidential tape for his friends as they sat around drinking and eating salami and chopped liver.

He breached Canon Nine of the American Bar Association's code of professional responsibility and he violated the oath he took when he became a member of the U.S. District Court Bar.

Canon Nine says that "a lawyer should avoid even the appearance of professional impropriety." The ethical consideration underlying this canon is that public confidence in the law and lawyers may be eroded by irresponsible or improper conduct of a lawyer, conduct, which to a layman seems unethical.

The oath Dobrovir swore to on June 13, 1960 reads as follows: "I do solemnly swear that I will demean myself as a member of the bar of this court uprightly and according to law; and that I will support the constitution of the United States." When Dobrovir used the Presidential tape as a party favor, he obviously was not behaving in an upright manner.

Simon Trevas, president of the Federal Bar Association and a lawyer for 40 years, told me that what Nader's lawyer did was "highly improper, wrong, very unusual and in bad taste." Material obtained under a subpoena is to be used in a very limited way, he explained. When it is used outside the confines of a court or for preparing a case, it is improper.

CBS

Trevas also labeled as improper Dobrovir's letting CBS newsman Fred Graham hear the tape on an off-the-record basis.

There are also indications that Dobrovir was less than completely candid with Judge Jones in his explanation of how he came to play the tape. The Nader attorney indicated that he had done so on the spur of the moment at the urging of the people at the party. Yet, Kevin Delany, director of ABC News, who was at the get-together and heard the tape, told me that 15 minutes before Dobrovir arrived, the hostess announced that he was on the way and had "a very interesting White House tape" with him.

Commenting on what Dobrovir told Judge Jones, Delany says it is obvious the Nader lawyer wanted to minimize the impact and importance of the matter. "I don't believe it was a case of Dobrovir suddenly realizing he had the tape in his pocket. He wanted to make it seem (to the judge) that it was impromptu, with us saying 'C'mon, play it! Play it!' But it didn't take that kind of urging, I assure you." Delany also says that he thinks about 10 minutes of the tape was played, not five minutes, as Dobrovir told the judge.

Now, what has Ralph Nader had to say about all this? Well, at first nothing. He wouldn't talk. Then ABC got hold of him and he said simply that it was an "unfortunate excess" on the part of Dobrovir but he was still retaining him. So, unlike Richard Nixon, Ralph Nader is keeping his John Dean on the job.

Claremonter heads Baldy Shrine unit

Gene F. Allen of Claremont has been elected president of the Old Baldy Shrine Club.

GENE F. ALLEN

Elected to the board of directors are Frank Moore of La Verne, Lawrence Fiora of Chino, George Martin of Cucamonga, John G. Smith of Ontario, Jack Daley of Ontario, Harold Ake of West Covina, and Vern O. Anderson of Pomona.

Gene A. Snyder of Claremont is honorary past president; Moore, publicity and printing chairman; Wilkins, temple chairman; Norman Unroe of Pomona, host chairman; and Bob Seiber of Claremont, DeMolay chairman.

Allen, who resides with his wife, Marianne, and daughter, Susie, at 1955 Loyola Court, is a member of the Landmark Lodge 103, Sioux City, Iowa, Scottish Rite Bodys, York Rite and Eastern Star. He is store manager of Stanyer-Edmundson tire store in Ontario.

The Old Baldy Shrine Club will hold 12 major functions this year, officials said. It is one of 66 Shrine Clubs within the Al Malikah Temple. The group helps support the Shrine crippled childrens and burn hospitals in the U.S., Canada and Mexico.

DMV will take month to gear for rationing

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Department of Motor Vehicles said today it would take a month to issue authorization cards for gasoline rationing coupons after receiving the go-ahead from the federal government.

Stable that Pinto during windstorms—or it may stall

CLAREMONT — If you own a Ford Pinto, try to avoid driving into windstorms.

The dust and sand could cause your vehicle to stall.

That's the finding of local highway patrolmen following several windstorms east of Ontario.

Officers first noted a large number of disabled Pintos last year in a wind area near the Ontario Motor Speedway.

"We checked and found they hadn't run out of gas," said Capt. W. C. Jones, area commander. "A tow truck operator later indicated he found sand and dust had gotten inside the distributor cap, causing an arcing of the points."

Three weeks ago, heavy winds again blew sand and dirt in the same area. Six of the seven vehicles found disabled were Pintos, he added.

"Then during a windstorm last week, 11 of the 12 disabled vehicles were Pintos."

Officer Bill Barkley said he was able to get several of the Pintos started by removing their air cleaners and shaking the dirt and sand loose.

The dirt and sand, he said, were clogging up the cleaners and not letting air into the carburetor.

Motorists whose cars become disabled in windstorms should check their air filters and file the distributor points, suggested Jones.

The Claremont commander reported his findings Thursday to the CHP zone headquarters in Los Angeles. The information was then sent to the Ford Motor Co. plant in Pico Rivera, he reported.

Snow survival course to be offered in Claremont

CLAREMONT — The fourth annual snow survival and igloo building course sponsored by the Claremont Parks and Recreation Department will be held the five Wednesdays in January.

Beginning Wednesday, the class will meet at Taylor Hall from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Don Douglass, the instructor, has plotted a lesson plan which includes two field trips and will cover snow environment and survival, equipment and technique, snow safety, snow travel, camping and snow shelters, and igloo building.

Cost of the course is $10 a person or $15 a family. Those less than 15 may be admitted only with an adult.

Registration should be made at the recreation office, 840 N. Indian Hill Blvd.

More information may be obtained by phoning 624-4531, extension 273.

A scene from Perry Mason

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — It was a scene right out of Perry Mason, and something of a shock for Edward April.

Paul Manley was called as a prosecution witness in the trial of Robert C. Slatton, accused of murder in the shooting death of a man at San Juan Hot Springs.

Manley was asked the standard prosecutor's question: Can you point out the man you saw do the shooting?

"Yes," Manley said, and pointed.

Not at the defendant, but at April, who appeared a bit stunned. April, an aerospace technical instructor, is an alternate juror, who was sitting with spectators in the courtroom. He said nothing, while the prosecution tried to repair the mistake, but smiled when the other jurors kidded him about it later.

'Optimism' helps boost year-end rally

By LEE MITGANG
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Optimism over favorable energy developments helped stocks score a strong year-end rally on the New York Stock Exchange this holiday week.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 29.29 to 848.02. The index scored heavily on Wednesday and Thursday, advancing 22.75 and 13.45, respectively. Observers termed the two-day rally largely technical, but said Wall Street clearly was pleased by news the Arabs were easing their oil embargo against Japan and most Western European nations.

Investors received another lift Thursday when William E. Simon, administration energy czar, announced a stand-by gas rationing program, but said it would take effect only if other conservation plans don't succeed.

He also cheered Wal Street by stating the estimated energy shortfall in the first quarter of 1974 would be 13.6 per cent, instead of the previously expected 16.3 per cent.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index gained 4.00 to 97.54, and the NYSE index was ahead 2.07 to 51.75.

Advances broadly outnumbered declines, 1,283 to 495, among the 1,992 issues traded.

Trading was heavy during the Christmas holiday-shortened week. Sales totaled 74,190,345 shares, compared with 89,245,880 a week earlier, and with 57,785,740 the year before.

Year-end technical factors played a key role in the week's action. Tax loss selling contributed to declines both Monday and Friday, and some brokerage houses reported the volume of that sort of selling was the heaviest in years, following the sharp market decline suffered this year.

Professional traders and institutional portfolio specialists made their presence felt in this last trading week of 1973. The prices of many stocks were yanked sharply higher or lower as pension funds, bank specialists and mutual funds made last minute portfolio adjustments in preparation for their annual reports.

As it worked out, the recently hard hit glamor issues proved the biggest beneficiaries of this normal end-of-year fund reinvesting.

In that group, Burroughs advanced 12 ½, IBM 8 ¾, Johnson & Johnson 6 ¾, National Semiconductor 6 ⅜, Texas Instruments 7 ½, Digital Equipment 8 ¾, and Coca-Cola 8 ½.

Some auto-related glamors also gained on news the Nixon administration was foregoing gas rationing for the time being. Walt Disney added 4 ⅞, Ponderosa Systems 3, Ryder System 2 ½, Holiday Inns 1 ⅝, Howard Johnson 1 ⅛.

Gold mining issues, often a haven during times of international economic uncertainty, rallied. Analysts said they responded especially well to news last Monday the Persian Gulf states had doubled the price of crude oil. Dome Mines soared 13 ⅝, ASA Ltd. 6 ⅛, Homestake Mining 5 ⅜, and Campbell Red Lake 4 ½.

Railroads involved in the mining or transport of coal gained strongly, helped by renewed interest in coal as an alternative energy source. Union Pacific advanced 8 ¼, Norfolk & Western 6 ⅝, Chessie System 4 ⅝, Burlington Northern 3 ⅞, and Missouri Pacific 3 ½.

Levitz Furniture was the volume leader, off ⅛ to 3 ¾ on 750,800 shares. General Motors was second, adding a point to 48 on 606,400 shares. The company Friday announced plans to lay off 86,000 employees early next year because of sagging car sales.

Surprising phone call

By JEAN ADAMS

ON THE PHONE: (Q.) For a long time Jeff called me every night on the telephone. We usually have a date on Friday night. When he called me last Thursday night he asked me to have sex with him the next night. I was so surprised I didn't know what to say.

But I told him the truth, that I cared too much about him to do something like that. He got angry. That was six days ago. He didn't come over Friday night and he hasn't called since. Should I call him? If he asks me again about sex what should I say? He and I are both 15. — Surprised in Louisiana.

(A.) You told him the truth the first time. Stick with that. If he must have an all-the-way girl at age 15 let him go elsewhere.

Do not call him back. I, too, am surprised that he would ask such a question over the telephone. He must have been scared or ashamed to ask it in person. I believe after he gets over his anger and shame he will call you.

DESERTED: (Q.) I was going with Dottie until about a month ago, which would be above five months. Then she just said she liked somebody else and broke up with me.

I really love her and I'd really like to get her back. I am 15 and she is 14.

My mother is against my having anything to do with girls — Grieving in Georgia.

(A.) That your mother worries about your having a girl friend is immaterial. Many mothers do this, but boys do not stop having girl friends because of it.

That your former girl friend likes another boy is important. She has made up her mind and has left you. Find a new girl!

America and the future of man

Population pushing to the limit—like it or not

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 14th of 20 essays by leading men in the world's academic community. The writer of this essay is professor of human ecology, University of California at Santa Barbara. Herein he discusses the 175-year argument over Rev. Thomas Malthus' dire predictions on population.)

By GARRETT HARDIN
Cooyright, 1973, Regents of the University of California.

Has there ever been an argument that lasted as long as the one started by the Rev. Thomas Malthus? It has been 175 years since he wrote his "Essay on Population," and we're still arguing about it. Why?

The most important thing Malthus said was that we have to learn to live within limits.

If our population grows, said Malthus, we will all be poorer. He said that in 1798. As history turned out, however, he couldn't have been more wrong.

The population of Europe and America has increased greatly since then, but prosperity has increased even more. The rest of the world also is somewhat richer, on the average. There are more of us and we have more per capita income. Where did Malthus go wrong?

Early spaceman

Malthus was a premature spaceman. His essay laid out a theory of living on a spaceship of fixed, finite size. But for the past 175 years our spaceship has been expanding, in two ways.

The first expansion was geographic. Europe tapped the riches of the New World, and thus expanded the European population. Low-density hunting economies were replaced by high-density agricultural and industrial economies.

And non-Europeans were murdered by the tens of thousands when they got in the way. That sort of expansion of our earthly spaceships is just about ended

The second expansion was in science and technology. Science made it possible for two blades of grass to grow where there was only one before. That is the equivalent of replacing one acre with two. This process is still going on. Can it continue forever?

Energy is the key to our population problem. Our energy comes almost entirely from two sources now: sun energy captured today by plants (wheat, potatoes, firewood, etc.), and sun energy captured yesterday — millions of years ago — by plants and stored as coal, oil and gas. These "fossil fuels" are the capital we inherited, and we can run through this capital only once.

At the latest, we will exhaust our fossil fuels in three hundred years; they may be practically exhausted in less than a hundred. Required to live on today's sun energy only, we cannot support even the world's present four billion people on the American standard of living. We are living beyond our income now.

What about atomic energy? The fuel needed for nuclear fission installations, including "breeders," will not last even as long as petroleum and coal. Only fusion power will do. There's enough of that for millions of years. But there are some problems.

First, we don't know if we can "tame' fusion, persuade the hydrogen bomb to purr like a kitten, so to speak. In 1955, physicists told us they would have fusion safely in a straitjacket in five years. Lately they have been talking about success by the year 2000. John Q. Citizen has a right to be skeptical of their promises.

Secondly, we don't know if fusion will ever be safe. The fusion process itself is "clean,' that is, it doesn't produce radioactive fallout. But it makes the associated hardware radioactive. This radioactive trash has to be locked away somewhere safely, for thousands of years. How can that be accomplished, when no human government has ever lasted so long?

Furthermore, we don't know if reactors can ever operate perfectly safely under all conditions. We hope our safety devices work, but we just don't know.

There is yet one more danger: sabotage. To gain political ends, dissident groups may be willing "to cut off their nose to spite their face," i.e., to blow up nuclear plants. How would you like to see sabotage-susceptible nuclear reactors placed today in Uganda, Malawi, the Congo, Panama, Bangladesh, Egypt, and Ireland?

Can we be trusted?

Or, for that matter, are we ourselves really so peaceful a people that we can safely tie our future survival to dependence on sabotage-susceptible nuclear power?

Well, when things are tough at home, people naturally think of running away. Why don't we just chuck it all? If the earth is getting too crowded why not gather the excess population together and jet-propel them off of Mr. Malthus' little spaceship?

Sounds appealing. But there are a number of things wrong with this solution. First, where would the emigrants go? The moon, Mars, Venus — all of the planets of our solar system are worse than the worst place on earth for man to live. There's no point in sending off our excess until the South Pole is as crowded as Coney Island.

What about the planets of other stars? Disregarding the fact that we know absolutely nothing about these other planets — not even if they exist — there are momumental objections to such a proposal.

A real costly job

First, cost. More than a decade ago I estimated it would cost at least $3,000,000 per emigrant. But if we can't afford to keep excess people on the earth, how can we afford to blast them out into space at such a price? (No scientist has ever challenged my cost estimate.) The present rate of increase of the earth's population is some 200,000 people per day. The cost for this "Solution" to the population problem would be 600 billion dollars per day. A single day's operation would cost close to the Gross National Product for an entire year in the United States. Who would pay such a bill? Or could?

Then there's the matter of time. At the present speeds of spacecraft it would take almost 100,000 years for the space travelers to reach the nearest star, Alpha Centauri. (They whould hope it had a nice, earth-like planet on which to settle. An uninhabited one, of course.)

Admittedly, technology can shorten this time. Let's be optimistic and assume that this voyage could someday — say a century from now — be shortened to 500 years.

Now what does our population "solution" look like? It looks terrible. In fact, it is impossible. Let me show you why.

The emigrants would be on a spaceship for fifteen human generations — longer than the United States has existed. For all that ime, they would have to control their reproduction rigidly. Zero Population Growth would be the absolute law for at least five centuries.

We are stuck

But what led us to propose this "solution' to the population problem? It was our unwillingness to control our reproduction. Some of us don't want to; such people would never sign up for the trip, since population control would be a "must' on board. Instead, these people would try to force others to go. These others would be the people who are willing to control their breeding.

If this second group were the only ones on earth there would be no population problem, hence no need for the spaceship "solution." Thus this solution leads to a paradox — which destroys the solution.

Neither mathematics nor technology denies the solution to us, ultimately. It is pure logic that closes this door. Inescapably. Forever.

So here we are back on Malthus' spaceship once more, Spaceship Earth.

And we must someday take positive control of population growth. When? Tomorrow? Today? Or should it have been Yesterday?

The question is, What is the optimum population on our spaceship? This is a very difficult question. Economists, biologists, psychologists, and specialists in ethics all must contribute to the solution. Unfortunately, they have scarcely begun their inquiries.

Some hard choices

The problem of increasing population and social disorganization that overwhelms us now compels us to look for an answer — at least a tentative answer — now, without waiting for all the facts to come in.

I have a simple suggestion. List as BETTER or as WORSE the various important aspects of our lives that would be changed by an increase in population. In which category would you place "Water pollution?" And "Air pollution?"

And what about these: access to uncrowded beaches and campgrounds, the quality of fishing and hunting, quietness, freedom to do my own thing, ability to make my voice heard in my nation, amount of time spent correcting misunderstandings in communication, and feelings of brotherhood with my fellow-citizens? The United States now has over 210 million people. When we have 420 million, which of these — or any other items — will be better than it is now?

Can you think of even one aspect of the quality of life to put in the BETTER category?

The defense for Mr. Malthus rests.

(Next Sunday: Dr. Roger Revelle, Richard Saltonstall professor of population policy and director, Center for Population Studies, Harvard University.)

Japanese plan to tell U.S. of oil policy

TOKYO (UPI) — Deputy Prime Minister Takeo Miki will visit the United States in early January to explain Japan's new Arab policy to U.S. officials, including Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, a government spokesman said today. Susumu chief cabinet secretary, said Miki will leave here Jan. 7.

Japan made a major policy switch in late November, Issuing a statement demanding that Israel withdraw from all Arab territories they have occupied since the 1967 six-day war.

Pomona Valley Residents Invade Africa

by FLORENCE MINTO

Twenty-six satisfied travelers, mostly from the Pomona Valley area, recently returned from a three-week tour which included Rio, de Janeiro, South America and Capetown, Durham and Johannesburg, South Africa.

A highlight of the tour was a visit to the Aberdare National Forest near Nairobi, Kenya which included lunch at the Outspan Hotel before departing to the world famous hotel, TREETOPS to spend the night and view game which gather at the water-hole and salt licks.

The tour will be repeated again in 1974 in September and October. For information and reservations call POMONA TRAVEL AGENCY, 623-6474 or come in to 540 W. Holt.

We sincerely wish all our loyal clients a contented Holiday Season with their loved ones, good health, satisfying wealth, and the time to enjoy it and the good sense to appreciate it.

Queen plans $575,000 remodeling

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II is planning to spend $575,000 modernizing her private country house at Sandringham, British newspapers said today.

Buckingham Palace spokesmen would not confirm the figure, but said "a detailed survey of the building is being undertaken" after earlier checks showed structural defects.

The queen arrived Thursday at Sandringham—an 1870 house on an estate of 19,500 acres—to spend the New Year holiday, as is her custom.

Walton MVP; Bruins waltz to Classic win

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — The Bruin Classic should probably be re-titled the Bruin Feast since UCLA basketball teams simply chew up the opposition.

Such was the case Saturday night at Pauley Pavillion where the Bruins dazzled a sell-out crowd and the Michigan basketball team in a 90-70 rout.

That put the streak at 83 with Washington and Washington State the next likely victims as conference play begins Saturday and continues Monday, Jan. 7, on the road.

Bill Walton, known around the country now as "Big Red, the baddest dude around" was as usual dominant. Walton scored 20 points and grabbed 21 rebounds to earn the event's MVP award.

In two games, the red-head totaled 38 points and 38 boards. Michigan had only two players, Campy Russell and Dave Grote in double figures Saturday night. UCLA had six, Keith Wilkes and Richard Washington (10 each), Dave Meyers (16), Pete Trgovich (14), and Tommy Curtis (11), and Walton.

Russell, the Wolverines' 6-8 forward, was game-high scorer with 22 points. Grote had 11. Russell left the game wth 7:06 remaining after falling heavily under the basket. He was given a standing ovation.

San Francisco won the first game of the evening. Wyoming showed its consistency by bowing to USF, 98-66.

The championship game of the third biennial affair was a great game . . . for 12 minutes and 10 seconds. At that time the score was 20-20 and Michigan, sparked by Russell and guard Wayman Britt, was giving the Bruins all they could handle . . . at a price that soon became evident.

But Britt, the 6-2 freshman, was charged with his fourth foul with 7:50 left in the first half. Walton sank one of two free throws to put UCLA ahead 21-20.

It marked the beginning of the end of any Wolverine hopes of dining on Bruin meat in this holiday tournament.

For the Uclans it was the beginning of another of the famed spurts. In the next 4:29 they outscored the visitors 18-4 as Walton again sank one of two free throws and sank three baskets. Wilkes had two baskets in the drive and Trgovich had a basket and two free throws.

Claremont center Bruce Abraham (30) takes position under the boards during the Wolfpack's 41-37 championship victory at the Chino Tournament Saturday night.

Claremont captures Chino tourney title

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — When you ask coach Jack Smith what his Claremont High basketball team is like this year, he'll undoubtedly tell you that it is small in size.

The Wolfpack have only one player as tall as 6-foot-4, with the rest of the starting unit averaging only 6-foot-1.

The 'Pack may be small in size, but they were the biggest thing at the 33rd Annual Chino High Lettermen's Club Invitational Basketball Tourament.

Claremont, now boasting a 10-1 record on the season, shot down a much taller Miraleste club Saturday night in a thrilling defensive showing to claim the Chino Tourney championship.

But it took two last-second layups by Claremont center Bruce Abraham to give the Wolves the exciting 41-37 win over the Marauders.

Wolfpack forward John Douglass tied the score with two minutes left in the game, 37-37, with a field goal.

Then after a Miraleste turnover, Claremont gained possession of the ball with 1:27 left on the clock. The Wolves controlled the ball for a full minute before the tournament's Most Valuable Player, center Greg Hummel of Miraleste, fouled out of the game with 19 seconds remaining in the game.

Smith immediately took advantage of Hummel's absence and called time out. Claremont, taking the ball out of bounds after the foul, pitched the ball in to guard Todd Ervin, who immediately shoveled the ball to Abraham under the basket.

The 6-foot-4 Wolfpack center catapulted toward the hoop and layed in the winning basket as the clock ticked down to two seconds. Miraleste quickly called time out, but the Marauders turned the ball back over to Claremont on the inbounds pass.

Taking the ball out from the baseline again, Claremont went to Abraham for the security bucket.

Ganesha had little trouble dumping Montclair in the consolation championship game. The Giants gradually pulled away from the stubborn Cavaliers for the first three quarters, and then blew the Cavs out of the Cowboys gym in the final eight minutes to win handily, 81-50.

Chino and Upland put on a good show, but when the final buzzer sounded in the game, the host Cowboys were the survivors.

Chino guard Manuel Delgado stole an Upland inbounds pass with the Cowboys leading by two points and only seconds left in the game, layed up the unmolested two-pointer, and gave the Cowboys a 58-54 win over the Highlanders.

It was Mark Milton's basket after an offensive rebound with 15 seconds left in the game which provided the winning basket.

With the victory, the Cowboys claimed the third place trophy in their own tournament.

Cerritos, fighting back from a 22-point deficit in the first half, defeated defending tournament champion La Canada for the fifth place championship, 67-63.

Claremont placed guard Ervin and Rip Sears on the All-Tournament team, while Hummel (MVP) and forward Mark Harryman of Miraleste made the squad.

Other All-Tournament team members included Cleve Porter of Ganesha, Mark Gosswiller of Montclair, Dick Sinclair of La Canada, Curt Oldenkamp of Upland, Steve Guderian of Cerritos and Tim Smith of Chino.

La Canada won the team sportsmanship trophy.

After trailing by one point, 9-8, at the end of the first quarter, Claremont looked as though it was going to run away from the Marauders early in the second period.

Abraham was the whole show for Claremont in the opening minutes of the quarter, pumping in the first eight points of the period and pushing Claremont to a seven-point lead, 16-9.

But Miraleste then outscored the Wolfpack in the closing five minutes of the half, 10-2, to take a 19-18 lead into the locker room.

Hummel picked up his fourth foul of the game with 20 seconds left in the third quarter and had to play cautiously for the rest of the contest.

Abraham was the game's high-scorer with 19 points, with eight of those coming in the important fourth quarter.

Guard Earl Wilson had the hot hands for Ganesha, as he poured in eight points in the first eight minutes—most of the shots coming from the 20 to 25 foot range.

Cal Poly subs rip Purdue (Calumet)

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

POMONA — There is no such thing as a second unit at Cal Poly.

Basketball coach Don Hogan doesn't like that term.

So the benchwarmers of Hogan's Heroes had their night Saturday in igniting the Broncos to an easy 90-59 romp over out-manned Purdue (Calumet campus).

Hogan wasn't delighted with the play of his starting unit as Purdue took a 14-13 lead with 10:53 remaining in the first half.

"You could say that, "the Bronco mentor grinned.

Deciding something had to be done, Hogân inserted a new team. In the next 20 minutes, the revitalized Broncs outscored the touring Pipers by a 65-23 margin to give the home team its first big laugher of the season.

Maybe the example worked as the starters built the margin when they returned to the game. Poly broke apart a 20-20 deadlock in scoring 19 straight points for a 40-22 halftime margin. The Broncos built up a 42-point margin (86-44) before the visitors were able to cut the final difference.

"We will play the guys who want to play the most," Hogan said. "The guys came off the bench and did a tremendous job for us. They did everything we have been working on in our recent practices. We don't have a second unit."

Arlis Garner, a junior from Ontario High, started the big rally when he scored nine consecutive points for a season-high 13.

It was guard Bill Bunkér's turn in the second half when he sank seven field goals in a six-minute stretch for a game high of 18 points.

John Carrillo (16), Malcolm Kennedy (12) and Art Williams (12) also scored in double figures for Poly. Showing the team's depth, Lee Roy Williams and Horace Aubrey, the season's top scorers, only tallied five and four respectively.

Poly shot 55 per cent from the floor, making 42 of 76 from the floor, while Purdue was held to 39 per cent (23 of 59). The Broncos were red hot in the second half with 65 per cent (24 of 37). Bunker made nine of 11 while Carrillo hit on eight of 11.

Hogan's team also enjoyed a 37-29 rebounding edge with Art Williams leading the way with seven. Alphonso Adair contributed four assists.

Tony Brown led the Indiana visitors with 14 points followed by center Vern Mikalowski with 13 and Mike Waisnora 12. The young Pipers start four freshmen and one sophomore.

Poly, 4-6, resumes play next weekend at Kellogg Gym when Occidental and Cal State Los Angeles come to town Friday and Saturday nights.

Trojans claim tourney title

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Tenth-ranked Southern California overcame a brief second half lapse and, behind the scoring of Gus Williams and three Trojan teammates in double figures, routed Oral Roberts 96-75 Saturday night to win the 38th annual All-College Basketball Tournament.

Houston, paced by the 25 points scored by Louis Dunbar, downed Rutgers 95-84 to win third place in the tournament and Lacy Lanier hit 26 points to lead Oklahoma City to a 76-66 victory over Weber State for fifth place.

Williams, named to the second team all-tournament squad, scored 20 points in pacing the Trojans to the championship. Clint Chapman added 15 for the winners, Dan Anderson had 13 and Biff Burrell added 11.

Al Boswell scored 20 for the Titans, Sam McCants had 16 and Eddie Woods and Wayne Fox both scored 12.

Bucks will have blood in their eyes

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Lynn Swann expects Woody Hayes and his Ohio State Buckeyes to be breathing fire this time.

"They'll have revenge in their hearts and blood in their eyes," said University of Southern California's All-America wide receiver.

"I think we have an excellent chance but they have the revenge factor on their side and they're a much improved football team from a year ago."

In the 1972 Rose Bowl, USC smashed the Big Ten Buckeyes 42-17. However, Ohio State is favored in the '73 rematch at Pasadena, Calif.

Swann will go into the sixth Trojans Rose Bowl appearance in eight years with 91 career catches, a figure that matches Rod Sherman's USC record.

Related story, C-4

Although he has made 37 receptions for an 18-yard average per catch and six touchdowns, Swann knows he may be a marked man on New Year's Day.

"Woody Hayes is a very good coach and I would tend to think he's looking to stop a few of the things we do best," said the gifted flanker from Foster City, Calif. "The Rose Bowl game won't be the easiest day in the world for me."

To get to Pasadena, USC had to beat UCLA. The Trojans did 23-13, giving them a 9-1-1 record.

"That was our best game and it helps our confidence to know that we were late in blooming," said USC quarterback Pat Haden's favorite target.

John McKay, the Trojans' 14 year head coach, calls Swann "the most outstanding receiver I've ever had."

"If you don't tackle him immediately," added McKay, "you don't have much chance to get him before he's in the end zone. He's a fanastic athlete who can make fantastic catches and then make fantastic runs."

Hayes better beware. The 6 foot, 180-pound senior also ran 14 reverses and counters this season for 99 yards—a 7.1 average.

Swann was a self-proclaimed candidate for the Heisman Trophy but finished 12th in the voting for the award won by Penn State's John Cappellettti.

"I'm really not disappointed," he remarked. "If you can't win it, it doesn't matter where you finish in the voting. Second or 12th it's all the same."

Warriors win shooting match with Lakers despite Gail's 37

OAKLAND (UPI) — Rick Barry scored 14 points in the final period and Cazzie Russell sank the winning free throws with three seconds remaining Saturday night to boost the Golden State Warriors to a 102-100 NBA victory over the Los Angeles Lakers.

The win snapped a seven-game losing streak for the Warriors, lifting them to within one game of first-place Los Angeles in the Pacific Division.

It was a shooting match between Barry and the Lakers' Gail Goodrich down the stretch, with Goodrich scoring 19 points in the final period for a game high 37.

But after Russell placed the Warriors ahead to stay 98-96 on a jump shot with 22 seconds left, Goodrich missed two free throws. Barry came back with two Warriors' free throws for a four-point lead at with 11 seconds to play.

Goodrich countered with a pair of free throws one second later.

Lakers' guard Jim Price concluded the scoring with a desperation field goal at the buzzer.

Russell topped the Warriors with 29 points and Barry added 24. Golden State center Nate Thurmond grabbed a season-high 29 rebounds.

Cowboy-Viking clash case of easy arithmetic

DALLAS (UPI) — The NFC title match between the Minnesota Vikings and the Dallas Cowboys today boils down to a case of simple arithmetic.

Since the two clubs last met in 1971, the Vikings have added Fran Tarkenton and the Cowboys have subtracted Calvin Hill and Duane Thomas.

That's why the Vikings are a one-point favorite over Dallas in this battle for a Super Bowl berth even though the Cowboys have the home field edge on the artificial turf of Texas Stadium.

Minnesota had the home field advantage when the clubs last met in the first round of the 1971 playoffs but Dallas still recorded a 20-12 victory.

However, there's been a change in the cast of characters in some key positions since that game.

For example, the Cowboys started Duane Thomas at a running back slot and the Vikings started Bob Lee at quarterback. This time, it'll be Bob Newhouse for the Cowboys at a running back post and Fran Tarkenton for the Vikes at quarterback. Advantage Vikings.

Calvin Hill once compared the Cowboys to a mighty river. He said, "You can scoop a pail or two out of it and it still keeps rolling along."

Over the years, the Cowboys have scooped out guys like Don Meredith, Duane Thomas and Lance Rentzel and they've managed to roll along to the playoffs for the eighth straight season.

But last Sunday, they found themselves scooping out Hill when he suffered an elbow injury on a freak play in the fourth period of the triumph over the Los Angeles Rams.

With Hill in the lineup, the Cowboys hadn't really missed the moody Thomas, who was dispatched to San Diego two years ago. Hill was the NFC's No. 2 rusher with 1,142 yards this season.

With Hill out, the Cowboys will have to count on Newhouse, a second year man who rushed for only 436 yards this season.

Coach Tom Landry tried to be impassive, as usual, about the loss of Hill.

"Newhouse and Hill can run the same plays," he says, "and our defense can still play defense and Roger Staubach can still throw the footalll."

But Landry knows that Newhouse is unlikely to run as well as Hill would—and he knows that you need an effective running game to beat the Vikings.

If you don't "establish your running game"—to use one of the favorite cliches in pro football these days—the Vikings can unleash their defensive line led by Alan Page and Carl Eller.

If Page and Eller and their friends don't have to hesitate for the run, they can concentrate on getting the passer and that could mean Roger Staubach will find himself running for his life.

It would also put more of a burden on John Niland and Rayfield Wright, the two offensive linemen who did such an excellent job against Page and Eller the last time the teams met.

Dolphins favored to overcome Raider nemesis

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders, who sidetracked history once this season, try again today with the American Football Conference title and a Super Bowl berth on the line this time as they face the world champion Miami Dolphins.

The Dolphins met Oakland with a record 18-game winning streak on Sept. 23 and saw it disappear when the Raiders turned in a superb defensive effort to win, 12-7.

Now the Dolphins have another shot at entering the history books and only the Raiders stand in the way. Miami, with a victory today, would become the first team ever to appear in three Super Bowls and the first to win three consecutive AFC titles.

Miami, which won the AFC East championship with a 12-2 record and then eliminated Central champion Cincinnati, 34-16, last week, is a seven-point favorite over the Raiders, the Western titlist with a 9-4-1 mark. Oakland ousted wildcard entry Pittsburgh, 33-14, last week to qualify for the final.

The winner plays the winner of Sunday's Dallas-Minnesota National Conference title game in the Super Bowl in Houston on Jan. 13.

Today's game will be played under sudden death in the event of a tie, with the first team scoring in overtime taking the title. Each member of the winning team will receive $8,500, while the losers each get $5,500. A sellout crowd of 80,010 will watch the game.

Both clubs enter the game relatively injury-free. Tight end Jim Mandich has a broken bone in his hand, but has been listed as probable by the Dolphins along with star defensive tackle Manny Fernandez, who missed last week's playoff game with a torn thigh muscle.

Phil Villapiano, Oakland's star linebacker, will play despite a twisted ankle and Bob Brown will see duty at offensive tackle.

The Raiders won the first meeting this season by shutting off wide receiver Paul Warfield and then controlling Miami's rushing game. Bob Griese, the Miami quarterback, who admits the Dolphins played poorly in their loss to Oakland, feels Sunday will be a different story.

"I don't think that first game will have much bearing on this one," Griese said. "Their defense played very well in that game and they shut out Paul. But one of the big reasons we lost was that we had poor field position all day. Ray Guy kept us backed up in our end of the field with his punting and they forced us into a lot of situations where they knew we had to throw and could double-cover Paul."

Griese, as emotionless a quarterback as there is in the NFL, said playoff pressure helped him prepare better.

"My concentration is better for the playoffs," he said. "It means so much more. You can lose a game during the regular season and still win your division. But this is one-game elimination. I find I don't have to read things more than once. It sticks right away."

Kenny Stabler, the Oakland quarterback, was cautious entering the game.

"I'm sure the Dolphins will remember us like we remembered Pittsburgh," said Stabler, referring to the Steelers' three straight upsets of Oakland. "Other than that, it's hard for me to say anything about it because I haven't played against them before. Right now, every game we play is a week-to-week thing and different."

Daryle Lamonica was the Oakland quarterback when the Raiders beat Miami.

Both teams match up well. The Dolphins have a solid fullback in Larry Csonka, a speedy outside threat in Mercury Morris and an all-purpose back in Jim Kiick. Warfield and Marlin Briscoe are exceptional receivers and the offensive line, led by Larry Little and Jim Langer, is the equal of any.

Oakland's heavy-duty running is handled by Marv Hubbard, while Clarence Davis is the speedster and Charlie Smith the do-everything back. Fred Biletnikoff and Mike Siani both are dangerous receivers, while Gene Upshaw and Art Shell both won honors for their offensive line play.

Defensively, Fernandez and end Bill Stanfill are the stickouts for Miami on the line and Nick Buoniconti is the top linebacker. Safeties Dick Anderson and Jake Scott could well be the best in the game. 5

Tony Cline and Art Thoms head the Oakland defensive line and Dan Conners, a 10-year veteran, is having one of his best seasons at linebacker. Safeties Jack Tatum and George Atkinson key the secondary.

Miami has a 23-game winning streak at the Orange Bowl, but has beaten Oakland only once in eight tries.

The key match-ups should involve Warfield against Willie Brown, the Raiders' stellar corner back, and Oakland's Biletnikoff against Lloyd Mumphord, who again will replace injured Tim Foley at left corner back. Foley has missed more than a month with a separated shoulder.

PGA tabs Beman new commissioner

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Professional Golfers Association has gained a commissioner and Deane Beman's five children have gained a father.

Beman, a tour regular, was named Saturday to replace Joseph C. Dey, Jr., who is retiring in February, as commissioner of the PGA's Tournament Players Division.

Consequently, Beman is retiring from tournament competition to devote full time to his new post.

"My kids are all very happy," Beman said from his Bethesda, Md., home. "The prospect of me being home seems to interest them. They think they might have a father now."

The 35-year-old tour veteran has won $369,347 since turning professional in 1967, but previously has said the toughest part of the PGA tour is the extended absences from his wife Miriam and their five children.

Despite three operations in the past six years, the fiercely competitive Beman has always battled determinedly to rejoin the tour, much as he has missed his family.

"I don't turn my back on it (the tour) with anything but the greatest memories," said Beman. "I was asked some months ago if I would consider becoming commissioner. It took me several months to decide. But, after a lot of consideration, I decided it was the opportunity of a lifetime. I can contribute more as commissioner than I ever could as a competitor.

"The job of commissioner requires a great deal of travel, but I will get to see my family more than I have in the past. That was certainly part of my consideration and weighed heavily on my decision."

Beman's term is for three years with the TPD holding an option to renew for at least three more years. The selection of Beman was made by the TPD Policy Board, of which Beman had been a member until just prior to the selection procedure.

"I am fortunate I am coming in at a time when things are well-organized and running quite well," said Beman. "My immediate problems are to familiarize myself with our operation."

Beman won five tournaments as a professional, but his greatest success came as an amateur.

He was a teenage sensation in 1953 when, as 15-year old standing only 5-7 and weighing less than 120 pounds, Beman won the Mid-Atlantic Junior Amateur tournament and was playing exhibitions with Ben Hogan and Sam Snead.

At age 17, Beman became one of the youngest players ever to qualify for the United States Open.

Mounties, Chaffey win tourney titles

Freshman forward Gary Melugin scored 16 of his 21 points in the second half Saturday night to lead surprising Mt. San Antonio College to a 57-48 victory over DeAnza for the championship of the Hancock Tourney at Santa Maria.

Melugin and sophomore forward Carl Williamson broke the game open in final 20 minutes. Williamson scored 10 of his 12 points in the span and pulled down 10 rebounds to lead the Mounties in that department.

Melugin, a 6-foot-6 product of Ganesha High, was named the tournament's most valuable player and center Gary Nash was voted to the all-tourney team. Nash added 10 points and eight rebounds in the victory.

It was MSAC's fourth victory in a row, boosting its record to 6-9 for the season going into Wednesday's 8 p.m. game at Long Beach City College.

Elsewhere Saturday, Chaffey College claimed the championship of the San Joaquin Delta Tournament at Stocketon with a 64-59 victory over San Francisco City.

Chaffey fell behind 20-4 in the first 12 minutes of the game but battled back to beat SFCC. Bob Kovach continued his fine tourney form, as he canned 27 points to lead all individual scorers.

But it was guard Pierre Rankin who led the Panther charge in the second half which beat a tough San Francisco squad. Rankin receipted for 17 of his 19 points in the pressure-packed second stanza.

It marked the first time the Panthers had won the Stockton-based tourney. Chaffey now stands at 8-5 on the season and will begin Mission Conference play next week. The Panthers will play Southwestern Jan. 4 at Southwestern.

Cougars win tourney, Leos lose at Chico

LaVerne met with defeat in the Chico Invitational Tourney while Azusa-Pacific won the Stanislaus St. Tourney in Saturday's basketball action involving local colleges.

LaVerne dropped its third straight game in the Chico Tourney, losing to Central Washington by a 80-76 count, in the seventh place game. LaVerne and Central were tied at the half 29-29 but the Washington school pulled away in the second half.

Chuck Davis led Leo scoring with 19 points, while Ken Lipkin tossed in 18. Ned Gilmore hit for 17 for Central Washington.

Azusa-Pacific won the Stanislaus St. Tourney with a 80-61 victory over the host school. Biggest story for the Cougars was the fine play of guard Reed and forward Dennis Vanzant. The two almost outscored Stanislaus between them, accounting for 60 of the Cougars' 80 points.

Reeds, with 32 markers Saturday, clinched the Most Valuable Player tourney award, while Vanzant was placed on the All-Tourney Azusa-Pacific now has a 8-2 record on the season.

S. Torrance, Chino score soccer wins

By TOM FAHEY
P-B Correspondent

LA VERNE — The Damien High School Invitational Soccer Tournament came to a close Saturday night with South Torrance claiming the championship over San Gabriel 3-1.

In the other games played earlier in the day, Ganesha fell to the San Gabriel J.V.'s 2-1 in overtime, Chino took third place by defeating Nogales 2-0, and Damien secured fifth place with a 5-0 trouncing of Pasadena.

Chino scored both of their goals in the second half, after a rather offensive first half. The Cowboys claimed the lead three minutes into the second half, on a goal by Miguel Katala.

Chino took the 2-0 lead on Martin Pimentel's goal after a fine pass from Edwin Marquez.

Damien totally dominated their contest with Pasadena, and easily won 5-0, improving their record to 9-1.

Forwards Bart Sullivan and Rick Davis led the Spartan attack with three and two goals respectively.

The Damien Defense, led by John Evans, continually stopped Pasadena from generating any offense.

Ganesha fell short of San Gabriel J.V.'s 2-1, despite a goal by Dave Segura from 30 yards.

The game was tied 1-1 after regulation time, and San Gabriel went on to score the deciding goal after seven minutes.

Chino surprised a lot of people in the tournament, especially Damien who they defeated 3-2. The two goals were the only goals Damien has allowed this year, and put a halt to the Spartan win streak.

Mizzou crushes Auburn, 34-17

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — Speedy senior John Moseley returned a kickoff 84 yards for a touchdown and an opportunistic Missouri defense turned three Auburn fumbles into scores Saturday to lead Missouri to a 34-17 Sun Bowl victory.

Moseley, who led the Big Eight in punt returns and kickoff returns this season, broke Auburn's back with his scoring jaunt as time ran out in the first half.

Before Moseley broke it open, Auburn had cut a 21-3 deficit to 11 points on a 17-yard pass from freshman quarterback Phil Gargis to junior Thomas Gossom with eight seconds left in the half.

Missouri quarterback Ray Smith threw touchdown passes of two yards to John Kelsey and 15 yards to Jim Sharp and halfback Ray Bybee also scored on a two-yard plunge. Missouri's first score came on a 35-yard halfback option pass, Chuck Link to Kelsey.

Auburn, which saw its running game stymied all afternoon by the tenacious Missouri defense, got its other touchdown on a 32-yard pass also Gargis to Gossom. The opening score of the game came on a 35-yard field by Auburn's Roger Pruett.

Pruett's field goal capped a seven-play drive which was kept alive by a pass interference penalty against Missouri at their own 39 yard line. The drive started after Missouri's Kelsey fumbled at the Auburn 49 and end Rusty Dean recovered.

Missouri struck back twice within a minute as its defense converted the first two Auburn fumbles into touchdowns.

Missouri linebacker Lynn Evans recovered a fumble at the Auburn 35 and on the next play Link hit Kelsey with the halfback toss. Kelsey took the pass at the 10 and the big tight end bulled over the final defender to slide into the end zone at 10:14 of the second period.

Greg Hill kicked the first of four extra points to give Missouri the lead it never relinquished.

Auburn turned the ball over again less than a minute later as starting quarterback Wade Whatley fumbled a pitchout and Missouri's Bob McRoberts recovered at the Auburn 24. Three plays later Bybee scored with 9:16 left in the half.

Bybee led the Missouri attack with 127 yards on 28 carries while halfback Tommy Reamon picked up 110 yards on 23 carries.

Missouri's power "I" offense picked up 295 yards on the ground and added 95 more through the air.

Auburn, which ranked last in the Southeast Conference this season in total offense, managed just 113 yards rushing and finished with 233 total yards.

Barnes leads Red Raiders to Gator win

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Texas Tech quarterback Joe Barnes passed for two touchdowns, one a 79-yard bomb to Lawrence Williams, and scored another himself to lead the Red Raiders to a 28-19 Gator Bowl victory Saturday night over the Tennessee Vols.

Barnes, a senior who led the Raiders to a 10-1 regular season, ran and passed for 231 yards.

His touchdown run, a six yard keeper, climaxed a 57 yard drive with 4:56 left in the first period. His long touchdown pass to Williams, which found the Texas Tech receiver wide open at the Tennessee 35, came with 5:16 elapsed in the second period and gave the Raiders a 14-0 lead.

Barnes' other touchdown pass, a seven-yard strike to tight end Andre Tillman, came with 2:26 left in the third period after Tennessee had cut the margin to 14-10.

Tennessee had closed the margin to 21-19 early in the final period and had a chance to go ahead late in the period but Ricky Townsend, who kicked two field goals earlier, missed a 32-yard attempt with 3:36 left to play. The Raiders quickly iced the game when fullback James Mosley ripped off a Gator Bowl record 70-yard run

East stuns West in Shrine game

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) Barty Smith of Richmond cracked over for two touchdowns and Gary Marangi of Boston College passed for two more scores Saturday as the underdog East overwhelmed the West, 35-7, in the 49th annual Shrine football classic.

Smith ran for 65 yards in the first half when the East built a 21-7 lead and never was seriously threatened. His touchdown runs covered two and one yards and won him the William Coffman Trophy as the game's outstanding offensive player by one vote over quarterback Norris Weese of Mississippi.

Weese, who prefers running with the ball, gained more than 70 yards on the ground and scored a touchdown on a one-yard sneak. Marangi, a quarterback who prefers to throw, connected on a five-yard toss to Don Clune of Pennsylvania for one touchdown and 32 yards to Paul Seal of Michigan for another TD.

James McAlister of UCLA ran one yard on the last play of the first half for the West's lone score. Bill Sandifer, McAlister's UCLA teammate, had 12 unassisted tackles and recovered a fumble to win the Jack Spaulding Trophy as the game's outstanding defensive player.

The game was one sided from start to finish as the East, led by the running of Smith, Weese and Charley Young of North Carolina State, piled up 230 yards rushing and Marangi and Weese, with an assist from Smith on three option attempts, picked up 128 yards passing.

The West, favored by 6 ½ poits, managed only 35 yards rushing and 107 passing. All-America David Jaynes of Kasas, Mike Boryla of Stanford and Danny White of Arizona State alternated at quarterback for the West and between them managed only 107 yards passing.

Playing a big part in the East victory was the defensive work of James McCollum of Kentucky, Dave Gallagher of Michigan, Ed Jones of Tennessee State and Carl Barzilauskas of Indiaa. The four shut off the West running game and forced Jaynes, Boryla and White to throw on the run.

Two of the East scores came on West mistakes by Boryla. Defensive back Terry Schmidt of Ball State intercepted a pass by the Stanford senior to set up the East third score and McCollum recovered a Boryla fumble to set up the fourth East TD.

Stanton takes big lead in Confidence

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI) — Australian Bob Stanton grabbed a commanding seven-stroke lead Saturday when he shot a course record 64 at Laguna Seca to lead the field with a 15-under-par 199 at the end of three rounds of the Confidence Open.

Stanton opened the tournament Thursday by breaking the course record with a 65 at Laguna Seca and then bettered his own mark Saturday, despite playing the first nine in a heavy rain. He had eight birdies and a bogey.

Despite shooting an even-par 71, Dick Lotz of Hayward, Calif., who had shared the halfway lead with Stanton, slipped seven strokes behind the Aussie.

Tour regulars Rod Funseth and Orville Moody were in at 208 and 209, respectively.

In another record-breaking effort, young Roger Maltlie, former San Jose State star who turned pro two years ago, had 10 birdies and a single bogey as he shot a 63 for a new course mark at Corral de Tierra. It put him in a tie for fifth with defending champion Ray Botts.

The shot of the day came on the 110-yard 17th hole at Laguna Seca when amateur Harry Coolidge of Santa Cruz dropped a sand-wedge shot for a hole-in-one.

Houston rolls by hapless Tulane

HOUSTON (UPI) — D. C. Nobles scored once and set up two more touchdowns with his precision passing Saturday to lead 13th-ranked Houston to a 47-7 win over outclassed Tulane in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl.

Nobles rolled up 201 yards passing and scored on a two-yard sprint in the third quarter set up by a stunning 61-yard pass to favorite receiver Bryan Willingham.

Bullish Leonard Parker scored on plunges of one and three yards and fleet Donnie "Quick Draw" McGraw scored on runs of one and 32 yards. Marshall Johnson, a third-team back until the final week of practice, rambled 75 yards for a touchdown on the third play of the game.

Reserve quarterback David Hussmann reversed his field and scored on a seven-yard run with 6:53 left for the Cougars' final touchdown. Ricky Terrell hit five of seven conversions.

Houston, ranked fourth in total offense nationally, rolled up an Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl record of 656 yards total offense.

Houston held a 21-0 lead late in the first half and appeared to be on the way to a rout with Parker's second touchdown. Martin Mitchell scooped up the following kickoff and raced 66 yards for Tulane. Reserve quarterback Buddy Gilbert then lofted a 32-yard touchdown pass to Tom Fortner for the Green Wave's only points.

Nobles broke open the game early in the third quarter. Houston was on its three-yard line and on first down Nobles faded back and fired the 61-yard pass to Willingham. McGraw bulled for 18 and then carried four men with him on a fake to spring Nobles on his two-yard scoring run.

Houston led 28-7. On the kickoff Mitchell fumbled and Roger Mayes recovered at the Tulane 20. Four plays later junior McGraw burst across from the one.

At 13:41 of the final quarter the high-stepping McGraw nearly lost his balance before rushing 32 yards on a draw play to score his second touchdown.

Houston lost five fumbles but Tulane, 9-2, was never able to cash them in. Field goal attempts of 50 and 47 yards by David Falgoust fell short.

Nobles was named the game's outstanding back. Middle linebacker Deryl McGallion won the outstanding lineman award.

Houston rolled up 402 yards rushing, led by Johnson with 114 and McGraw's 108. The win gave Houston a 4-1 bowl record and an 11-1 season record.

Ryan, Turf Club leader, to retire

ARCADIA — Fred H. Ryan, since 1971 the President of Los Angeles Turf Club, operator of Santa Anita Park, and one of Thoroughbred racing's most capable and respected executives, will retire from his position at the conclusion of the 1973-74 season.

The announcement was made by Robert P. Strub, chairman of the board of Los Angeles Turf Club and President of Santa Anita Consolidated, parent company of L.A.T.C.

"The success of Santa Anita Park in the past 15 years reflects the fine leadership of Fred Ryan, who now has reached retirement age," stated Strub.

Bear season closes soon

LONG BEACH — The Department of Fish and Game reminded hunters today that the bear season will close Tuesday, Jan. 1. The season opened Oct. 13.

This year's take is expected to be significantly greater than the 626 bears harvested last year.

As of Dec. 10, the DFG said, the harvest was running well ahead of that for 1971. The take through that date this year was 685 compared to 558 on the same date last year. The state's bear population appears to be in good shape, the DFG said.

The DFG also noted that hunting pressure is up markedly from the level last year. Through November this year, 19,456 tags had been sold. The comparable figures for 1972 and 1971 were 15,283 and 14,833, respectively.

Buckeyes 'best bowl' favorites

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Ohio State's Buckeyes, beaten badly a year ago by Southern California, are rated as slight favorites to defeat the Trojans on New Year's Day and end a string of four straight Pacific-8 victories in the Rose Bowl.

The oddsmakers have listed Ohio State as a 1½-point choice in the granddaddy of all bowl games.

Despite the Sugar Bowl encounter of national champion Alabama and Notre Dame, both undefeated, Buckeyes' Coach Woody Hayes says simply, "The Rose Bowl will be the best of all the bowl games."

He may have a point. Based on the records, it should be close. Ohio State is 9-0-1 while Southern Cal, which won the national championship a year ago and whipped the Buckeyes 42-17 in the Rose Bowl, has a 91-1 mark.

After the 10-10 tie between Ohio State and Michigan Nov. 24, the Big Ten athletic directors voted to send who they thought was the best team —the Buckeyes.

Until the deadlock, Ohio State had been the No. 1 team in the nation.

Once virtually invincible against West Coast representatives, the Big Ten hasn't won here since 1969 when Ohio State, then the national champion, beat USC and O.J. Simpson 27-16.

The Trojans defeated Michigan 10-3 in the 1970 game and Stanford followed with a 27-17 win over Ohio State in '71 and a 13-12 decision over Michigan in '72.

USC isn't the same club it was last season but it did play Oklahoma to a 7-7 tie and beat UCLA 23-13 in the Pac-8 decider for the Rose Bowl.

Like UCLA, Ohio State disdains the pass, throwing for only 474 yards this season. The Trojans were able to stop the run-conscious Bruins wishbone and they think they'll be able to keep the Buckeyes in check too.

On the other hand, the Buckeyes may be more motivated than the Trojans because of last season's drubbing and the string of four straight Big Ten defeats.

Although Hayes dismisses the "revenge" or "must" win premises, he does say:

"It would be prestigious for us if we went ahead and won this one. It's a prestigious game and, naturally, we'd like to win it."

John McKay, the USC coach who will be in the Rose Bowl for a record seventh time and sixth in eight years, says, "Revenge usually goes to the team with the fastest players."

Having made his sixth trip from the Midwest to Pasadena, the 59-year-old Hayes thinks this could be Ohio State's best team.

"Right now, I'd say my 1954 and 1968 teams were the best because they were unbeaten," he noted. "But in our opener (a 56-7 romp over Minnesota) this year, this team played as well as any I've ever seen. Ask me after we play USC if this was our best team and I'll let you know then."

While the Buckeyes rely mainly on the running of All-America sophomore tailback Archie Griffin, who has rushed for 1,428 yards this season, the Trojans have a diversified attack. It features the one-two tailback punch of Anthony Davis and Rod McNeill on the ground and the passing combination of Pat Haden and All-America flanker Lynn Swann, a senior. Haden, a junior, has passed for 1,603 yards and 13 TDs this year while Davis has rushed for 1,038 yards and 13 scores.

Forum will show rematch

INGLEWOOD — The Joe Frazier-Muhammad Ali rematch, set for Monday, January 28, in Madison Square Garden, has been scheduled for 12 rounds.

Their initial meeting, March 8, 1971, went the full 15 rounds with Frazier retaining his heavyweight title on a decision.

The Forum in Inglewood will show Frazier-Ali in color via closed circuit television direct from the Garden in New York City.

Crosby pro-am opens PGA tour

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The $215,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am, one of the glamour events of the year, helps kick off another $8 million PGA tour this week with Jack Nicklaus and the usual flock of pro stars and celebrities on hand to battle the weather as well as three of the world's toughest courses.

It seems like only yesterday that Nicklaus was picking up the winner's check in the Walt Disney to become the first man in PGA history to win more than $300,000 in a single year. It was really a month ago and after time out for the holidays and his family in Florida, Jack comes west to help launch the 1974 tour as Crosby defending champion.

Being the 1973 winner, Nicklaus is obligated to play in the Crosby but he'd probably be here anyway. While Jack likes to pick and choose his way through the PGA calendar, the Crosby is one event he never misses. That's because of his affection for Bing and the chance to play Pebble Beach, one of his all-time favorite layouts.

"I know it's a little early in the year, especially this year," said Nicklaus of the Crosby, "but it's an opportunity to play Pebble Beach and I wouldn't miss that under any circumstances.

"Sure, the weather is usually bad in January on the Monterey Peninsula, but the tournament is such a fun event it's hard not to play in it. Also, I've had my share of success."

Nicklaus has won the Crosby three times since he vaulted to national prominence by winning the U.S. Amateur on the Pebble Beach seaside links. He also won the U.S. Open on the same layout two years ago.

John Miller, winner of the 1973 Open, will be in the Crosby field as well as nearly every man in the first 20 on the 1973 money list. Even Gary Player, who usually doesn't start his American campaign until a week or so before the Masters in April, is coming out for his first Crosby ever. Player had his share of physical problems in 1973 and finished 63rd on the money list. That's three spots below the exempt list.

Lee Trevino will make a rare Crosby start this time. He doesn't care for the weather here or the three courses they use in the event. Besides Pebble Beach, play in the first three days will also be over Spyglass Hill and Cypress Point.

Of the three courses—all of which play to par 72—Pebble is the most demanding, although in bad weather, for which the Crosby is famous, Spyglass Hill can be a nightmare. Cypress Point is the prettiest of the three courses and can either be easy or tough, depending on the weather at teeoff time.

In all, there will be 168 pros and 168 amateurs in the field. The amateur field is made up of show business and sports stars, many of them with handicaps of 10 or less. The format calls for each pro to pair off with an amateur and play one round on each of the three courses. The cut then is made to the low 70 and ties for the final round, which will be played at Pebble Beach. Portions of Saturday's and Sunday's rounds will be televised nationally with Bing sitting in as colorman.

Nicklaus wound up 1973 with $308,362 in official earnings for seven victories in 18 events. He plans a similar schedule for 1974. Bruce Crampton, Tom Weiskopf, Trevino, Lanny Wadkins, Miller Barber, Hale Irwin, Billy Casper, Miller and John Schlee completed the first 10 this year. All will play in the Crosby.

Such other sentimental favorites as Arnold Palmer, Gene Littler and Chi Chi Rodriguez and Ben Crenshaw, the Texas collegiate star who blossomed in a hurry last Fall, also are in the field.

The Los Angeles Open traditionally kicks off the new golfing year but for 1974 the L.A. Open will close the Winter Tour, switching dates with the Crosby, which had accommodations problems for the scheduled Feb. 14-17 slot.

From Pebble the Tour goes to Phoenix, Tucson, San Diego, Hawaii, Palm Springs and then Los Angeles before moving to Florida for the $260,000 Jackie Gleason Inverrary Classic Feb. 21-24.

The new year brings innovation as well as hope on the Tour. A few weeks ago, PGA Commissioner Joe Dey announced a new plan of "designated tournaments" for 1974 in which certain leading pros will be obligated to compete.

The number of such tourneys will not exceed 10 in one year and will be put in effect gradually. Only two or three of the designated tournaments will be employed in 1974 and more in subsequent years as first-class courses are available.

These tourneys will be scheduled only on outstanding courses, with not more than two held on consecutive weeks. They will not be scheduled immediately before any of the "Big Four" events—the U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and the Masters.

Tee to cup

Rod Funseth, the longshot winner of the 1973 Glen Campbell L. A. Open Golf Tournament, will defend his championship Feb. 14-17 at Riviera Country Club in Pacific Palisades.

Funseth achieved the greatest moment of his career when he beat the finest field in the long history of the tournament last January. Golf greats playing included Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Lee Trevino and Tom Weiskopf.

Funseth's winning score of 276, eight under par for Riviera's tough 7,000 yards, was only one shot off the course record of 275 held by Ben Hogan.

The L. A. Open will be the final event on the Western Golf swing this winter. It is expected to attract its usual lineup of top golfers.

THE TEAM of Jim Diemer, Jack McIntyre, Bob Moliana, Milton Thorton and a well-known name in golf, Al Geiberger, combined for a 58 to win the second annual Maury Wills Open Tournament at Via Verde recently.

The scramble tourney, due to the large turnout, was contested by five-man teams and also by foursomes.

Coming in second in the event was the team of Rod Dedeaux, Larry Organ, Bud Daley, Fred Claire and Frank Alexander. Third-place finishers were Chet Mitchell, Tom Johnston, Glen Wood and Ray Mitchell.

The team of Bob Wilson, Otto Tronowsky, Kenny Young and John Nichols finished fourth.

A number of celebrities were on hand to pay tribute to Wills, including singers Johnny Mathis, Glen Campbell and MacDavis; actors Ed Nelson, Percy Rodriguez and Billy Barty; and a host of major league baseball players.

At the banquet following the tourney, Wills presented the inaugural "Maury Wills Award" to Dodger infielder Davey Lopes, voted by his teammates as the Dodger demonstrating the most hustle and spirit, Wills' trademarks, during the past season.

THE ST. LOUIS Cardinals, The Chicago Bears and the Miami Dolphins benefit from the services of Don Anderson, Mac Percival and Doug Swift, respectively. But how do a running back, placekicker and a linebacker figure to do on a Las Vegas golf course?

The answer will become clear a couple days after the Super Bowl when they, and 47 other other NFL players visit Las Vegas for the Frontier Hotel's first Professional Football Players Pro-Am Invitational Golf Tournament. ment.

The fifty NFL players will be joined by 150 amateurs for four days of golf, awards and entertainment.

VIA VERDE Country Club pro Jimmy Powell is one of five Southern California club professionals earning exemptions in the seventh annual Andy Williams San Diego Open Golf Tournament Jan. 24-27 at Torrey Pines.

Powell earned his exemption in a tournament at Bel Air in September.

Manager Preston Gomez guest at baseball fete

Preston Gomez, new manager of the Houston Astros, will be a featured guest at the dais the evening of Thursday, Feb. 21, when the Los Angeles-Anaheim Chapter, Baseball Writers' Association of America hold the 17th annual Awards Dinner at the Disneyland Hotel Grand Ballroom.

One of the more respected figures in baseball, Gomez formerly was on the Los Angeles Dodgers coaching staff. When Leo Durocher became ill late in the 1973 season, Gomez, who was an Astros coach, ran the team. Then when Durocher resigned at the end of the campaign Gomez was named the official Houston skipper.

The fete honors members of the California Angels and Dodgers and is highlighted by the Civic Award to a prominent Los Angeles metropolitan area or Orange County figure as well as to individual players for outstanding 1973 season performances.

Dinner tickets, priced at $25.00 per peson, are available at the writers headquarters: 1352 Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles90013; (213) 626-7686.

Arts seen wallowing in coming year

UPI Senior Editor
By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP

NEW YORK (UPI) — If the tempo and gravity of world events in 1973 set the pattern for life in 1974, the arts will undergo a serious period of reassessment, even retrenchment.

Art upstaged by life? It has happened before in history and it's happening again, as even a cursory survey of painting, sculpture, architecture, music, dance, drama and films demonstrates. Failing any strong forward motion, the arts are showing a tendency to wallow in the disciplines and subject matter of the past.

The avant-garde, which flourished to the confusion of many in the 1960s, is not dead but has lost its power to shock or titillate. Realism is re-establishing itself as a valid expression in painting and sculpture. Romanticism has become fashionable again in musical programming and even composition.

Architecture has chosen to play it safe in spite of the innovative trends of the past decade. Modern dance has absorbed many of the conventions of classic ballet. Theater drifts aimlessly on a sea of nostalgia, and the most revolutionary of current new films is a silent movie.

Dr. Jacques Barzun, a versatile scholar and president of the National Institute of Arts and Letters, believes the avent-garde confronted the public in a spirit of derision and emnity that cowed its audience, for a time, into unquestioning receptivity. But this spirit was selfdestructive, he says.

"We are living and seeing one of those great turning points in history when a whole era dissolves and disappears,' Barzun observes. "The half-millenium since the Renaissance has given all that it possessed in art. We cannot squeeze any more out of its exhausted treasury. We may expect a thorough leveling and sweeping of the ground in preparation for a new and unimaginable type of art."

Meanwhile, many schools and styles of art are learning to coexist for the delectation of their specialized audiences—a welcome return to the alternative tradition. Nothing will be accepted solely for the sake of novelty. The art scene in 1974 will be diverse and somewhat tame as it awaits Barzuns bulldozer for some sense of direction.

Art lovers are flocking to realist shows to see technically brilliant canvasses that are more life-like, harsher, and more abrasive than photographs and seem hauntingly suspended in time. Jack Beal is the newest "Old Master" of the sharp focus or hyper realist school. Unfortunately, most of this school's sculpture is on a level with store window mannequins. Look for a plethora of exhibitions of 19th Century American art, which is being "rediscovered" as part of the U.S. Bicentennial.

For Sunday, Dec. 30

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You will need time to yourself today so you can ponder your thoughts, relax and enjoy uninterrupted solitude.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Select the company of friends who aren't too antsy today. High-strung individuals will make you feel uncomfortable tense.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be helpful toward any who seek you out at this time. You'll gain their gratitude and respect by being compassionate.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Someone's sound, philosophical reasoning will have a favorable influence upon your thinking. Later you'll use these ideas.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A kindness you have done for another will be repaid. This person will do something for you at his own expense.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This can be a most enjoyable day if you and your mate can get off alone where you can enjoy each other's company.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your greatest satisfaction will come from something you'll do for another knowing this person truly deserves your help.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're exceptionally creative today. You'll have to find something to keep mind and hands busy, else you'll be bored.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your moods will be greatly influenced by those around you. A pessimist could get you down in the dumps.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Try not to be too sensitive regarding the comments of others. You're likely to read unintended meanings into things.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're going to be a trifle lackadaisical about possession today and not take care of them properly. Later you'll wonder why they didn't last.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't let others exert too strong a negative influence on the course you've set. You must continue as you deem best.

Your Birthday, Dec. 30

This year your creativity is likely to be your biggest asset. Don't dismiss your ideas lightly. There are dollar signs hovering over them.

For Monday, Dec. 31

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It's important you finish now a project you've left dangling. Once it's out of the way your progress will accelerate greatly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A relationship of dubious value will end shortly with no hard feelings on either side. It's the best move for both of you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You've been in the spotlight regarding a matter that reflected poorly on your image. Relax. Conditions are changing for the better.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You won't be most active till later in the day. When you start to catch up, don't be too impulsive. You'll make mistakes.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll be secretive today regarding a matter you're involved in. Later, you'll realize it's not worth hiding.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A shift in conditions will spare you from making a decision you've felt uncomfortable about. Time is on your side—wait it out.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Some of your work will be left undone today. You won't feel up to putting out the effort required. Tend to important tasks.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you're planning some form of entertainment, schedule things so you can have some fun yourself and not wind up doing all the work.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) What may start out as a routine day will begin to perk up. By evening, you'll be in full swing.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It looks like things will get rather active around your house this evening. Be prepared for some drop-ins, just in case.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Mundane affairs will hold small interest for you today. Restlessness will drive you to seek more exciting situations.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be on your toes. Something is coming up that will be to your material advantage. If handled poorly it could cost you money instead.

Your Birthday, Dec. 31

You'll make a major change this year that you will find both stimulating and promising.

amazing new discovery!
Science has made a bold new breakthrough. In most cases, we are able to stop burning, itching, and relieve pain. In case after case, we've proved that while gently removing itching and burning, an actual reduction in irritation took place. Those of you who suffer, need no longer worry about shame or embarrassment. One application lasts for months. Specialists help you right to the bottom of your trouble, and fix it where it's needed. Fast, courteous service at Pomona Valley Datsun on Holt in Pomona across from Zodys. There is no other formula like it. You'll end the aggravation of walking to work, and the embarrassment of being late for a date. Remember, a well tuned car is essential to your mental health.

TEN BEST

Attention, brides

The Progress-Bulletin Women's Department looks forward to printing the stories of your engagement and wedding.

Please pick up engagement and wedding forms at the newspaper office and return them with the picture you wish used.

Engagement forms are not accepted if they are received less than five weeks before the wedding, and wedding forms should be returned within two weeks after the wedding with a picture of the bride only.

Snapshots, polaroid and color pictures are not acceptable for wedding pictures, although most color photos will be accepted for engagement announcements.

St. Paul's is setting for Saturday service

St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Pomona was the setting for the marriage Saturday evening of Miss Sally Melczer of Claremont to Frank Monastiere, son of the Joseph Monastieres of Ontario.

The double-ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Warren Nybaek.

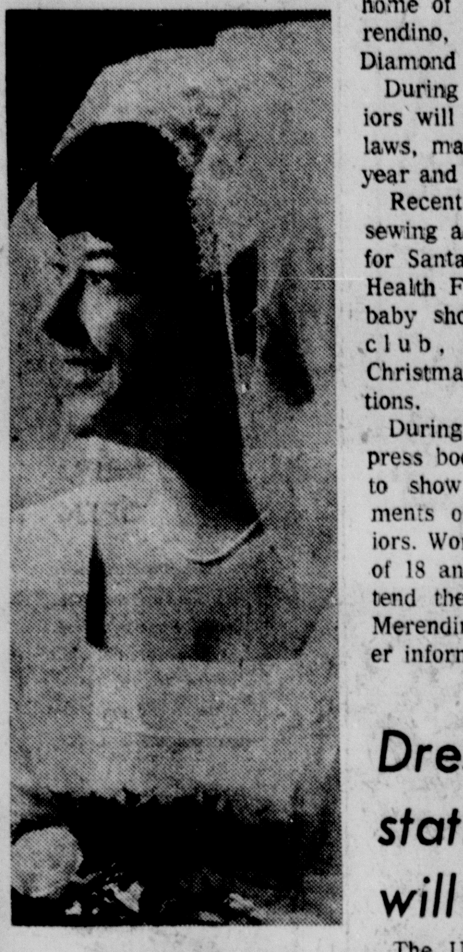
For her marriage the bride, daughter of the Louis Melczers of Phoenix, Ariz., chose an A-line silk organza gown trimmed with venise lace. A matching lace cap held a three-tier French illusion veil. She carried white roses and was given in marriage by her father.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Andrew Thompson and junior bridesmaids were Beverly Lou Thompson, Kathy Thompson, Karen Derenzi and Christine Derenzi.

Domenic Monastiere of Detroit was best man for his cousin and ushers were Andrew Thompson and Ronald Derenzi.

A reception at Ebell Club followed the wedding.

The newlyweds will reside in Claremont.



MRS. FRANK MONASTIERE

Tea planned by Diamond Bar Juniors

The Diamond Bar Junior Woman's Club has scheduled a membership tea Jan. 8 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Mary Ann Merendino, 23023 Aspen Knoll, Diamond Bar.

During the tea several juniors will discuss the club bylaws, major projects for the year and the social activities.

Recent projects included sewing and cutting stockings for Santa Claus Inc., District Health Fair, Project Concern baby shower, Adult Reading club, Hearing Clinic and Christmas Tree Lane decorations.

During the tea the club's press book will be circulated to show the past achievements of the Frampton juniors. Women between the ages of 18 and 35 who wish to attend the tea may call Mrs. Merendino, 595-7023 for further information.

Dressing station will open

The Upland Cancer Dressing Station has changed its meeting day this week from Tuesday to Jan. 8.

Volunteers are needed for the program of making dressings. Persons interested are asked to bring a sack lunch. Coffee and dessert will be furnished.

The station will be open from 9:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. at 611 N. 3rd Ave., Upland.

Chapter CS schedules meeting

Miss Opal Holland will entertain members of Chapter CS, PEO Sisterhood, Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Cohostesses will be Mrs. Bertha Miller and Miss Marguerite Dodd.

Cardiologists plan seminars for patients

NEW YORK (UPI) — Seminars in the Sand, a new vacation-medical experience will get under way in St. Thomas in March. "Seminars" is under the direction of American cardiologists who will conduct the weekly programs on a year-round basis.

"Seminars" is the brainchild of Stephen J. White, a recuperated heart attack victim, who upon recovery from open-heart surgery decided he was going to do something to help others avoid early heart attack. The innovative project sets about to educate and motivate couples between the ages of 35 to 65. The title of the endeavor is "Heart-Life Seminars in the Sand.",

Ask Dr. Brothers

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: Last week, our daughter was picked up for shoplifting in a local department store. Fortunately, my husband is a good friend of the owner and we were able to have all charges dropped. But this incident shocked my husband and me. We can't understand why. We have provided a good home and she has almost everything she wants. Her needs have always been met without too much resistance from anyone.

She is a gifted student and is basically a very good daughter. She and my husband have constant arguments and quarrels about the position of women in society and he feels that she's a wild extremist where women's liberation is concerned. I stay out of these discussions because I know my husband is old-fashioned and my daughter is young and militant. Apart from this special subject, our home is generally a happy place to be. We consider ourselves a typical American family — nothing very unusual and certainly not the kind of home that would foster criminals. We have raised this daughter in much the same way as we've raised our other children, yet something has obviously gone wrong. We don't know what it is. We feel guilty but we don't know what we've done wrong. — V.M.

Dear V.M.: I don't know that you should accept all the blame for what has happened to your daughter. The are many other vital forces that play a role in an adolescent's life outside the immediate family.

Adolescence is a time when follow-the-leader is the most important game. If swallowing gold fish happens to be the "in" thing, then many insecure teen-agers will have to swallow gold fish before they feel a complete sense of belonging. Unfortunately, in some groups, shoplifting has become a way of gaining acceptance and status. Most young people don't realize the risks involved and many don't think of it as stealing at all. To some, it is simply a kind of exciting and stimulating game.

A study conducted by University of Michigan educational researcher Marcella Martha Thall revealed that many adolescents currently consider shoplifting acceptable behavior. They do not consider shoplifting to be criminal or themselves as thieves. There is an increase in larcenies by young females as more aggressive and daring behavior becomes more acceptable. Some female adolescents may practice this form of delinquency to emphasize their rebellion against society or against their families.

Rather than immobilizing yourself with feelings of guilt and inadequacy it would be better to sit down and have a long talk with your daughter to try to find out what she was trying to prove by shoplifting. Naturally, the seriousness of her act should be impressed upon her and the manager of the store might help you to do this.

Shoplifting should not be taken lightly but it is still important to try to uncover the real motives behind the act.

The motives behind teenage shoplifting are usually a need for excitement, peer influence and rebellion against authority, but there may be something more in your daughter's case. She may be trying to prove to your husband that she can do all the things a son can do, even if these happen to be acts of unacceptable behavior. She may be so frustrated by your husband's restricted views of her as a female that she may be trying to embarrass and punish him.

If you could change your husband's thinking, it might help him as well as your daughter. If you reassure your daughter of your belief in her potential as a human being, and let her know that she need not be limited because of her sex, she may begin to channel her needs for expression and excitement into plans for her future.

Copeland and Rice vows are repeated

At a double-ring ceremony read by the Rev. Philip O'Carroll in Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church, Montclair, marriage vows were exchanged between Miss Frances Ann Rice and Robert Lee Copeland Jr.

For the afternoon ceremony the bride, daughter of the Peter David Rices of Montclair, chose a gown of white crepe with lace trim. Her floor-length veil accented the gown and she carried yellow roses, green jackstraws and small red straw flowers. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Judith Feneck was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Mary Mollet, Miss Nancy Rice and Miss Katherine Rice.

Best man for the son of Mrs. Dee Copeland of Montclair was William Copeland. Ushers were William Mollet, Marvin Baker and Bruce Copeland.

A reception in the Father Joseph Mackey Memorial Hall was held after the wedding ceremony.

The couple honeymooned in San Diego and will reside in Norfolk, Va.

Amy Vanderbilt

Decanting jug wine

"DEAR MISS VANDERBILT: We serve mainly california 'jug' wines which we decant into our own carafes. Should the carafe be unstoppered before serving? Please give us some general suggestions.—Mrs. D.W., Memphis, Tenn."

Wine expert Robert Misch agrees with me that decanting a jug of wine—or even a bottle—into a carafe (as the English do with minor wines) aerates the wine very quickly. This, wine in a carafe does not have to be unstoppered. In fact, many carafes have no stoppers.

But you should pay attention to your jug at this point, for it will have a pocket of air above the wine in which the wine begins to oxidize. It is a good idea to save empty wine bottles, cleaning them out well, so that, rather than keeping a jug of wine half-filled, you can decant it into stoppered wine bottles and refrigerate it.

If you refrigerate red wine, bring it more or less to room temperature before serving. Some of the less expensive ones, however, do well slightly chilled for serving.

"DEAR MISS VANDERBILT: A boy I have been dating in college for several months has made a suggestion I find discomfiting. He would like us each to pay our own expenses on our dates on a regular basis—not occasional Dutch treats, but each one paying his own way each time. He sees this as egalitarian, but I consider it destructive to a normal social relationship. What policy do you recommend?—M.S., Albany, N.Y."

I should think occasional Dutch treats might be fine, but for you to pay your own expenses each time you go out with this boy doesn't seem very special. The very fact that you asked me the question indicates that you prefer to be treated in a very special way—at least part of the time. You might try dating some other boys, occasionally at least. If you marry this one, eventually you may find that you are splitting every loaf of bread downthe middle. Post cards, please.

"DEAR MISS VANDERBILT: I have been a southpaw for 70 years, and I still find it annoying and officious for well-meaning people to reverse my place setting at a meal. It only calls attention to a difference.

"Practice and concentration will enable any southpaw to use a fork or hold a cup in the right hand when necessary. Where it is convenient to do so, I try to maneuver myself to the end of the row or the end of the table in order to have plenty of room. I prefer to use my fork in my left hand (which passes without comment in England, where it is customary).—Mrs. E.C., Chattanooga, Tenn."

Certainly, the Continental method of eating, with the fork in the left hand, could solve the problem for left handed people.

Here is another letter on the subject.

"DEAR MISS VANDERBILT: Most hostesses are cooperative when you ask to be placed at the left-hand end of the table. In our family, we seat southpaws next to each other.—Mrs. E.B, St. Louis, Mo."

Right-handed hostesses with left-handed friends should try to remember what table seating is comfortable for them.

(Amy Vanderbilt welcomes your letters and strives to answer all those of general interst in her column. Send your questions and comments to Miss Vanderbilt in care of Progress-Bulletin.

Ask The Cook

By Nan Wiley

DEAR NAN:

My 90-year-old aunt remembers the tea cakes (actually a large soft light-colored cookie) her mother baked in their south Georgia home. She recalls the recipe as having butter and sour cream in it. It would give my aunt great pleasure if she could bake them again. Can you help? Dorothy Edmundson. Tulsa, Okla.

I'll do my level best and if I can't track down an exact match I'm sure someone else will. I have many wonderful southern readers who are more than generous about parting with treasured family recipes. The most historical one I found dates back to October 25th, 1774, when the ladies of Edmonton, N.C., held a tea party at the home of Elizabeth King to express their indignation at the British tax on tea. (They drank tea made of raspberry leaves that day). The tea cakes were made from Penelope Parker's recipe.

You will need 3-½ cups all-purpose flour (not self-rising) 1 teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup butter (not whipped type) 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 cups firmly packed brown sugar and 3 large eggs. Sift together flour, soda and salt. Set aside. Cream butter and vanilla until soft. Gradually cream in sugar until mixture is fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time beating well after each one. Stir in flour mixture. Divide dough in half, wrapping each half in waxed paper. Chill for several hours until easy to handle.

Roll out about ⅛-inch thick on lightly floured board. Cut with a 2-½ inch cookie cutter. Bake at 400 degrees on greased cookie sheets about 7 minutes. Note: There is no liquid called for except the eggs. I think this next version is more what your aunt remembers.

Sift together 2 cups flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon soda, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg and ½ teaspoon salt. Cream ½ cup butter with 1 cup granulated sugar until fluffy. Add 1 beaten egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla or ½ teaspoon lemon extract and 1-3rd cup dairy sour cream. Mix well, adding dry ingredients gradually to blend. Roll out ⅛ inch thick on lightly floured board.

Place cutout cookies on an ungreased cookie sheet. Brush cookies with milk, sprinkle with sugar, bake at 375 degrees 8 to 10 minutes. Try to test cookie in a pie pan first. If it isn't soft enough roll the dough a little less than ¼ inch thick. Love and kisses to your aunt. Anyone who is still interested in cooking at 90 rates my cheers.

SHORT NOTICE AUCTION
of Rare Valuable Authentic
Persian Rugs
and other Oriental Rugs

As a result of the late arrival of the steamer Atlanta Crown, a complete shipment of genuine hand-knotted Persian and other Oriental rugs were not released in time for the stores Christmas sale. Those responsible for the unpaid shipment have instructed their U.S. agents to dispose of the entire shipment at the auction.

This direct shipment, in our opinion, is the finest collection in design, craftsmanship, and colour of hand-made carpets, rugs, and runners, we have ever seen in all our years of selling the finest quality of Oriental rugs and carpets.

What's your reason for not buying a home NOW?

TROUBLED OVER HIGH INTEREST RATES

It is true interest rates have risen, but they do seem to have stabilized in the past several months. And while the rates may seem high, they are not climbing as rapidly as are labor and material costs. An increase or a decrease of ½ percent in interest rates only amounts to 30c per month per $1000 on a 25 year loan. Is it really wise to deny yourself the security, pleasure and pride of home ownership on the vague hope of interest rates going down. thus saving you only $3 or $4 a month? The value of your home will increase at a much faster rate than can be gained by any lowering of interest rates. NOW is a good time to buy!

WONDER WHERE TO BEGIN LOOKING?

Worry no more . . . most folks have found that the best place to shop for that new or lived-in home is in the Classified Real Estate columns of the Progress-Bulletin. It's here (and only here) that each day you'll find the very latest offerings of homes 'for sale' . . . advertised by the area's leading real estate firms and builders. Check the want ads today—and every day—to find the home that satisfies all your needs.

YES NOW IS A GOOD TIME

Hard part of life in Roller Derby is on the road

By ARTHUR FREDERICK

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI) — The hotel sign said "Welcome, Roller Derby," and the parking lot was full of cars with California registration plates. The Queen of the Roller Derby sat in the restaurant and hacked into an overdone steak.

Joan Weston, big and blonde and close to 40, was eating a little late. She usually likes a few more hours between her steak and the game. The game was with the Chiefs at the Augusta Civic Center.

"Will I ever get a steak that isn't well done?" she asked, grinding away at the meat. Miss Weston has been chopping at well-done steaks on the roller derby circuit for 20 years.

Miss Weston's van had rolled into the hotel on a Thursday evening, after a game in Boston. She had spent Friday at a Chevrolet dealer's, getting the van's front end aligned.

"We do 70,000 or 80,000 miles a year," she said, "We get a break at Christmas and another break during the year, but we're on the road about 10 months out of the year."

Hard on van

"The Chevrolet van was bought new at the beginning of the season. It will have to be replaced before the next season starts.

Miss Weston has bright blonde hair and she's still attractive. But her nose is a bit bent and she's had her share of injuries over the seasons.

"When that happens, you just go home," she said. "We've got a team doctor out in California who takes care of us, and if the injury is bad enough you just go home until it's better. If it's just a sprain or something like that, you play with it."

The Pioneers, her team, play all over the country. She has been about everywhere and has pictures to prove it.

"I'm quite a camera bug," she said. "I've got pictures and slides and movie film, everything you can think of. I try to play tourist wherever we go. One of these days we're going to go through Canton (Ohio) at some time other than midnight. I really want to see the Football Hall of Fame. Seems every time we go through it is the middle of the night."

John Groll was eating a cheeseburger across from Miss Weston. He's played on the men's team for the past nine years.

"I got into it right out of the Marine Corps," he said. "I was kicking around, did a little carpentry."

Groll's wife travels with him, but their two children stay at home in California

The Augusta Civic Center wasn't deserted, but it was something less than a full house. The first roller derby in Augusta attracted about 4,000, but 1,500 less showed up for the next one and only about 2,000 were on hand to watch Miss Weston and the other Pioneers elbow the Chiefs.

The men skaters had gone to the Civic Center on Friday to set up the track. They prefer to do it themselves, but some places insist on setting it up because of union regulations.

Do it right

"You can always tell a union job," Miss Weston said. "It's bumpy and uneven and hard to skate on. Our guys do it and it's right—let's face it, they have to skate on it."

When the game at the Civic Center was over, Miss Weston and the others went back to their hotel. Some went to the lounge to drink and listen to the duo on organ and saxophone. Others went to their rooms, some to watch television and some to go to sleep because they would have to get up at 3 a.m. and head for New Haven, Conn.

The next morning the skaters got up and followed the advance party down the Maine Turnpike. The next game was that evening. "We go to Springfield (Mass.) after that, don't we?" Miss Weston asked. "I think we have a free day in Springfield.'

Someone gave her the name of a German restaurant in Springfield, and she scribbled it down. She had a place to spend her free day.

Slowdown in government employ seen

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Government employment will grow, but at a slower rate than it has over the past two decades, an official of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco said recently.

"The public sector has been one of the fastest growing components of the economy in recent times," Herbert Runyon wrote in the reserve bank's business and financial letter.

"Today one out of every six members of the work force is a public employe on the federal, state or local level."

Of a total work force of almost 86 million, nearly 14 million are employed by government. There are about 2.6 million federal workers and 11.1 million employed by state and local governments.

Although Runyon sees a continuing increase in the total number of persons working for the government, he expects a slowdown in the rate of growth.

One key area where this slowdown already is evident is in education. This is the largest single governmental function, employing about 5.6 million persons, and until recently it was the fastest growing category.

"The babies of the postwar baby boom have pretty much worked their way out of school and into the labor force with the predictable result that many once-jammed classrooms are empty and the once-soaring demand for teachers has come to an abrupt halt," Runyon said.

Shipping firm seeks additions

HONOLULU (UPI) — Pacific Resources, Inc., said its subsidiary, Hawaiian International Shipping Corp. has amended its application to the Federal Maritime Commision for subsidies on construction of tankers to cover four instead of three vessels and to increase the deadweight tonnage of the ships from 80,000 to 89,000 tons each. The tankers will cost about $140 million about 39 per cent of which would be covered by the subsidies.

PUBLIC NOTICE PUBLIC NOTICE

STANDARD AGREEMENT 733247

Sealed bids for Trap List Installation at California State Polytechnic University, Pomona, 3801 West Temple Avenue, Pomona, California, will be received until 10 a.m. Pacific Standard Time, January 11, 1974, in the Contract Services Office, Building 75, of the aforementioned State agency, at which time they will be opened and read publicly.

Specifications, plans, and proposal forms to be used in bidding will be mailed upon request by contacting the Contract Services Office of the aforementioned State agency (714-598-4041).

Questions related to bidding and a tour of the site of work may be arranged by calling area code 714-598-4083 and requesting Mr. Bob Hartz.

The University reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

In accordance with the provisions of Section 1773 of the Labor Code, the said State agency has ascertained that the generally prevailing rate of wages applicable to the work to be done is as follows for the Pomona area:

GENERAL PREVAILING WAGE RATES
COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES

The California State Polytechnic University, Pomona, has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages to be as tabulated hereafter for the county in which the work is to be done. Included therein are employer payments for health and welfare, vacation, pension, apprenticeship or other authorized training programs, and similar purposes. Holdays shall be as defined in the collective bargaining agreement applicable to the labor classification(s) employed on the project.

BLESSINGS IN 1974

Happy New Year

May we take this opportunity to express our appreciation to our many friends who have been so loyal through the years. Our success and growth could not have been made possible without your recommendations and referrals. And our special thanks to the more than 6800 families who have given us the opportunity of assisting in their real estate transactions this year. Many of these were with the cooperation of our Realtor friends.

It is our wish your home may enjoy the blessings of the holiday season throughout the coming year.

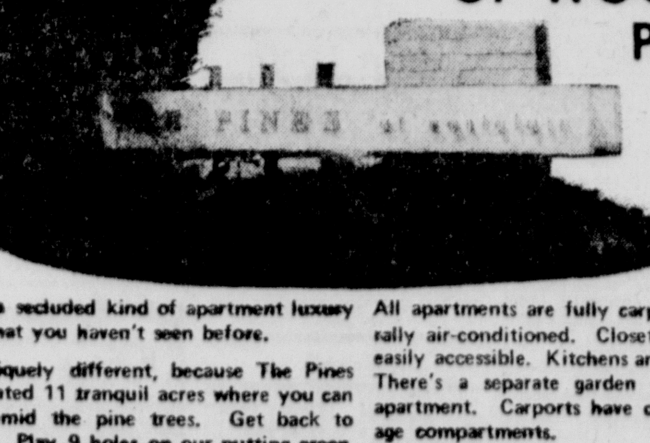
SOLITUDE
ESCAPE TO 11 ACRES OF WOODSY PINES!



Here's a secluded kind of apartment luxury living that you haven't seen before.

It's uniquely different, because The Pines has created 11 tranquil acres where you can stroll amid the pine trees. Get back to nature! Play 9 holes on our putting green, have a picnic, or just be plain old lazy.

At The Pines, you are just a stones throw from Montclair Plaza, minutes away from hospitals and medical facilities.

All apartments are fully carpeted and centrally air-conditioned. Closets are large and easily accessible. Kitchens are fully modern. There's a separate garden patio for each apartment. Carports have convenient storage compartments.

Come to The Pines—and we'll introduce you to a whole new way of life!

FRIENDS,
Here are just a few of the many written comments we receive from our happy customers:

Courteous, cooperative, considerate attention on every detail from all your personnel.
H. & B. RUSH, Mira Loma

Cooperation and concern of your personnel made the transition to mobile home living a pleasant experience.
L. HUTCHINSON, Pom.

Thanks for the fine way you have treated us in our new mobile home and we love every minute of it.
R. & M. BLAND, Pom.

Your Service Personnel have been exceptional, both in workmanship and pleasant attitude. Thanks so much.
A. & D. KRUGER, La Puente

Yes folks, our entire staff of efficient, cooperative personnel are at your service to provide you with courteous customer relations for the rest of your life!
Sincerely
BILL HARRIS

Polly's Pointers

DEAR POLLY — When there is no clothesline available, or if it is raining, a convenient way to dry curtains that have just been washed is to place two chairs back-to-back. Place a curtain rod with each end over a chair back. Pull the chairs as far apart as rods will allow. Fold curtains over the rods so they will just escape dragging on the floor. Place papers on the floor to catch drips. — SHARON

DEAR POLLY — I find a clothes basket most suitable for my baby to sit and play in. This is very handy when we are at the dinner table, as she is too big for her infant seat and too small for a high chair. When I attend a meeting of amy kind she and the basket go along. — MRS. M. P.

DEAR POLLY — The buckles on my "strap and buckle" shoes hurt my feet after I walked a while with them. I placed a round "plastic spot" from a package of assorted adhesive badages under each buckle and that solved the problem. — G. M. M.

DEAR POLLY — With the cost of food what it is, I keep a zip-lock plastic bag in my freezer and put into it any leftover onions, tomatoes, celery, carrots (all fresh) and they are clean and ready to use either in soup or stew. — TERRI

DEAR POLLY — My hair always looks soft, silky and shiny as I use a good shampoo, but I dilute it. About 1 part shampoo is used with 4 parts water to give me a lather — no dulling soap film, pretty hair AND the added bonus of four bottles of shampoo to every one I buy! — PATRICIA

DEAR POLLY — The furniture for our nursery was a motley collection of finishes. I used a quart of avocado green to cover the furniture. I bought one-half yard of gay orange-and-yellow adhesive-backed paper with the same design of large daisies. I cut these out and centered one over each of the holes for the drawer pulls. Three daisies were put on the front of the toy chest. On the panel foot of the crib I glued two "potted" daisies — a small dowel stick made the stem and the pots were the two halves of a cut-in-two styrofoam thread spool. This entire project cost about $3. — CHERYL

THIS WEEK'S TOP PRIZE QUESTION:

"WHY DOES IRON RUST?"

AN IRON NAIL LEFT IN A DAMP PLACE WILL SOON BE COVERED WITH A REDDISH-BROWN ASH WE CALL "RUST." AIR AND WATER MADE THE NAIL RUST. WHEN WATER AND THE OXYGEN IN THE AIR JOIN TOGETHER WITH THE IRON IN THE NAIL A CHEMICAL CHANGE TAKES PLACE. THE IRON "BURNS UP," MUCH LIKE A LOG THAT IS SET AFIRE. BUT THE RUSTING PROCESS IS VERY SLOW AND IS NOT ACCOMPANIED BY FLAMES. AS THE IRON "BURNS" IT TURNS INTO AN ENTIRELY NEW MATERIAL—RUST.

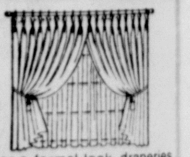
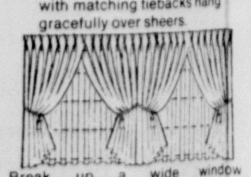
HOW TO MEASURE

For width, measure the width of a white conventional rod plus right and left projection from wall. With decorative rod, measure the distance between the end rings plus right and left projection. For length, measure from the top of conventional rod, or from eye of ring on decorative rod, to desired length. Why not pick up our handy guide-to-measuring brochure?

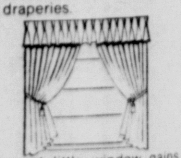
These are just some of the looks you can create!



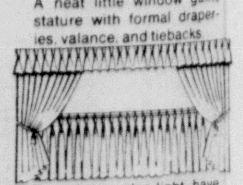
For a formal look, draperies with matching tiebacks hang gracefully over sheers.



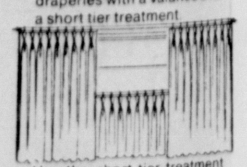
Break up a wide window with an abundance of tied-back draperies.



A neat little window gains stature with formal draperies, valance, and tiebacks.



For privacy, plus light, have draperies with a valance over a short tier treatment.



Use the short tier treatment for two looks. Draw the other draperies partially.

Radial Tire SALE

SAVE 25%

Sears Highway Passenger Tire Guarantee

If you do not receive the number of miles specified because of your tire becoming unserviceable due to (1) defects, (2) normal road hazards, or (3) tread wear-out,

We will: At our option, exchange it for a new tire or give you a refund charging in either case only the proportion of the then current selling price plus Federal Excise Tax that represents mileage used. If the tire is unserviceable due to any of the above causes before 10% of the guaranteed mileage is received. The replacement refund will be made with no charge for mileage received.

Nail punctures will be repaired at no charge. Guarantee applies to tires on vehicles used for private family purposes.

36,000 MILE GUARANTEE

The Sears Radial 36 boasts 4 rayon cord belts and 2 polyester cord radial plies that add up to strength, long wear and a smooth ride.

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR ARLENE DAHL

I've read with interest about your many business activities. How do you feel toward Women's Lib?—L. W., Lancaster, N.Y.

● I certainly believe that a woman should be paid the same salary as a man doing the same job. But I don't like the tactics of Women's Libbers. It seems to me that the women who are throwing away their bras and not using makeup are the last people who should do these things. Also, I believe women in business should complement the men they work with, not compete against them.

FOR HOWARD COSELL

How do you feel about Congress lifting the TV blackouts in the cities where pro football games are being played?—David Thomas, Waco, Texas

● I was dead set against it. I thought it was a cheap and scurvy piece of political expediency, and I think it's going to do great harm to professional football. I believe the blackout policy was the firm economic underpinning of the National Football League.

FOR JEAN STAPLETON, "All in the Family" star

What about your real husband? Does he believe, like Archie, that a woman's place is in the kitchen?—Doris Davis, Rochester, N.Y.

● No, my husband likes to be married to a woman who has interests outside the home. He thinks that makes her more interesting. And since he can cook and take care of the children, he's liberated, too!

FOR JACQUELINE SUSANN

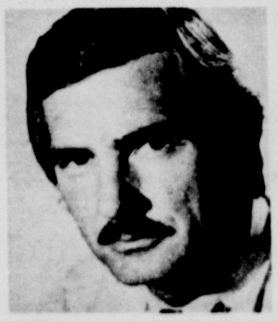
I have just started writing. What's your idea of a good, exciting book?—D. K., Spring Grove, Pa.

● All of mine.

FOR BILL RUSSELL, basketball coach

How long did it take you to make that fabulous shot in your TV commercial where you shoot the basketball through the hoop?—Janice Branich, Covina, Calif.

● The first time I made it with the first shot. The second time it took the good part of one day.



FOR DENNIS WEAVER

It seems to me that most of the characters you portray are basically gentle people. Do you consider yourself to be a gentle person?—M. Martnik, Hartford, Conn.

● I'd like to think so. I like gentle people. I don't get angry that easily. What's the purpose? Getting mad does two things: 1) it's bad for the health, causing body heat to burn up cells; and 2) it can make you totally irrational. You lose that quality that separates us from the lower beings.

FOR MRS. RICHARD NIXON

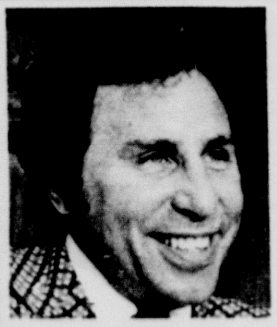
Why do you always wear gloves or long sleeves?—I. E. Garrick, Forest Hills, N.Y.

● I think long sleeves are more becoming to me.

FOR TWIGGY

Do you take care of your own house?—L. A. Geller, Paterson, N.J.

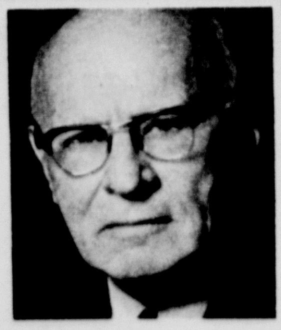
● Well, yes and no. I do wash up sometimes, but not much really. But if I start cleaning I have to do everything, all day. Spring cleaning. As for cooking, I just started doing it—about once a week. I love American food. but I don't eat meat, so I've never tasted your hamburgers.



FOR LEE CORSO, football coach at University of Indiana

Why do you place so much emphasis on good recruiting?—C. George, Seattle, Wash.

● I have five reasons: Betsy, Steve, Dave, Diane and me. That's my wife and family, and we have developed some bad habits—like eating, sleeping under a roof and wearing clothes. If I don't recruit, we don't win. And if I don't win, we don't get to do any of those things.



FOR EMANUEL CELLER (D-N.Y.), retired congressman

What was the worst and the best experience you had in your 50 years in Congress?—P. O., Nyack, N.Y.

● The same experience—with a 41-year interruption. The worst came first: In 1924, I lost trying to prevent passage of the Immigration Act, a bill that banned Orientals and sharply limited Europeans coming to this country. I learned that passion more than logic rules the minds of men. The best came 41 years later, when, in 1965, a bill I sponsored repealed the 1924 Immigration Act. I learned that patience is bitter, but it bears rich fruit.

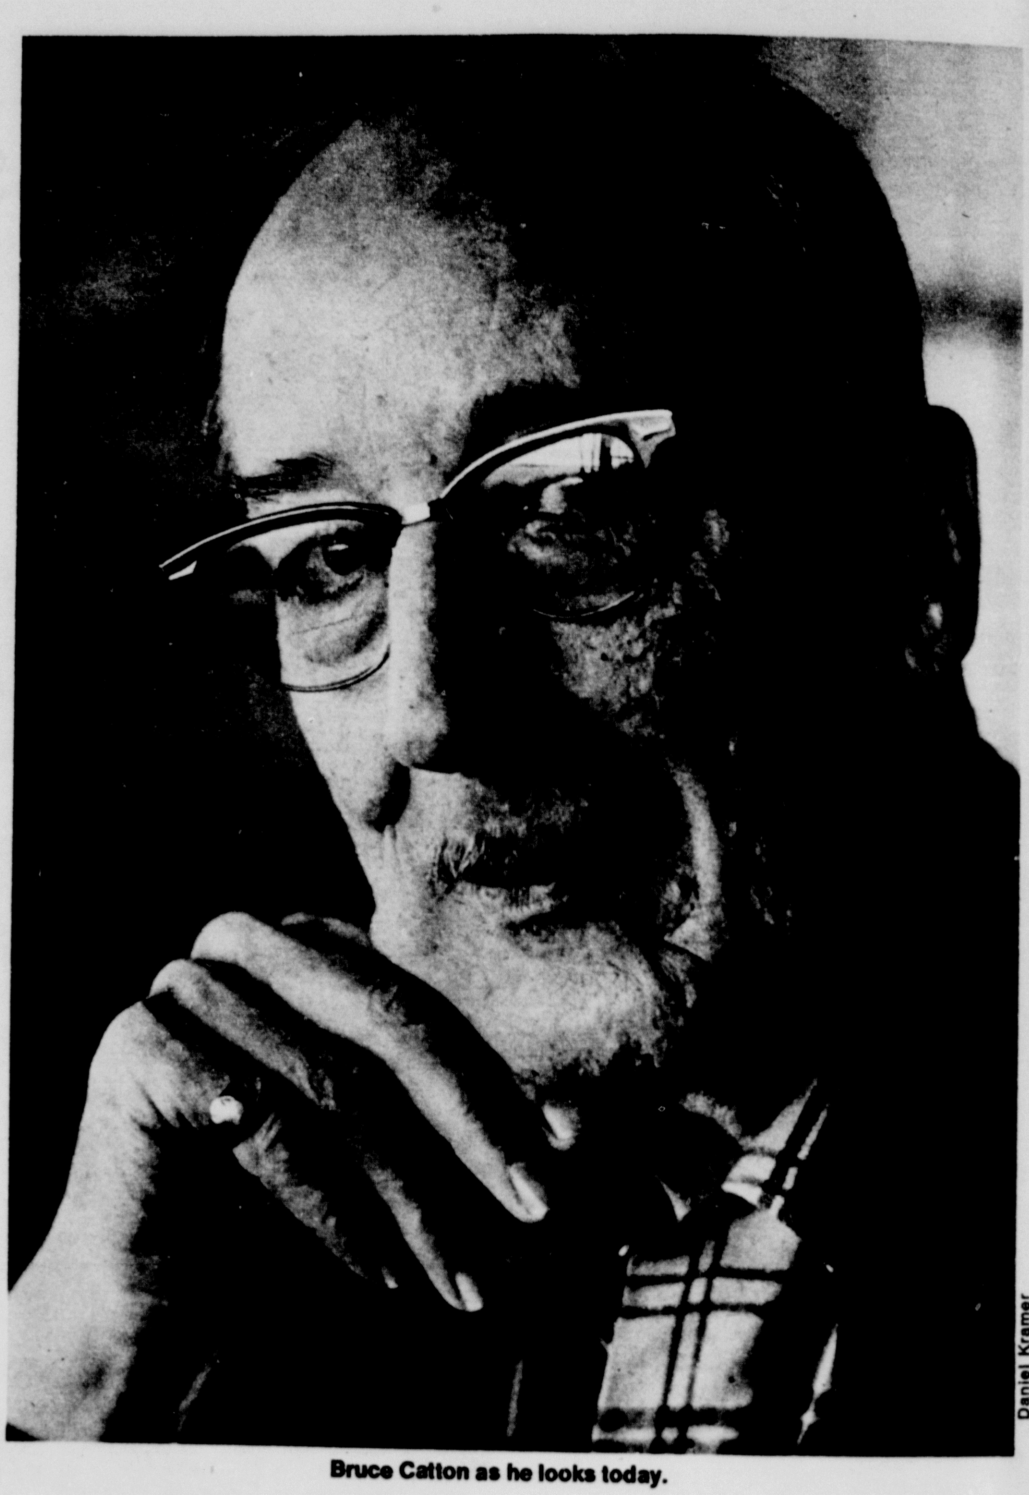
An After-Christmas Story from a Great Writer's Boyhood

By Bruce Catton



Daniel Kramer

Bruce Catton as he looks today.

Which Held the Truth About Life?

The Joy Above the Stars, The Terror Below the Ice

"What I had seen through the transparent bending ice seemed to be nothing less than the heart of darkness. It was not just my own death that had been down there; it was the ultimate horror, lying below all life, kept away by something so fragile that it could break at any moment."

The time of this remarkable story: The year 1915, when Bruce Catton was 16. The place: Benzonia, a town in northern Michigan where Mr. Catton still makes his home.

We lived then in a time of great expectations. We believed in ourselves and in the future, and we welcomed all of the omens that were good. We were not, to be sure, altogether half-witted. It is good to know that the world is not exactly what it seems to be, but to know this is to be dimly aware that it may be worse instead of better.

We had an acute sense of the impermanence of the present, and a haunting understanding that we were living for a time in a strange borderland between the real and the unreal, without enough knowledge of the country to tell one from the other. Yet there was something about our north country (or maybe it was something about me) that issued disquieting warnings now and then. There was the emptiness off to the north, thousands of miles of it, with the cold tang of the Ice Age in the air; to the south was the land of the Mound Builders, whose best efforts produced nothing more than unobtrusive scars on the earth; and all about us were the bleak acres of stumps, the dying towns and the desolate farms that were being given up, discards in a game where most of the players had lost. Now and again these things demanded thought.

About the Author

Bruce Catton's interest in American history has been his guiding light. After a stint as a reporter, he began his distinguished career as a historian. In 1954 he won both the Pulitzer Prize and National Book Award for "A Stillness at Appomattox."

There was for instance one January morning that winter when Lewis Stoneman and I went sailing on skates. I do not know whether anyone does that nowadays, but it was quite a thing at the time and we had read about it in some magazine. You took thick strips of wood and made an oblong frame, about four feet long by three feet wide, added a couple of cross braces for stiffening and for handholds, and covered the frame with a piece of discarded bed sheet cut to size. Then you went to the ice, put on your skates, held the frame in front of you, and let the wind take charge. I talked about this with Lewis, who was a student at the academy and was for some reason known as "Yutch," and it sounded like fun. We built the frames in the basement of Father's house, talked Mother into giving us a frayed old sheet, tacked pieces of it to the wood, got our skates, and one Saturday went down to Crystal Lake to see about it.

Skating conditions were perfect. The sun was bright, the bare ice was like polished steel, and there was a brisk wind from the east—which was fine, because we were at the eastern end of the lake and the open ice stretched away to the west for more than eight miles. We put on our skating shoes, knotted the laces of our regular shoes

The author in front of Crystal Lake.

"Overhead, infinitely remote, yet for all of that very near and comforting, there was the endless host of golden stars whose clear flames denied the darkness. The message was unmistakable. Life was leading us—somewhere, somehow, miraculously—to a transfiguration."

together and hung them about our necks, got out on the frozen lake, held the sails in front of us, and took off.

The wind was strong, blowing steadily and without gusts, and it filled our sails and took us down the lake at what seemed a fabulous speed. We had never moved so fast on skates before—had not imagined it was possible to move so fast—and it was all completely effortless. All we had to do was stand erect, hold on to our sails, and glide away; it was like being a hawk, soaring above the length of a ridge on an updraft of air, and it felt more like flying than anything that ever happened to me, later on in life, in an airplane.

For the moment it was enough to be carried by the wind. The whole world had been made for our enjoyment. The sky was unstained blue, with white clouds dropping shadows now and then to race along with us, the hills that rimmed the lake were white with snow, gray and blue with bare tree trunks, clear gold in places where the wind had blown the snow away from sandy bluffs, the sun was a friendly weight on our shoulders, the wind was blowing harder and we were going faster than ever, and there was hardly a sound anywhere. I do not believe I have ever felt more completely in tune with the universe than I felt that morning on Crystal Lake. It was friendly. All of its secrets were good.

Then, suddenly, came awakening. We had ridden the wind for six miles or more, and we were within about two miles of the western end of the lake; and we realized that not far ahead of us there was a broad stretch of sparkling, dazzling blue running from shore to shore, flecked with picturesque whitecaps—open water. It was beautiful, but it carried the threat of sudden death. The lake had not been entirely frozen, after all. Its west end was clear, and at the rate we were going we would reach the end of ice in a short time. The lake was a good hundred feet deep there, the water was about one degree warmer than the ice itself, and the nearest land—wholly uninhabited in the dead of winter—was a mile away. Two boys dropped into that would never get out alive.

There was also a change in the ice beneath us. It was transparent, and the water below was black as a starless midnight; the ice had become thin, it was flexible, sagging a little under our weight, giving out ominous creakings and crackling sounds, and only the fact that we kept moving saved us from breaking through. It was high time, in short, for us to get off of that lake.

Yutch saw it at the same moment I did. We both pointed, and yelled, and then we made a 90-degree turn to the left and headed for the southern shore. If we had known how to use our sails properly the wind would have taken us there, but we knew nothing about that. All we could think of was to skate for the shore with all speed, and those sails were just in the way. We dropped them incontinently, and we never saw them again, and we made a grotesque race for safety, half-skating and half-running. We came at last to the packed floe ice over the shallows, galloped clumsily across it, reached the snow-covered beach, and collapsed on a log to catch our breath and talk in awed tones about our narrow escape.

We got home, eventually, somewhere along toward dusk. We at first thought we would skate back, but the wind was dead against us and skating into it seemed likely to be harder than walking along the shore, and besides we had had all of the lake we wanted for that day. We put on our other shoes and plodded cross-country through the snow, three miles to Frankfort, at which place, the afternoon train having left, we got a livery-stable rig to take us to Benzonia. (I am not sure Father althogether appreciated having to pay the liveryman the required two dollars; he earned his dollars the hard way, and he never had many of them. However, he paid up without a whimper.)

The whole business cut a hard groove in my mind. I found after a while that I did not want to talk about it. I did not even want to think about it, but I could not help myself. What I had seen through the transparent bending ice seemed to be nothing less than the heart of darkness. It was not just my own death that had been down there; it was the ultimate horror, lying below all life, kept away by something so fragile that it could break at any moment. Everything we did or dreamed or hoped for had this just beneath it. . . . One gets knotty thoughts, sometimes, at halfway house.

This seemed especially hard to digest because it came so soon after another – and quite different – experience that had happened that Christmas Eve.

By the time I was 16, the old excitement of Christmas gifts had of course worn somewhat thin, and I was ready to admit that the intense emotion centering about the tree in the living room was primarily something for small children. Still, that year as every year, I routinely went to the Christmas Eve celebration in the village church.

The church was filled with people. It was imperfectly lighted, and its interior seemed immense, larger than life, dominated by the great tree that reached up to the shadows just beneath the rafters, its tiny flames all twinkling. Just to be in the place was to partake of a mystery. When the wheezy organ sounded off with "Joy to the World," and the doors opened to let us out into the winter night, it was as if we heard the sound of far-off trumpets.

Walking home afterward was what did it. It was cold and there was plenty of snow, which creaked under our feet as we went along the road, and the silent air seemed to be echoing with the carols we had sung; and overhead, infinitely remote, yet for all of that very near and comforting, there was the endless host of golden stars whose clear flames denied the darkness. The message was unmistakable. Life was leading us—somewhere, somehow, miraculously—to a transfiguration.

It stayed with me. I felt that I had had a glimpse behind the veil. I had seen the ultimate truth, and that truth was good; or so, at any rate, it seemed to me at the time. But while this remembered vision still lingered, I had gone on that windborne cruise along the Crystal Lake ice, and at the far end of it I had seen something altogether different. Under the ice lay a flat denial of everything I had seen beyond the stars on Christmas Eve. I had had two visions, of the horror and of the transfiguration, and they seemed equally authentic.

They spoke with equal force. I could not accept one and discard the other. They went together; forget both or live with both. Since they were, as I then believed, unforgettable, it seemed to me that I had to adjust myself to them.

The worst and the best visions are true, and the ultimate truth that embraces both is fantastically beyond comprehension. Life is a flame burning in water, shining on a sea that has no shore, and far overhead there are other flames which we call stars.

At class reunions almost everybody has a gimmick. Try picking the one who doesn't go along.

1. Nope. He's Don Wand. Won school essay contest with "The Art of Pre-Marital Dancing." Gimmick: 200 mm holder to balance his 100 mm cigarette. 2. No. It's Rah-Rah Mendelson, ex-cheerleader. Gimmick: He's wearing it. Smokes whatever he finds in his pouch. 3. No. He's Moe Mentum, alias "Stone Hands" for dropping passes. Just dropped statue of school mascot. 4. T. Deious, school bore. Gimmick: His voice, off-key contralto. Smokes oval cigarettes (he sat on his soft-pack and liked it). 5. Curley Gilroy. His hair was voted "Most Likely to Recede." Gimmick: Staples toupee on. Also staples his roll-your-owns. 6. Right. He's still his own man. Likes his cigarette honest, no-nonsense, too. Camel Filters. Easy and good tasting. 6a. Kicky VIII, mascot. Has eyes only for Mendelson (see 2 above).

Turn a Simple Meatloaf into "Meatloaf Wellington"

With a little pie crust, you can transform meatloaf into a dish that's pretty enough for New Year's Eve!

This week, Food Editor Marilyn Hansen makes meatloaf—but not just another meatloaf. Says Marilyn: "Here's one recipe I think every smart gal will want to add to her collection. It's a change for the family—and pretty enough for guests!"

MARILYN'S MENU

Assorted Beverages
Stuffed Celery
Meatloaf Wellington and Sauce*
Whole Buttered Carrots and Green Beans
Crisp Oven-Baked French Fries
Italian Artichoke Salad
Sparkling Burgundy
Raspberry Sherbet
Coffee Tea Milk

*Recipe given

MEATLOAF WELLINGTON

1½ lbs. ground chuck
¾ cup fine dry bread crumbs plus 2 tablespoons
⅓ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons ketchup
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon rosemary leaves, crumbled
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1¼ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
1 can (4¾ ozs.) liverwurst spread
1 can (3 ozs.) chopped mushrooms, undrained
1 pkg. (10 ozs.) pie-crust mix
1 egg yolk
1 tablespoon cold water

1. Preheat oven to 350°F. In large mixing bowl, combine ground chuck, ¾ cup bread crumbs, onion, ketchup, egg, milk, rosemary, Worcestershire, salt and pepper; blend well.

2. On sheet of waxed paper, shape meat into a 7x4-inch rectangle. Place loaf on a baking sheet; bake for 40 minutes. Cool for 25 minutes, until just warm.

3. Meanwhile in a small bowl, combine liverwurst spread with drained chopped mushrooms (save liquid for Sauce) and 2 tablespoons fine bread crumbs; set aside.

4. Prepare pie-crust mix according to package directions and divide into two parts, one slightly larger.

5. Roll smaller piece of dough into a rectangle 2 inches wider and longer than cooled meatloaf. Place on foil-lined baking sheet.

6. Place meatloaf on bottom crust. Spread surface of meatloaf with liverwurst mixture. Set oven at 400°F.

7. Roll out remaining dough into a rectangle large enough to cover top and sides of meatloaf. Cover meatloaf with top crust. Seal edges together smoothly with cold water. Trim edges of crust as necessary. Prick surface and decorate as desired with pastry flowers.

8. Combine egg yolk with cold water and brush entire crust with glaze.

9. Bake for about 20-25 minutes, or until crust is golden brown.

Makes 8 servings

SAUCE FOR MEATLOAF WELLINGTON

2 envelopes (¾-oz. size) brown gravy mix
Liquid from mushrooms
1¼ cup water
¾ cup dry red wine
¼ teaspoon rosemary leaves, crushed

1. Make up brown gravy mix as package label directs except use mushroom liquid, water, wine and rosemary in quantities given above.

2. Bring to boiling, stirring. Add additional wine or water if too thick. Season to taste.

Makes about 2 cups

When you buy just one record or tape—there are always at least half-a-dozen more you wish you could get too.

Okay... this is your chance.

Because, as a new member of the Columbia Record & Tape Club, you can get ANY 12 records or tapes on these four pages... ALL 12 for $1.97.

Take your favorites. (How nice not to have to choose among them. Just to get them all!) Throw in one or two "experimental" ones. Albums you've been anxious to try, just to add something different to your collection.

It's a music lover's dream come true!

To order your 12 stereo tapes or records, just fill in and mail the handy application card—no postage needed. (Be sure to indicate whether you want cartridges, cassettes, reel tapes or records.) In exchange...

You agree to buy nine selections (at regular Club prices) in the next two years—and you may cancel membership any time after doing so.

Your own charge account will be opened upon enrollment; the selections you order as a member will be mailed and billed at regular Club prices: cartridges and cassettes, $6.98; reel tapes, $7.98; records, $4.98 or $5.98...plus processing and postage. (Occasional special selections may be somewhat higher.)

You may accept or reject selections as follows: every four weeks (13 times a year) you will receive a new copy of the Club's music magazine, which describes the Selection of the Month for each musical interest... plus hundreds of alternate selections from every field of music. In addition, about six times a year we will offer some special selections (usually at a discount off regular Club prices). A response card will always be enclosed with each magazine.

...if you do not want any selection offered, just mail the response card by the date specified

...if you want only the Selection of the Month for your musical interest, you need do nothing—it will be shipped to you automatically

...if you want any of the other selections offered, order them on the response card and mail it by the date specified.

You will always have at least 10 days in which to make a decision. If for any reason you do not have 10 days in which to decide, you may return the regular selection at our expense and you will receive full credit for it.

You'll be eligible for our bonus plan upon completing your enrollment agreement—a plan which enables you to save at least 33% on all your future purchases. Here, indeed, is the most convenient way possible to acquire a record and tape collection at the greatest savings possible... so act now!

Raquel Welch Talks Candidly About Love, Marriage and the Men in Her Life

"I would be too self-conscious to appear nude in front of 200 people on the set, and I would be upset at the audience's reaction. I even feel uneasy gallivanting around in a bikini."

Pictorial Parade

Raquel: A Romantic

FAMILY WEEKLY: Raquel, we always hear rumors around Hollywood. . . . How about it—are you planning to marry again or not?

RAQUEL: You mean Ron Talsky? He's my boyfriend, but I don't plan to get married at this time.

FW: What does Ron do?

RAQUEL: He's a costume designer. He did my clothes for "Kansas City Bomber" and "The Last of Sheila."

FW: Before you met Ron, you were married to Patrick Curtis for many years and he seemed to have, to say the least, a very strong influence on your career. Do you always need someone to tell you what to do?

RAQUEL: Not at all! What I want is professional advice—then I want to make up my own mind. I don't need anyone to tell me what to do.

FW: Are you a romantic?

RAQUEL: Terribly. Ron and I keep writing each other the most beautiful love notes, and when we go someplace, we try to get two of the same things—glasses, matchboxes, whatever.

FW: Do you think two people can stay in love indefinitely and remain happy together?

RAQUEL: I'd like to say yes, but I think it is impossible to stay with one man forever. The trouble is, I can anticipate signs of trouble. Little things—tensions, weariness about being in each other's company. And I dread it, because I know that the end of the relationship is in sight.

FW: Do you think it's possible for a woman like you to be away on location for ten weeks and have her husband understand the separation?

RAQUEL: How many wives get used to their husbands being away that long? Besides, I don't think it's good for two people to be together all the time. A marriage has a much better chance of succeeding if they're apart a good deal because each time it's like starting all over again.

FW: Do you think your marriage to Pat Curtis failed because you were working together so closely? That it might have lasted a little longer if you'd been in different professions?

RAQUEL: Maybe—but I don't think our marriage could have worked under any conditions. When we started, I was a nobody, he was an office boy. Then my career zoomed and his—well, how shall I put it? His just didn't. It made things very difficult. But Patrick was not the Svengali he has been made out to be. I always made my own decisions. We just approached things differently.

FW: How did you get the name Welch?

RAQUEL: That was my first married name. I was married to my high school sweetheart, but we were too young to know what it was all about.

FW: Yet you have two children by your first husband. How old are they?

RAQUEL: My son Damon is ten and my daughter Tahnee is eight.

FW: Raquel, what do you think about nudity in films?

RAQUEL: Some nude scenes are done well. Some people are attractive. But personally I don't see any real necessity for nudity. I don't think not being nude has subtracted from what I'm doing. I think a story plot should progress well without nudity. And if a film is good—with or without nudity—it sells.

FW: Why won't you do nude scenes?

RAQUEL: Because they embarrass me! It's an intensely personal thing! I would be too self-conscious to appear nude in front of 200 people on the set, and I would be upset at the audience's reaction. I even feel uneasy gallivanting around in a bikini. That's why I wear modest swimming suits when I'm on vacation. I don't like crowded beaches either. I can't stand being scrutinized by a lot of people. I was brought up a particular way, and this does not include taking off one's clothes in front of a lot of strangers. If this is being old-fashioned, well, I guess that's what I am. Besides, until now I haven't seen such a wonderful script that I would undress for it.

FW: Do you get embarrassed seeing other women in the nude?

RAQUEL: No. I was in Paris recently with Ron, and we went to a nightclub that had a nude act. I thought the girls were beautiful, and if they wanted to take their clothes off, that was their business.

FW: How do you see your own future in, say, 10 or 15 years? Can you visualize yourself doing character parts?

RAQUEL: I'd have to wait and see. I honestly don't know. I think it would be a bore to still be in pictures 10 or 15 years from now. That's why I want to concentrate on nightclubs like the Las Vegas ones, where I can make lots of money in three weeks, so I can retire and do what I want to do.

FW: What do you want to do?

RAQUEL: Well, I'd like to make a picture every two years and the rest of the time I'd just live. I'd visit places, read, go to museums, exchange ideas. That's what life is really all about. Making movies is just a means of getting to do it eventually. When I started in films I was only interested in my work. I simply couldn't absorb anything else. There was no extra energy. Now I can look at food and enjoy it. Enjoy the smell, the taste. That's real wealth. And now work is becoming more cumbersome. The challenge, the real drive is gone. Acting is becoming kind of a bore.

FW: What is it you want most out of life at this point?

RAQUEL: To give my children a good education and all the love I am capable of giving. fw

How your Horoscope can bring you wealth, love, success and happiness.

Astrology Today

"The Nation's Largest Astrological Society"

Did you know your horoscope could mean the difference between happiness or sorrow; between success or failure?

Picture a long room with doors at each end. In this room there are money, attractive persons of the opposite sex, books that tell you the secret of happiness and many other valuable articles. But, also in this room are bottomless pits, traps, hostile persons and dangerous beasts chained in various places around the room. You must walk through this room, but you may take out of it anything you can.

Now if you had a choice, would you choose to 1) go through the room blindfolded or 2) go through the room with your eyes open and with written instructions on which places and people to visit or avoid.

Of course, all of us would pick the second choice in a case such as this. Isn't it ridiculous, then, that we would choose to go through life, the same situation, blindfolded! Even when there is a means to go through life with a map and our eyes wide open! The means provided is Astrology. The map is our astrological horoscope.

How does it work? Nature's cosmos imprints each of us at the time of birth – when the umbilical cord is cut. We then become ourselves. Until the cord is cut, we are part of our mother. Why or how we presently do not know. The movement of the large solar bodies then times potentials for events in our lives. Astrology does not cause events but is timing of events. But, it's not fortune telling. It's a prediction of potentials which free will can override.

What does a natal horoscope analysis by a qualified astrologer contain? A natal horoscope analysis contains the best psychological analysis of yourself that you can get today. Because, in a controlled experiment in 1960, astrologers beat psychologists in predicting case histories.

In addition, a natal horoscope analysis includes discussions on the following: financial outlook; taxes and inheritances; early home environment; relationships with family, relatives and parents; lovelife and marriage; children; career and occupation; hopes; wishes and goals; and subconscious attitudes. In a major analysis, a one year forecast is also included.

Many people think that astrology only appeals to "way out" unscientific people. Nothing could be farther from the truth. In fact, studies show that astrology appeals most to intelligent and logical people. Famous scientists Galileo, Carl Jung, Johannes Kepler, Roger Bacon, Tycho Bache and Albert Einstein all believed in astrology.

Your horoscope can help you be in the right place at the right time.

Your horoscope can help you avoid disasters while guiding you to your beneficial opportunities.

Did you know that astrology helped the allies win World War II? The allies employed astrologers. The axis powers started out employing astrologers. But, this was ceased early when the famous astrologer, Karl Ernst Krafft, predicted the exact time and place of an attempt on Hitler's life in 1939. Hitler thought the astrologers were conspiring against him, so they were imprisoned.

Hitler turned back to astrology – too late. He read his horoscope in the last moments of the war as Berlin burned around him.

More on avoiding disaster, came these stories from a recent article in the Miami Herald newspaper. The article tells the story of Mary Kelly, a Miami computer programmer, who heeded the advice of her horoscope which warned her of a wrong medical diagnosis. She avoided an unnecessary operation that would have left her a cripple.

The Miami Herald also tells the story of astrologer Clifford McMullen, who is George McGovern's personal astrologer. He warned McGovern that if he ran for president, that he would win the Democratic nomination, but he would lose badly to President Nixon in the November election.

Your horoscope can bring you wealth. Famous business tycoon, J. P. Morgan, used astrology to acquire his fortune. Morgan did not make a financial move without checking his natal horoscope forecast.

From an article in the Miami Herald came this story:

"Stockbrokers on Wall Street are as likely to call an astrologer in this decade as Hollywood film stars would call a psychiatrist in the last. David Williams, a 75 year old retired financial expert who lives in Clearwater, has made $150,000 from the stock market in 13 years by using astrology as an investment guide."

Your horoscope can show you the way to success and happiness in love and marriage. Horoscopes of Grace Kelly and Jackie Kennedy predicted their current successful marriages, Grace Kelly to Prince Rainier and Jackie Kennedy to Aristotle Onassis.

Princess Grace and Prince Rainier have recently had their horoscopes done together by American astrologer, Keith Clayton. As with these famous people, your horoscope can help you find and keep a lasting and meaningful love relationship.

Now and through the ages a good natal horoscope analysis has meant success for many people. In other cases many men have missed their opportunity; some with tragic consequences, such as Adolf Hitler.

Will you miss your success opportunities? Will you stumble into pitfalls you could have avoided?

Today, right this moment, you can have your natal horoscope cast and analyzed. You can get it for only the cost to make your duplicate copy. You get the expensive casting and analyzing process – FREE. The article below will tell you how. The means are available, but the choice is yours.

HOW TO GET YOUR NATAL HOROSCOPE FOR ONLY THE COST OF MAKING COPIES.

by John F. Ford

Send me your exact time and place of birth. I'll cast and analyze your natal horoscope for research purposes. You may have duplicate copies of your horoscope for only $3.00 – the cost to make your copies plus postage and handling costs. You get the expensive casting and analyzing process – FREE, because of the fact that we must produce your horoscope for research anyhow.

Your natal horoscope will consist of nine pages and over 3,000 words. Your natal horoscope will contain your psychological analysis plus a discussion of the following: your lovelife; financial outlook; marriage, family and children relationships; career and occupations; hopes, wishes and goals; and subconscious attitudes. A horoscope of this type would cost up to $300 if done by an astrologer.

I will cast your horoscope with the help of our 360 - 65 I.B.M. computer, which contains over 24 million bits of information. Your horoscope will not be the worthless type found in daily newspapers. Your natal horoscope will be cast from your exact time and place of birth for you and you alone.

THERE'S ABSOLUTELY NO CATCH. I need this information for my astrological research. I am looking for certain planet configurations. If you are chosen as a research subject, I will mail to you a research questionnaire. If you fill out and return this questionnaire, you will be entitled to extra bonuses.

There is no need to worry about findind out about an unavoidable coming disaster thru your chart. As mentioned, astrology deals in potentials. Your free will can override potentials if you know about them. In any case, the policy of qualified astrologers is positive astrology. If there is something negative in your chart, you are told what you can do to make it positive.

To get your horoscope thru this special opportunity, simply fill out the research computer form and mail to the address given on the form. Include the $3.00 copy cost for each horoscope or charge your credit card. There is a limit of two per family. If you don't know your exact time of birth, fill in 12:00 PM.

If you have any questions, call me, John F. Ford, president, The American Astrological Association. Telephone me at (216) 478-2171. Thank you!

COMPUTER DATA ENTRY FORM. PLEASE PRINT

I submit my birth data for research. I am now eligible to promptly receive my 3,000 word natal horoscope for only a $3.00 cost to make my duplicate copy. One or two names from my household may be submitted. (Limit of 2 - no exceptions)

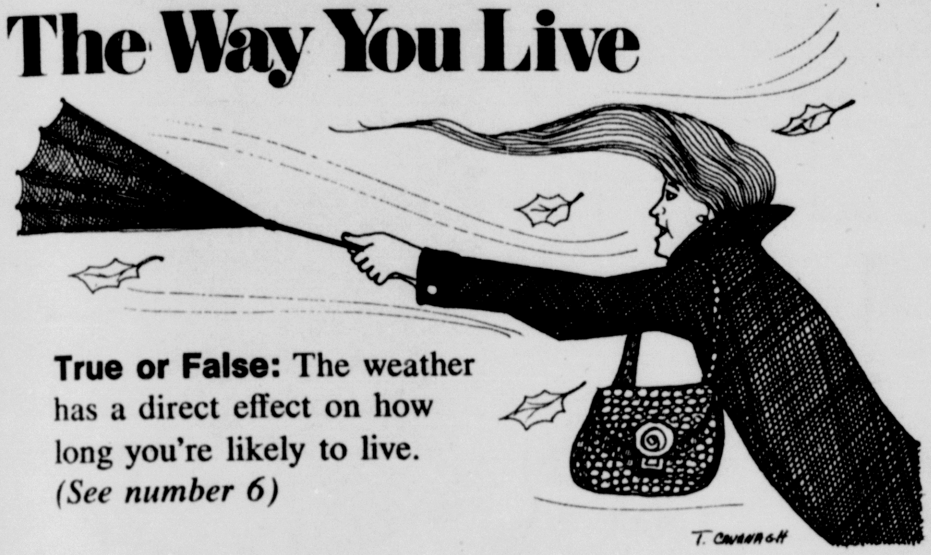
People Quiz

By John E. Gibson

How the Weather Affects The Way You Live



True or False: The weather has a direct effect on how long you're likely to live. (See number 6)

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. You do your best thinking, have the greatest capacity for solving problems and doing mental work, on sunny days when the weather is warm.

2. The reason most people pull up stakes and move from one part of the country to another is usually due to either of two things: to get more sunshine or more money.

3. Men adjust to changes in temperature much more quickly than women are able to.

4. Weather that you'd ordinarily take in your stride can have a devastating effect on you when you're feeling depressed.

5. The thermometer is an indicator of crime.

6. The weather has a direct effect on how long you're likely to live.

ANSWERS

1. False—as shown by a recent study on the effect of the weather on our capacity to think, reason and perform mental work, which cites findings showing that our mental faculties function at peak efficiency on days when the weather is cool and dry.

2. True. Studies show that the two chief factors that motivate moving to a different part of the country are a better climate or a fatter paycheck. For a great many people the two factors were found to be "about equally predictive" of migration. A substantial minority, however, subscribed to the you-can't-eat-the-weather school of thought, tending to move where employment conditions were most favorable—irrespective of climate.

3. False—according to findings of a university study that subjected hundreds of men and women subjects to temperature changes ranging from 60 to 98 degrees Fahrenheit for various periods of time. Findings: Women were much quicker to adapt—and report feeling "comfortable"—in the various temperature changes than the men were.

4. True. A study of thousands of subjects at the University of Basel's Psychiatric Clinic showed that people who were depressed "felt greatly influenced by weather conditions, especially warm, dry winds, and cold fronts, and suffered particularly from interrupted sleep."

5. True. You're more likely to be robbed, burglarized, hit over the head, or otherwise subjected to mayhem whenever the temperature shoots up unexpectedly. A study of weather and criminal activity has shown that "temperatures higher than average for the day increased the crime rates, while lower than normal temperature decreased them." So whenever it's "unusually warm for this time of year," you might want to stay clear of dubious neighborhoods.

6. True—as evidenced by the findings of a study of the relationship between weather and mortality in ten metropolitan areas in the U.S. over a three-year period. This study found that a person's chances of becoming a mortality statistic or contracting some physical ailment are appreciably greater when the weather is acting up. It was found that illness of various types and mortality "are more likely to be above average during periods of disturbed or unstable weather." As for the specific type of weather that packs a potential killer punch for vulnerable people, the study showed that "in general there are three weather situations that are associated with changes in mortality: excessive heat and humidity, changing weather and days with low wind speeds." The latter situation permits a pollution buildup. fw

What in the World!

INGRID BERGMAN & ISABELLA
Now she's a grandmother!

THROUGH A CHILD'S EYES

Kids see life differently. Send original contributions to "Child," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., N.Y., N.Y. 10022. $10 if used—none returned.

Several years ago I took my young nephew to the drive-in dairy. We stopped to watch the cows being milked. I very carefully explained the milking machines and the procedure leading up to the bottle of milk we had just purchased. When we got home I asked him to tell his mother what he had seen. He promptly answered, "They were putting milk into the cows."

—Marguerite Church

Obscene calls – "Only about 20 percent of all nuisance calls are actually obscene, and studies have shown that most of these are made by men under 30 who either hate or fear women. Dozens of stratagems have been devised to thwart obscene phone callers. Two of the most popular: Blow a shrill whistle into the mouthpiece, which will at least give the caller an earache. Place a tape recorder next to the phone with a prerecorded 'beep' like those used on radio and TV shows to indicate that calls are being recorded." From "The (What to do While You Are Holding the) Phone Book," by Gary Owens of "Laugh-In" fame (J. P. Tarcher, Inc., $3.95).

Father of college boy to mother with letter: "Never mind reading me the whole letter. Just read me the 'By the way, Dad,' part." —Henry Leabo

Alex Yunevich

When Alfred University's football coach Alex Yunevich was honored by the Washington Touchdown Club in 1956, he met Richard Nixon, who told the coach about his days playing substitute in California. Nixon related that he wasn't a very good player, but, the then Vice President told Yunevich, "I stuck it out." Yunevich, now 64, is currently being acclaimed as the first coach in the nation to stay active at one college for 33 seasons. Stick-to-itiveness is a quality Yunevich demands of his players. During his career, he has amassed 159 wins, 77 losses and 10 ties. All this on a small sum of money. Alfred's budget this year is $35,000; Ohio State's is $380,000.

NEW YEARS EVE

For more years than can be counted on your fingers and toes, New Year's Eve has belonged to Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians. Now there is a new tradition. It's called "New Year's Rockin' Eve," and this is its second outing for the majority of the TV audience who prefer their music with a rock beat. Produced by Dick Clark Teleshows, Inc., the action will take place aboard the HMS Queen Mary in Long Beach, California and cut to Dick Clark in Times Square, New York City, for the heralding in of the New Year at midnight. Host George Carlin begins the festivities on NBC, Monday night at 11:30PM with his guests Billy Preston, Tower of Power, Linda Ronstadt and special guest stars The Pointer Sisters. The positive reaction from last year's telecast indicates a vast change in the traditional celebration of the New Year—something more in keeping with the mood of the times and the temper of the day. The pace is quick, the music lively and the entertainment first cabin.

The Pointer Sisters are special guests of host George Carlin for NBC's "New Year's Rockin' Eve '74," a rock salute to the new year.

'HERE'S THE ACTION'

Coverage of NBA action resumes Sunday on CBS, when the network begins its regular Sunday afternoon broadcasts of National Basketball Association games. Twenty regular games, the All-Star Game (Tuesday, Jan. 15th), thirteen play-off games and four to seven games of the championship series have been scheduled for broadcast during the '73-'74 basketball season.

Bing Crosby and pretty Pat Mickey are on their way to the 33rd Annual Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament at Pebble Beach, Calif. ABC's exclusive telecast of Bing's famous "clambake" will air Saturday and Sunday afternoons (Jan. 5 & 6), and will kick off the 1974 PGA Winter Golf Tour. Bing is tournament host and does the special commentary for ABC.

HOLIDAY SPECIALS

The paper shortage is still critical, therefore we are unable to provide—as we have always done in the past—the ususal FULL DAY listing for the New Year's Holidays. We have provided this SPECIAL half-page listing of Daytime Holiday Programs for your convenience. The Daytime Programs page lists regular programming for the remainder of the week.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 31

12:30PM 11 Backstage With the King Family (Monday ONLY) Prop men, wardrobe mistresses and make-up men move in and out of the scenes in this informal re-creation of a typical working day in the life of the King Family. To further create the backstage mood, scenes are filmed from the catwalks, the wings and center stage.

5:00 7 17 3 42 Sugar Bowl Football (Monday ONLY) Live, from New Orleans, Louisiana, as Alabama's Crimson Tide meets the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 1

6:30AM 2 (29 8) 8 Rose Parade Preview Bob Barker and June Lockhart serve as hosts of this glimpse of pre-parade activities. Charles Schulz, creator of the cartoon "Peanuts" and Grand Marshal of the parade, will be interviewed.

4 23 6 10 36 Junior Orange Bowl Parade Emergency's Randolph Mantooth and Kevin Tighe co-host coverage of the 25th annual youth-oriented parade from Coral Gables, Fla., featuring singer Lisa Donovan as guest star. Theme for the parade floats is "Heroes of a Child's World." Victoria Zudak is the Junior Orange Bowl Queen.

5 Rose Parade Preview Larry Van Nuys visits the starting point of the parade and interviews participants and celebrities.

7:30 2 (29 8) 8 Cotton Bowl Festival Parade The 18th annual parade spectacular will feature 20 floats, 21 marching bands, and numerous equestrian units, from Dallas, Texas. William Conrad of Cannon and Lee Meriwether of Barnaby Jones are co-hosts and commentators.

7:45 4 23 6 10 36 Doc Severinsen's Rose Parade Pre-Show The talented trumpeter and conductor of the Tonight Show orchestra is host for a personalized look at several of the outstanding high school bands that will march in the Rose Parade. Doc also presents a little music of his own on the 45-minute special.

8:30 2 (29 8) 8 Tournament of Roses Parade The theme for this year's 85th annual presentation is "Happiness Is . . ." Color commentators and co-hosts for the CBS coverage are Bob Barker and June Lockhart. The theme contest drew a record 10,000 entries from 35 states and four Canadian provinces.

4 23 6 10 36 Tournament of Roses Parade NBC's coverage will be handled by John Davidson (The Girl With Something Extra), Ed McMahon (The Tonight Show) and Rebecca Ann King, Miss America of 1974. "Peanuts" creator Charles Schulz is Grand Marshal. A tribute to Schulz's popularity is that 128 persons suggested "Happiness Is . . ." as the theme for the parade when it was learned that he would be this year's Grand Marshal.

5 Tournament of Roses Parade Dick and Jeri Enberg are co-hosts of KTLA's coverage of the annual pageant that will boast 60 floats, 21 bands, 250 equestrian units and hundreds of pompon girls over the 5½ mile route.

8:45 34 Tournament of Roses Parade

10:30 11 Tournament of Roses Parade Repeat.

WOODY HAYES: 'NO MOTIVATIONAL PROBLEMS'

It's a repeat performance for the Trojans of USC and the Ohio State Buckeyes. Standout players from the participating teams are top to bottom, tailback Anthony Davis who led the Trojans to last year's Rose Bowl victory, wide receiver J. K. McKay who led the USC team in touchdown receptions last season and the quick and clever Ohio State quarterback Cornelius Greene and All-American Buckeye linebacker Randy Gradishar.

No college coach whose team wins a bid to the Rose Bowl Game has trouble getting "up" for the big post-season grid battle, airing on NBC, Tuesday at 1:30PM. Certainly coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State will have no motivational problem if only to even the score for last season's New Year's Day clash with USC in Pasadena. Southern California Trojans clobbered the Buckeyes 42–17. Woody not only lost in front of all those people in the stadium and more than 50 million television viewers, but he went down to the highest score ever tallied against him in his 22 years as coach at Ohio State.

It was a particularly bitter pill for Hayes, whose record going into that 1973 game marked Woody as one of the nation's outstanding college coaches. And, of course, his team's return this year as the Big Ten representative for 1974 proves he hasn't lost his touch. But those 42 points hurt, especially for a coach known to eschew the wide-open game in favor of a grind-'em-out-on-the-ground offense and a strong defense. In a post-game interview following the 1973 defeat to USC, Woody gave the Trojans and Coach John McKay their due. "Yes, they are the best college football team I've ever seen."

What convinced Hayes of that evaluation was not only the final score but the awesome offensive play by the Trojan backfield. Flanker Lynn Swann's six pass receptions for 108 yards and one touchdown came at critical junctures throughout the game. According to coach Hayes, one of Swann's catches in the third quarter with the score 7–7 and USC facing a 3rd down situation with 17 to go was the turning point of the game. "If we could have held them there," says Woody, "we might have stayed with them."

Then of course there was Anthony Davis who went into last year's Rose Bowl game as the first sophomore at USC to gain more than 1000 yards in a single season. He had averaged 154 yards rushing in just the final six outings of last season. And Davis has broken the 1000-yard mark this year again. Against Ohio last New Year's Day, he rushed for 157 yards in 23 carries. Quarterback Mike Rae went 18 for 25 and 229 yards and fullback Sam Cunningham set a Rose Bowl record with his four touchdowns on dives which ruined Ohio State's proud goal-line defense. Rae, who was voted the game's Most Valuable Player, and Cunningham are gone this year but Davis and Swann are back along with 24 other USC lettermen.

Meanwhile, Ohio State has 17 regulars returning this season and a key factor, according to Hayes, is the fact that he has 33 seniors on this 1974 Rose Bowl team. "I've never had a team with this many seniors in my entire coaching career. Our seniors give us the solid leadership any winning team needs, not to mention the all-important ingredient of experience."

Floral

Floats

Seven states other than California and four locales beyond the continental United States will field 11 of the 60 floral floats participating in the 1974 Pasadena (Calif.) Tournament of Roses Parade, airing live on NBC, Tuesday. States sending floats include Georgia, Kentucky, Minnesota, Oregon, Missouri, Texas and Washington. Theme of the New Year's Day parade is "Happiness Is . . ." and each of the floral floats set to pass along the 5½-mile parade route on Pasadena's Colorado Blvd. will depict scenes reflecting this theme.

Out-of-state entries and their themes include State of Georgia, "One Nice Thing After Another"; Louisville, Ky., "The Summer of '74"; Minnesota, "A Four Season Vacationland"; Portland, Ore., "A Festival of Roses"; City of St. Louis, Mo., "A Snowflake; San Antonio, Texas, "A Torchlight Parade"; and Spokane, Wash., "A World's Fair." Also sending floral floats are Mexico, "A Mexican Serenade"; Calgary, Alberta, Canada, "The Living West; Province of Nova Scotia, "The Kingdom of the Sea"; and the U.S. Virgin Islands, "A Vacation."

Later on New Year's Day, NBC will present exclusive coast-to-coast coverage of the Rose Bowl football classic between the University of Southern California Trojans and the Ohio State Buckeyes. The major California cities of San Diego, San Francisco and Los Angeles will field floral floats themed "Freedom," "The City on Golden Hills," and "Peace," respectively. Co-hosting the NBC colorcast will be John Davidson, Ed McMahon, and Miss America, Rebecca Ann King.

WOMEN'S LIB COMES TO THE 'FBI'

For the first time in its eight-year history, The FBI television series will feature female agents in key roles during the course of the new season's episodes. The first actress to be signed for one of these important roles is Betty Anne Rees, a young lady who brings a varied stage, motion picture and television background to her portrayal of Special Agent Joyce Hanafin in the Quinn Martin Production.

Miss Rees makes her first appearance in the "Ransom" episode which airs Sunday at 7:30PM over ABC. In the episode, which guest stars Anne Francis, "Summer of '42" and "Class of '44" star Jerry Houser and former Young Lawyers star Zalman King, Betty Anne, in her Special Agent Hanafin role, doubles for Miss Francis in making a pay-off drop to kidnappers.

Miss Rees debuts as a female Special Agent in the series just one year after the FBI actually began using female field agents. The first of three or four actresses who will star in various episodes throughout the year, Miss Rees is a native of the Shaker Heights suburb of Cleveland.

"It's always a nice feeling being the first—who remembers the second man to discover America," laughs the pretty Miss Rees, who spends her spare time conducting a school for talented child actors aged from 5-17. She attended the University of Miami prior to enrolling in the famed Pasadena Playhouse and she also studied with Uta Hagen in New York. On television, she's been seen in virtually every popular series, including Bear Cats, The Smith Family, The Streets of San Francisco, Adam 12, Mannix, My Three Sons, Medical Center, Secret Storm, Love Is A Many-Splendored Thing, The Mod Squad and others.

Off-camera, Miss Rees is an avid horse-racing and football fan. She also paints and loves to fence and work in her garden.
